CAP. VIII.

1 Britheren, forsothe we maken knowe to 3ou the grace of God, that is 3ounun in 2 the chirchis<sup>s</sup> of Macedonye, and<sup>t</sup> that in moche asayinge of tribulacioun, the ha-
hem was, and the hizeste pouert<sup>v</sup> of hem was plenteuous into the<sup>w</sup> richessis<sup>x</sup> of the 3 symplenesse of hem. For I bere witness-

moche monestyng bisechinge vs<sup>d</sup> the grace and comenyng of mynysterie<sup>e</sup>, that 5 is maad in<sup>f</sup> to hooly men<sup>g</sup>. And not as we hopiden, but<sup>h</sup> thei 3auen hem silf first to the Lord, aftirward to vs by the wille 6 of God. So that we preieden Tyte, that as he bigan, so and he performe in 3ou 7 also this grace. But as 3e<sup>i</sup> abunden in alle thingis, in feith, word<sup>k</sup>, and science<sup>l</sup>, ouer and<sup>o</sup> in 3oure charite in to vs, that not as comaundinge, but by the bisynesse

10 And I 3yue counceil in this thing; sothli this is profitable to 3ou, that not <sup>w</sup>only

CAP. VIII.

But<sup>f</sup>, britheren, we<sup>g</sup> maken knowun<sup>1</sup>
to 3ou the grace of God, that is 3ounun

For Y bere witnessyng to hem, aftir<sup>3</sup>

And not as we hopiden, but thei 3auen<sup>5</sup> hem silf first to the Lord, aftirward to preyeden Tite, that as he bigan, so also he performe in 3ou this grace. But as<sup>7</sup> 3e abunden in alle thingis, in feith,

but bi the bisynesse of othere men ap-

3e schulden be maad riche bi his nedy-

CAP. III.

1 A<sup>g</sup>! ze witlees men of Galathie<sup>h</sup>, who disceyuede zou for<sup>i</sup> to 'not bileue<sup>k</sup> to the treuthe? bifore whos yzen 'Jhesu Crist<sup>kk</sup> is dampnyd, 'or excilid<sup>l</sup>, and in<sup>m</sup> zou cruci- 2 fyed<sup>n</sup>. This thing oonli wole I lerne<sup>o</sup> of zou, han<sup>p</sup> ze take the spirit of<sup>q</sup> the<sup>r</sup> workis of the<sup>s</sup> lawe, wherof<sup>t</sup> the<sup>u</sup> heeringe of 3 bileue? So ze ben foolis, that whanne ze bigunne by spirit, now ze ben endid by 4 fleisch. Ze han suffrid so<sup>v</sup> many thingis withoute cause, nethelees if with oute 5 cause. Therefore he that zyueth to zou the spirit, and worchith vertues in zou, whe- 6 thir of the worchis of lawe<sup>w</sup>, or of heer- inge of feith? As it<sup>x</sup> is writun, Abraham bileuyde to God, and it is<sup>y</sup> rettid<sup>z</sup> to him 7 to rjztwysnesse. Therefore knowe ze, that<sup>a</sup> thei that<sup>b</sup> ben of the<sup>c</sup> feith, thei<sup>d</sup> ben 8 sones<sup>e</sup> of Abraham. Forsothe the<sup>f</sup> scrip- ture<sup>g</sup> purueyinge, for God iustifieth of foundun synful men, whether Crist be mynystre of synne? God forbede. And 18 if Y bylde azen thingis that Y haue distroyed, Y make my silf a trespassour. For bi the lawe Y am deed to the lawe<sup>n</sup>, 19 and<sup>o</sup> Y am fitchid to the crosse, that Y lyue to God with Crist. And now lyue 20 not Y, but Crist lyueth in me. But that Y lyue now in fleisch, Y lyue in the feith of Goddis sone, that louede me, and 21 zaf hym silf for me. Y caste not away the grace of God; for if rjztwysnesse<sup>p</sup> be thoruz lawe, thanne Crist diede with out cause.

1 Therefore, britheren, 'hennis forthward<sup>p</sup>

CAP. I.

1 WHICHE<sup>b</sup> thing was fro<sup>c</sup> the<sup>d</sup> bigynnyng, which we herden, which we sizē with oure izē, whiche we bihelden, and oure hondes tretiden to gydere, 'or touch-2iden<sup>e</sup>, of the word of lijf; and the lijf is shewid. And we sizē, and we witnessen, and tellen to 3ou euerelastinge lijf, that was anentis the fadir, and apperide to us.
3Therefore<sup>f</sup> that thing, that we sizē, and herden<sup>g</sup>, we tellen to 3ou<sup>h</sup>, that and<sup>i</sup> 3e haue felauschipe with us, and oure felau-schip be with the fadir, and his sone 4Jhesu Crist. And 'this thing we writen<sup>k</sup> to 3ou, that 3e haue ioye, and 3oure ioye 5be ful. And this is the tellyng, that we herden of him, and tellen to 3ou, for<sup>l</sup> God is li3t, and ony derknnesses ben not in him.
6If we 'shulen seie<sup>m</sup>, for<sup>n</sup> we han felau-nessis, we lizen, and we<sup>o</sup> don not treuthe.

7Sotheli if we walken in li3t, as and<sup>p</sup> he is in<sup>q</sup> li3t, we han felauschip to gydere; and the blood of Jhesu<sup>r</sup>, his sone, clenstith us and we<sup>b</sup> witnessen, and tellen to 3ou the<sup>c</sup>

CAP. II.

1 My litel sones, I wrijte to ȝou thes things, that `ȝe synne not<sup>v</sup>. But and<sup>2</sup> if ony man `shal synne<sup>a</sup>, we han auoket anentis 2 the fadir, Jhesu Crist iust, and he is help-yng for oure synnes; sotheli<sup>b</sup> not onely for oure<sup>c</sup>, but also for<sup>d</sup> of<sup>e</sup> al the world.
3 And in this thing we witen, for<sup>f</sup> we han<sup>g</sup> knowun him, if we kepen his commaunde-4 mentes. He<sup>h</sup> that seith him<sup>i</sup> for<sup>k</sup> to<sup>l</sup> `haue knowe<sup>m</sup> God, and kepith not his commaundementes, is a liȝer, and treuthe is 5 not in him. Forsothe who<sup>n</sup> kepith his<sup>o</sup> word, `verily in him is parfijt charite<sup>p</sup>.
In this thing we witen, for<sup>q</sup> we ben in 6 him, if we shulen<sup>r</sup> be parfijt in him. He that seith him<sup>s</sup> for<sup>t</sup> to<sup>u</sup> dwelle<sup>v</sup> in him, and he<sup>w</sup> owith for<sup>x</sup> to walke, as he walkide.
7 Moost dere<sup>y</sup>, I wrijte to ȝou, not a newe maundement, but the olde maundement, that ȝe hadden fro<sup>z</sup> the<sup>a</sup> bigynnyng. The olde maundement is the word, that ȝe 8 herden. Eftsoone I wrijte to ȝou a newe maundement, that is trewe<sup>b</sup> and<sup>c</sup> in<sup>d</sup> him and in ȝou; for derknesses<sup>e</sup> passeden, and 9 verrey<sup>f</sup> liȝt `now shijne<sup>g</sup>. He that seith him<sup>h</sup> for<sup>i</sup> to<sup>k</sup> be<sup>l</sup> in liȝt, and haath his 10 brother, is in derknesse<sup>m</sup> til to ȝit. He that loueth his brothir, dwellith in liȝt, 11 and selaundre is not in him. Sotheli he that haath his brother, is in derknessis, and `in derknessis wandrith<sup>n</sup>, and woot
not whidir he goith; for derknesses han 12 blyndid his iȝen. Litel sones, I wrijte to ȝou, for<sup>o</sup> ȝoure synnes ben forȝouun to ȝou 13 for his name. Fadirs, I wrijte to ȝou, he forȝiue to vs oure synnes, and clense vs from al wickidnesse. And if we seien,<sup>10</sup> we<sup>h</sup> han not synned, we maken hym a liere, and his word is not in vs.

CAP. II.

Mi litel sones, Y write to ȝou these<sup>1</sup> thingis, that ȝe synnen not. But if ony man synneth, we han an<sup>i</sup> aduocat<sup>k</sup> anentis the fadir, Jhesu Crist, and he is the for-<sup>2</sup>
for oure synnes, but also for the synnes of al the world†. And in this thing we<sup>3</sup> witen, that we knowen hym, if we kepen hise comaundementis. He that seith<sup>4</sup> that he knowith God, and kepith not hise comaundementis, is a liere, and treuthe is not in hym. But the charite of God is<sup>5</sup> perfit verili in hym, that kepith his word.
In<sup>o</sup> this thing we witen, that we ben in hym, if we ben perfit in hym. He that<sup>6</sup> seith, that he dwellith in hym, he owith for<sup>p</sup> to walke, as he walkide. Moost<sup>7</sup> dere britheren, Y write to ȝou, not a newe maundement, but the elde maunde-

The elde maundement is the word, that ȝe herden. Eftsoone Y write to ȝou a<sup>8</sup> newe maundement, that is trewe bothe in hym and in ȝou; for derknessis ben passid, and veri liȝt schyneth now. He<sup>9</sup> his brother, is in derknesse<sup>q</sup> ȝit. He that<sup>10</sup> loueth his brothir, dwellith in liȝt, and selaundre is not in hym. But he that<sup>11</sup> haath his brother, is in derknessis, and wandrith in derknessis, and woot not whidir he goith; for derknessis han<sup>r</sup> blindid hise iȝen. Litel sones, Y write to ȝou, that<sup>12</sup>

1 Eche man that bileueth, that Jhesus is Crist, is born of God; and eche man that loueth him that gendrieth, loueth him that 2 is born of him. world; and, Litol flok<sup>k</sup>, nyle 3e drede. Therfor God the Fadir, seyng the tribulaciouns whiche hooli chirche was to suffre, that was foundid<sup>l</sup> of the apostlis on Crist the stoon, disposid with the Sone and<sup>m</sup> the Hooli Goost to schewen hem, that me dredde<sup>n</sup> hem the lesse. And al the Trinyte schewide it Crist<sup>o</sup> in his manhed, and Crist to Joon bi an aungel, and Joon to hooli chirche; of which reuelacioun Joon made this book. Wherefore this book is seid Apocalips, that is to seie, Reuelacioun, for here it is conteyned that God schewide to Joon, and Joon to<sup>p</sup> hooli chirche, hou grete thingis hooli chirche suffride in the firste tyme, and now suffrith, and schal suffre in the laste tymes<sup>q</sup> of Antecrist; whanne tribulacioun schal be so greet, that if it mowe be, thei that ben<sup>r</sup> chosun<sup>s</sup>, ben meuyd; and whiche meedis<sup>ss</sup> sche<sup>t</sup> schal resseyue for these tribulaciouns, now and<sup>u</sup> tyme<sup>v</sup> to come, that meedis<sup>w</sup> that ben<sup>x</sup> bihote maken<sup>y</sup> hem<sup>z</sup> glad, whom the tribulaciouns that ben teld makith<sup>a</sup> aferd. Therfor this book among othere scripturis of the Newe Testament is clepid bi<sup>b</sup> the<sup>bb</sup> name of prophecie; and it is more excellent than<sup>c</sup> prophetis<sup>d</sup>. For as the Newe Testament is worthier than the Olde, and the gospel than the lawe, so this prophesie passith the profecies of the Olde Testament, for it schewith sacramentis, that ben<sup>e</sup> now a parti fulfillid of Crist, and of hooli chirche. Or ellis, for to othere is oon maner prophecie, but to this is thre maner prophecief 3eue togidre, that is, of that that is passid, and of that that is present, and of that that<sup>ff</sup> is to come. And to conferme the autorite of it, ther cometh the autorite of hym that sendeth, and of hym that berith, and of hym that resseyueth. He that sendith, is the Trynite; he that berith, the<sup>g</sup> aungel; he<sup>h</sup> that resseyueth, Joon<sup>i</sup>. But<sup>k</sup> whanne these thingis ben schewid to Joon in visioun, and ther ben<sup>l</sup> thre kyndis of visiouns, it<sup>ll</sup> is to seen vndur which kynde this<sup>m</sup> be<sup>n</sup> conteyned<sup>o</sup>. For sum visioun is bodili, as whanne we seen eny thing with bodili izen; sum is spiritual, or ymaginarie, as whanne we seen slepinge, or ellis<sup>p</sup> wakinge we biholden the ymagis<sup>q</sup> of thingis, bi whiche sum other thing is signefied; as Farao slepinge si3 eeris of corn, and Moyses wakinge si3 the buisch brenne. Anothir visioun is of vndirstonding, as whanne thoruz reuelacioun<sup>r</sup> of the Hooli Goost, thoruz vndirstonding of thou3t, we conseyuen<sup>s</sup> the treuthe of mysteries<sup>t</sup>; as Joon sau3 tho thingis, that ben<sup>u</sup> conteyned in this book. For not oneli he sau3 in spirit the figuris, but also he vndirstode<sup>v</sup> in thou3t the<sup>w</sup> thingis that weren signifyed bi hem. Joon sau3<sup>x</sup>, and wroot in the yle of Pathmos, whanne he was exilid of Domitian, the most wickid prince; and a cause compellide hym to write. For while he was holdun in outlawerie of Domycian, in the ile of Pathmos, in the chirchis, that<sup>y</sup> he hadde gouerned, ther were spronge many vices and dyuerse heresies. For there weren summe heretikis there, that seiden, that Crist was not tofore<sup>z</sup> Marie, for as myche as he was in tyme borun of hir; whiche heretikis Joon in the bigynnyng of his gospel, vndurnymmeth, and seith, In the bigynnyng was the Sone; and in this book whanne he seith, Y am alpha and oo, that is, the bigynnyng and the<sup>a</sup> ende. Summe also seiden, that hooli chirche schulde ende tofore<sup>b</sup> the ende<sup>c</sup> of the world, for charge of tribulaciouns<sup>d</sup>, and that it schulde not vndurfonge for her<sup>e</sup> traueile euerlastinge mede. Therfor Joon wilnyng<sup>f</sup> to distruye the errouris of these, schewith that Crist was

And that hooli chirche thorru<sup>3</sup> exercise of tribulacioun<sup>g</sup>, schal not be endid, but schal profite, and for hem resseyuen an euerlastinge meede. ### MATTHEW.

Sithen aftir the assencioun of Crist the Holy Goost enspiride the hertis of the apostils, and sent them, and hertide hem to preche what Crist dide and tauȝte, four speciali of alle weren departide, that prechide the conuersacioun of God in erthe. And also ther preching, the which is propirli callid the gospel, thei wroot in ther owne volyms for this entencioun, that the lif of oure Lord Jhesu and his conuersacioun in erthe, the which was parfyt ensample to oure lyuyng, schulde be in our mind, and shulde euermore be had bifore oure ȝen as the rule of our lyuyng, and that his doctryne shulde not be distried thoruȝ the witness of fals teching of heretikis. Of the foure that made the gospel, first was Matheu, that whanne he first in the Jewrie with the apostlis hadde prechide the gospel of Crist, he in wil to passe to teching of othir naciouns, that were callid gentilis, he wroot the gospel in Ebrew tunge, that he shulde be as present thoruȝ his writinge to his britheren, fro whom he wente bodili awei. The which writinge he left aftir him, as a thinge that schulde stirre hem to haue mynde of him, and speciali that he schulde conferme the feith of his firste britheren in God; that the schadowe of the old lawe schulde no more be vsid, but the sothfastness of the gospel; and also that false prechouris and peruerters of holi chirche schuld not ouer sowe in the gospel of Crist ony<sup>i</sup> errouris. And aftir that holi chirch was largid, holi fadris bisiede hem, that the same gospel schulde be translatid into the langage of Grew and Latyn. And Mathews tretinge is speciali of the manhede of Crist, thouȝ he seic othere secundarie thingis. Wherefore he bigynneth at the generacioun of his manhede, seijng in the bigynninge of his writinge, The booke of the generacioun of Jhesu Crist. And riȝtly is Matheu first sett, not as bi naturel order, bot bi artificial ordre; for bi the naturel ordre Joon, that was last, and moost passingli tretith of the godhede of Crist, schulde be first; for the godhede was or the manhede, and the godhede is hede of the manhede. But we trowen, that this was doon thoruȝ the counseil of the Holi Goost, that he that tretith of the manhede of Crist, is sett first in ordre. For it is acordinge and skilful, that oure witt ascende litil and litil to the bettere, and that bi feith and the sacrament

Add. 15,521, (marked y) into which it was transcribed by Joseph Ames, from a Ms. written, as he states, in 1424, and belonging in 1731 to Thomas Granger. The editors have not been able to trace this last Ms. <sup>i</sup> onth y. This and a few similar errors, which seem to have proceeded from the pen of Ames, have been corrected from conjecture, but probably many more faults of transcription may remain.

of the manhede taken of God, it schulde be broujt to the euerlasting hede of the godhede. Nethels summe seien, that Matheu tellith the incarnacioun of Crist after the king of kingis, and therefore the kingis, <sup>h</sup>he seith<sup>k</sup>, come to seke, and seiden, Where is he, that is borne king of Jewis? And also he apperide as king bi the sterre; and also it is seid, that Heroude dredde the king that was born. Also Mathew, in acountinge of the generacioun of Crist, goith by Salamon. For Matheu to his bigynning, at the generacion of Crist aftir his manhede, and the ordre of his tellinghe, he ledith to the resurreccion of Crist. Nethels, as it is seid, Matheu wroot the gospel for cause of them that reiseid<sup>l</sup> the circumcisioun, and wolde not fulli be drawn fro there obseruance, thou; thei hadde taken the bapty; and therefore his entente is to reise them fro ther fleischli vndirstondinge of the lawe to the goostli vndirstondinge of Crist, that thei schulde more sikirly take the sacrament of cristen feith, and that thei schulde more stabli hold the feith; in as miche as thei se not ellis fulfillide, but that was bifore seid in the prophetis. And therefore to hem he writith his book, and seith, The book of the generacioun of Jhesu Crist. In the bigynninge of the book Matheu schewith opinli, that he wole trette of the generacioun of Crist, but of the fleischli generacioun, and not of the tothir, the which is euerlastyng. For holi scripture axith, and seith, Who schal telle his generacioun? Also in this, that Matheu is taken in liknes of man, is declaride that he bigynnyth at the begynnyng of the generacion of Crist aftir his manhede. And it is to note also, that Matheu at the bigynnyng of his book followith the maner of the men of Ebrews; for thei were wont in the bygiunng of ther bookis for to set in the bigynnyng the name of the book, telling what thei treten in that book; as the first book of Moises is callyd the book of Genesis, for it tretith of the bigynnyng of the world and first formyng of mankinde. And as other books haue ther name of ther bigynnyng and tretenge, so Matheu, for he bigynneth at the generacioun of Crist after his manhede, therefore he bigynneth his gospel, and seith, The book of the generacioun of Jhesu Crist. And it is to note, that Matheu settith the generacioun of the new man Jhesu Crist azens the generacioun of the olde man Adam, thor; whom we fell to the deeth and to synne, for to schewe to vs, that we ben fulli restorid by the generacioun of Crist, as we fell donn thor; the flid generacioun of Adam. Weel therefore acordith this new testament to the olde, for the old testament bigynnyth at the generacioun of the first man, and making of the world, and the new testament bigynneth at the generacioun of the second man Jhesu Crist, and at the restoringe of the world. The first book is callid the book of Genesis, and it treteth of the ordynancis, the which were in the bigynnyng, but not perfyt; for the old lawe broujt no man to perfeccion, or to heuene. But this new book of the new lawe is callid the book of generacioun, and treteth of goostli thingis, the which bringith man to perfeccioun. The old book tretith of hostis offringe, and of old preesthood, and this not but in figure. But this book tretith of the verri preest Crist Jhesu, and how he was in the verri hoost offrid and parfit for vs, and fulfillid in the old lawe. The book of the old lawe tretith of the delyuering of the children of Israel out of Egipt; this book of the newe lawe tretith of the delyuering of the peple of God fro helle. The book of the olde lawe tretith of the entre of the children of Israel into the lond of promission or of biheste; this book of the newe testament tretith how our caytiffe was lede into heuene, and also it tellith of oure entring into the bliss of heuene. So alle thingis that were in figure in the tothir lawe, in this lawe of the gospel ben schewid alle tho fulfillid goostli. But it is seid bifore, this new generacioun is sette in remedie azens the old generacioun; for the firste generacioun broujte vs to dampnacioun, and the secunde bringith vs to saluacioun and blis; that broujte vs out of paradijs, this bringith vs into paradijs.

MARK.

<sup>a</sup> Sith Seint Mark, so ful of the Holi Goost that he was maad of him to be oon of the iiij. gossellers, and to be martirid for Crist, held him silf so vnworthi to be preest, and therefore kutte of his thombe, to be vnable to preesthood; myche more we synful wrecchis, ful of vnkunnyngis and synnis, schulen holde us silf vnworthi to the hi;e ordre of preesthood. But sith we haue bounden vs wilfulli to this holi ordre, amende we into bettir that that we haue doon vnworthili bi ignoraunce, and studie we faste nyȝt and day in holi writt, to amende our ignoraunce. And encrese we euere in mekenes, in chastite, in wilful pouert, and in charite to God and to men, to freendis and enemyes; and euere be we bisy in holi preieris and gode werkis, that we mowen be worthi to write and teche Goddis lawe to oure lyues eende, and studie how the gospel of Crist schal be vnderstonen. The gospel spekith sumtyme in parablis and lijknessis and allegories, and vnderstonidith a goostli thing bi ertheli thing, outhir bi a propirte of kynde. In siche spechis and parablis and lijknes, loke that the sentence be groundid in open text, where the scripture spekith propirly withouten figuris, other in opun resoun that mai not be auoidid, so that al the sentence sounne to loue and charite of neȝboris, and vertuous lyuyng. And this is the trewe sentence of alle derke placis of holy writt. Thus, whanne Crist is clepid a lomb, it is not vnderstonen of a doumbe lomb with iiij. feet, but the sentence is, that Crist is ynnocent and mylde as a lomb. Thus Crist is seid a stoon, that is, sad in vertues, that groundide othere men in vertues. Thus goode cristen men ben clepid scheep, that is vnderstonen, mylde. And yuel cristen men ben clepid kiddis, foxis, wolues, and othir malicious beestis. In the olde testament God bihetith worldli goodis and temporal prosperitees to hem that kepten hise hestis, but it vnderstonidith goostli goodis and the blisse of heuene, which is principal meede of vertues. But the gospel of Jhesu Crist bihetith tribulacioun and sorowe in this world to hise keepers, and aboundaunce of goostli comfort, and euerlastyng blisse in heuen in bodi and soule. Therefore Jhesu Crist, that lyuede moost vertuousli, hadde grettist tribulaciouns, dispisyng and pursuyng, and sclaudir and peyneful deeth in this lijf, and now he hath moost glorie of alle men in blisse. And alle hise apostlis and loued freendis hadden the same in this lijf; but with this thei hadden so greet comfort of the Holi Goost in her soulis, that thei hadde greet ioie in her tribulacioun; and the more that her bodi was peyned for truthe, the more her soule was comfortid in God, with perfyȝt charite to her enemyes. Therfor Crist seith in the gospel, in xvi. chapitre of Jon, The world schal haue ioie, and ȝe schulen haue sorowe; but ȝoure sorowe schal turne into ioie. And Austyn seith, If thou wolt not suffre pacientli tribulacioun, and hatrede of the world, and persecucioun with Crist, heed of holi chirche, thou forsakist to be a membre of Crist. For Poul seith in the ij. pistil to Tymothe, the ij. c<sup>o</sup>., Alle that wolen lyue piteuousli eithir feithfully in Jhesu Crist, schulen suffre persecucioun. But ful comfort Crist seith in the fifthe chapitre of Matheu, ȝe schulen be blessid whanne men schulen curse ȝou, and schulen pursue ȝou, and seie al yuel azens ȝou, liyng, for me, that is, for my lawe; make ȝe ioie, and be ȝe glad in that day, for ȝoure mede is plenteuous in heuens. And therefore James seith in the i<sup>o</sup>. c<sup>o</sup>., Mi britheren, deeme ȝe al ioie, whanne ȝe fallen into dyuers temptaciouns, that is, tribulaciouns. Therefore the apostlis ȝeden ioiyng fro the sijt of the counseil, outhir presence, for thei weren worthi to suffre dispisȝt for the name of Jhesu. And Poul seith ofte, We han glorie in tribulaciouns. And now we moun se, that now in tyme of grace vnder the newe testament, aduersitees and tribulaciouns is more schewyng of grace than prosperitees, thouȝ the olde lawe bihete men prosperite that kepte it, as the Ps. Beati omnes qui timent Dominum, bisemeth to bihete, and manie other placis of the olde testament. For in the newe testament temporal prosperitees, that was bihote in the olde testament, is turned into aboundaunce of vertues and goostli comfort, with persecucioun and tribulaciouns, as Crist and hise seruauntis hadden. And therefore ech cristen man make him redi in wil, and euere crie to God with al his herte, that he ȝeue to him grace, to suffre not oonli patientli, but also ioiefully, alle tribulaciouns in this world, and thus to be a trewe cristen man, truli suyng Crist.

This gospeler Mark, the which was the disciple of Petir the apostil, and he siȝ not Crist in bodi, but he that herde the preching of his maistir, wroot the gospel in Italie, in tyme of Claudius the emperour. And the cause was this, for he was preied of the disciplis of Peter, at whose axing he wroot the gospel, the which Peter confirmed after, as Clemens seith. And this book hath three parties. The first part lastith vnto the tenth chapitre, in the which parti he passith schortli to the thritti ȝeer of Crist; and ther is conteyned xiiij. benefitis or myraclis, that he dide on the peple, to conferme that he was verry God and man. In the secunde partie ben putt xiiij. thingis, that parteyne to the . . . . of the citee of Jerusalem; and this part lastith for the tenth chapitre vnto the xv. c<sup>o</sup>. In the third part is maad mynde of the passioun of Crist, and of his resurreccioun.

LUKE.

<sup>a</sup> Luk hath manie special poyntis, and nameli of oure Ladi, and almoost alle the poyntis of Matheu and of Mark; and therefore he comprehendith moost lettre of alle the gospelleris, thou; he haue not so manye chapitris as Mathew. As Luyk was first a bodily leche bi craft of kynde, so he is a myche bettir goostli leche of cristen soulis, bi techinge, prechinge and writynge of Cristis gospel. Sith Luyk lefte his craft of bodily medecyne, and suede so bisili Poul, to lerne and preche and write the gospel; myche ou;ten Cristen preestis to putte awei worldly bisynes and erthely lucre, to lerne and preche and write the holi gospel. But as Grosthed seith, in his secunde Dicte, Manye clerkis lerne lucratiyf sciencis, to gete richessis and honouris of the world. Summen lerne filosofhie, to knowe kyndis of elementis, of beestis, of eerbis, and of othere creaturis, to be preisid of men for these sciencis; summen lerne fisik, to make mennis bodies hole of dyuers sijknessis, that herbi thei seme as to reise hem fro deeth to lif, and geten therwith myche riches and honouris; summen lerne musik, to chaunge mennis hertis into dyuers affeccions bi swetncs of songis; summen lerne the craft of alkymye, to make clene of vnclene metal bi greet traueile and craft, as to make siluir and gold of vnclene metals. But, he seith, a trewe techere of Goddis lawe schal make myche bettir chaungis goostli, in turnynge synful soulis fro her synne, than ony of these othir clerkis doon bi here kyndely sciencis. For as seynt Austyn and seynt Bernard scien, It is miche bettere, that a man kneew God and himsilf, than that he kneew heuene and erthe, and alle othir elementis and kindis of creaturis, and kneew not God ne him silf. And whanne men ben sike in the mooste perilous sijknes of horrible synnes, the techere of Goddis word may reise hem to lijf of grace; and that is withouten comparisoun bettere than the lijf of kynde, and myche bettere to turne synful men out of synne bi techinge of Goddis lawe, than bi craft turne o metal into another, as alkemyneris doon. And goode God of his merci stire his peple to be more bisi aboute vertues and goostly riches, that euere schal laste, than aboute ertheli richesse, that soone schal perische. Amen.

Whanne the gospel was spred bi Matheu in the Jewrie, and bi Mark in Italie, throu; the stiring of the Holi Gost, Luyk, that was the disciple of Poul, came the thridde in ordre; the which makinge hijere repeticioun, wroot the gospel to oon Teophile, in the cuntre of Acaye and Boyce. It is seid, that this Luyk was oon of the two disciplis, that wente to Emaws, to whom Crist aperide after his resurreccioun: and after he was the felawe of Poul, in preching to the naciouns; to whom this was a special entent of his traueil, that to the new men of Grece schulde be schewid and declarid the manhede of Crist, that they schulde not 3eue ther entent to the fablis of Jewis for desier of the lawe; or ellis that thei schulde not be begilid thoru; counseil of heresy of false apostils, and turned fro sothfastnes and teching of Crist. And Luk principali tretith of the preching of Crist, thou; he lefte summe thingis vntold that other tellen. Wherefore he begynneth at the preching of Zacarie, Jones fadir, sei yng on this wise, There was in the daies of Eroude kinge, a prest, Zacarie bi name. And seint Luke rijtly is lijkned to a calf, for it was a beest ordeined to sacrificise; and so of the sacrificise he tretith, of the temple, and of Jerusalem, in the processe of his gospel. In the bigynnyng he settith the preest preyng at the auter, and the folk stondinge withoute to preie. And also he tellith, as aftir the conseuyng of Crist, Marie went to the bischopis hous Zacarie; where he makith mencion of the generacioun of Marie and Elizabeth, the whiche was of the kyn of Aaron. And there he tellith the birthe of Baptist, and tellith also that Crist is born, and presentid with offryng to the temple. There he tellith, how Crist with his modir visitide ech 3eer the temple, and seith also how Crist, whanne he was twelue 3eer oold, sat in the temple, techinge the doctouris. And aftir sich sei yngis he concludith, in the eende of his gospel, how the disciplis of Crist were in the louynge of Crist, in the temple. This gospeler Luyk, in acountinge of the generacioun of Crist, goith by Nathian the prophete.

JOHN.

Joon treetith moost of the Trynyte, and of the godhede and manhede togidere. Joon wroot this gospel in Greek, and almoost al the newe testament was writen in Greek first. But the gospel of Matheu, and the pistlis to Ebrewis were first writen in Ebrew, as Jerom witnessith in his prolog on Matheu. Summe supposen resonable, that Mark wroot his gospel in Latyn, for as Jerom seith, he wroot into Italie, that is the cuntre of Latins. And so men supposen, that Poul wroot the pistil to Romayns in Latyn, for the same skille; for it was the moder tunge of that cuntre. And whi therfore schulde not men now write trully the lawe of God to cristen men in her modir tunge, that thei writen to? And alle the othere bookis off the newe testament were writen in Greek. And as Jerom and othere doctouris seien, whanne ony doute is in the lettre of the olde testament, thei schulen be proued bi the origynals of Ebrewis; so whanne ony doute is in the lettre of the newe testament, it schal be proued bi the origynals of Greek. But, as Lire seith, we cristen men moten be weel war of the origynals of Ebrew in summe poyntis. For now the Jewis han corrupt her olde lettre in tho placis where it spekith openly of the godhede of Crist, and thei haue do this for hatrede to cristen men, lest we schulden conuicte Jewis bi her owne lettre, that Crist is bothe God and man; but in alle othere placis we schulen take the origynals of Ebrewis. But for cristen men the newe testament is open ynow<sup>3</sup>. And whanne ony doute cometh in the lettre, outhir in ony vndirstondinge of the lettre, the Holi Goost schal teche us al truthe, as Crist seith in the gospel, if we doon truli that that is in us. And therfore thou; wickid men hadden brent alle oure bookis, God hath writen his lawe in cristen mennis soulis and consciencis, as he seith in the xxxi. chapitre of Jeremye. And therfore seint Joon seith in his firste pistil to cristen men, in the ij. chapitre, that the anoyntyng, that is, grace of the Holi Goost, techith 3ou alle thingis that ben nedeful to saluacioun, and 3e han no nede that ony man teche 3ou, but as the anoyntyng techith 3ou. For he that hath charite, hath Crist, in whom alle tresouris of wisdom and kunnyng ben. Netheles men schulde bisely lerne the bookis of holy writt, and speciali the newe testament, lest thei taken Goddis grace in veyn, and tempten God, in desiryng to haue kunnyng bi myracle, withoute traueile and lernyng of holy writ, where thci mowe come listly to verri knowyng of Goddis wil, bi good lyuyng and deuoute preiers, and bisi studie and lernyng of holi writt. And God graunte us a stidefast wil hercto. Amen.

This fourthe gospeller, Joon the apostil and the euangelist, whanne the wickide techinge of Cherynthi and Hebion, and of other impugnyng the manhede of Crist, was rife in the cuntre of Asie, aftir that Joon was reuocate fro<sup>c</sup> the exile of Pathmos, he was preied of alle the bischops and other trewe cristen men of the chirch of Asie, that he schulde write sumwhat of the godhede of Crist, wher thoru; the rebelnesse of the heretikis my3te be ouer comen and distried. And for that he was so counsellid and stirid, thoru; the preier of his britheren in God, he seide that he wolde, if thei ordeynede a fastinge, and preiede the help of Jhesu Crist. And whanne this was don, he was fulfillid with the reuelacioun of God, as comyng fro heuene. He bigan first, and seide, In the bigynnyng was word, that is, Goddis sone. Also for that other euangelists speke miche of the manhede of Crist, and litil of his godhede, therefore he bigan his gospel at the godhede of Crist, for to write passyngly bifore other therof; and more expresseli and openiere tretith of the godhede than other, thou; he also oucr passe not vnseid other thingis, the whiche other gossellers treten of. And Joon takith his bigynnyng at the euerlastinge godhede of Crist, and his gospel rechith to the ioie of the resurreccioun of Crist. And this book is departid into nync partis. The first part is of the getyng of the cuerlastinge word; and this part bigynneth thus, In the bigynnyng was word, that is, Goddis sone. The secounde part is of the goyng forth or makyng of creaturis, of God here makre, that bigynneth thus, By him alle thingis ben made. The third part is of the incarnacioun of the word, that is, Goddis sone, that bigynneth thus, And list schijnede in derknessis. The fourth part is of the birth of Joon

I. CORINTHIANS.

<sup>a</sup> As the apostil that cowde alle langagis, wroot the pistil to Romans in Latyn, so he wroot this pistil in Greeke. Therfor as in the formere pistil he comendith grace, so in this pistil he discreueth sacramentis, in whiche grace is 3ouen. Therefore in the firste pistil he techeth Corinthis of the sacramentis of holy chirche, and in the secunde pistil, of the mynystris of sacramentis. A postille here.—Poul wroot this pistil to Corinthis, that ben of Acaie. Corinthis weren conuerted of the apostil him silf, whiche bi Goddis comaundement was resident at hem a 3ere and vj. monethis, and tau3te Goddis word among hem; but aftirward thei weren peruertid iu manie maners bi false apostlis, so that thei departiden the vnyte of holi chirche, that is, cristen feith, and so pees of the chirche; and thei deniede the vertues and the valu of sacramentis, bi the meritis of mynystris. For thei gesside, that the sacramentis weren of sum valu, if thei weren tretid of goode men, and off more or of lasse valu, if thei weren 3euen of more goode men. Aftir, he repreueth hem of the lecchour, whom thei suffriden among hem, that heeld the wijf of his fadir. Aftir, he repreueth hem for fraude among hem silf. And aftir, he techith hem of matrymonye, and of takynge of the sacrament of the auter, where thei erride ful miche, and of manye othere thingis; and aboute the eende of the pistil he settith a moral, excitynge, that is, to fle synnus, and loue and holde vertues.

Another prolog on the pistil to the Corinthis<sup>b</sup>.

As the apostil wroot the pistil that goith bifore, to my3ti men and proude, that is to say, to the Romayns, stiringe hem to acoord and charite, the which is seelden among riche men and my3ti of the world, so he wroot this secunde pistil to wise men and kunnyng, that is to seie, to Corinthis, mouynge hem to oonhede and lownesse of witt, or vndirstondinge, the which is seelden among kunnyng men. Wherefore in the iii. chap. he seith, If God wole, I schal come to you soone, and I schal not knowe the wordis of hem that ben blowen with pride, but the vertu. These Corinthis erriden in thre sacramentis, that is to seie, in bapty m and in doctryne of it, of the which it is maad mynde vnto the fifth chap. Also thei erriden in matrimonye, and in causis of it, of the whiche it is seid fro the v. chapter vnto the eijthe chapter. Also thei erriden in the sacrament of the auter and spiritual mete, of the which it is maad mynde fro the eijth chap. vnto the xii. chap. Also thei erriden in oonhede of witt, bi stryues that were maad among them, of the which it is maade mynde fro the xii. chap. vnto the xv. chap. Also thei erriden in the resurreccioun of dede men, of the which it is maad mynde in the xv. chap. In the xvi. chap. is maad mynde of almesdede, by the which synnes ben for3ouen. And so al this pistil is deuydid into vi. partis. In the first part he makith mynd of the errour of bapty m; in the ii. part, of the error of matrimonye; in the iii. part, of the bodi of Crist; in the iiij. part, of stryues and discordis; in the v. part, of errour of resurreccioun; in the vi. part, of almesdede to be maad.

II. CORINTHIANS.

<sup>a</sup> . . . stynatli the pistil, and magnified fals apostlis. But whanne summe of Corinthis weren amendid bi the firste pistil, for cause of othere of hem Poul writith this secunde pistil, and he puttith awei fals apostlis, and schewith the disceit of her prechyng. Also Poul blameth hem, for thei were scarce in almesdedis. And he comaundith thilke lecchour to be resseied, whom he hadde bitaken to Sathanas. Also hem that weren in tribulacioun he comfortith bi ensaumple of hym silf, and techith that thei be not heuy ne grucching, for he is suget to pe . . . . .

In the formere epistil the apostil scharpli reproues hem, and moost for thei forsook not the ilke open lecchour, and for that summe of hem were amendid, and summe dwellide vn-amendid; and for both these he writith this secunde epistil, that thei that were amendid be callid to more grace, and the vnamendid to be amendid. And the apostil comendid him silf bi al the epistil, that he shewe what worschipe and loue owith to be to the prelat, the which labourith so bisily aboute hise sugetis. And this epistil is departid into so many partis, as it hath chapitris, that is to seie, into xij. In the firste chapitre, he comendith himsilf of pacience in tribulation, and vertue of word. In the ii., of pitee of relesinge, and in fruyt of preching. In the iij., of scripture, which he wrote in the hertis of hem, and of tho thingis that thei vndirstood in books. In the iiij., of ther amending of feith and of hope. In the v., of desire of the cuntre. In the vi., of the workis of penaunce, and a fadris chise sugetis. In the vij., of ensaumplis taken to innocent men, and of large almesse. In the ix., of the same. In the x., of cristen knyghthod, and of hise comparisouns to others. In the xi., of the greuounesse of the gospel preching, and glorie of his kynrede, and ioie of tribulacioun azens false apostles. In the xij., of priuy<sup>d</sup> reuelacioun. In the xij., of loue of soulis, and autorite of prelatie. Therefore in this myrrour of prelatis, the first chap. is departid into iiij. partis. In the first part, aftir the salutacioun, he doith thankings to God the fadir, of the consolaciouns geuen to him and to hem. In the secunde part, he makith mynde of the disesis that he sufferide in Asie, and how he was delyuerid bi miracle, where he seith, Forsothe we wol, that ze wite of oure tribulaciouns, etc. In the thridde, the cause of his tribulaciouns, that is to seie, the holyness of his conscience, where he seith, For whi oure glorie is this, the witnessynge of oure conscience. In the fourth, he excusith him, tellinge whi he turnede his purpos and his biheeste of comynge to the Corinthis, where he seith, And in that trist I wolde first come to zou.

GALATIANS.

<sup>e</sup> Galathies ben Grekis, and thou; Grekis ben of sharp witt, zit the Galathies weren foolis and slou; to vndirstonde; for thei weren liztli temptid of false apostlis to bicomme Jewis, that is, to holde bodili circumsicioun and fleischli serymony, othir sacrificis of Moises lawe; as false apostlis excitide Galathies to adde Moises lawe to the gospel, for thei affermide, that the feith of Crist withouten fleischli obseruauncis suffisith not to heelthe, and that Petir and James and othere apostlis, that weren with the Lord, medliden kepingis of the olde lawe with the gospel. Thei affermyde also, that Poul hymself dide othir thingis in Judee, and prechide other thing among hethene men; and with these thingis thei peruertide Galathies into fleischli kepinge of the lawe. Therefore the apostle wroot to hem, and a;enlepid hem to fredom of the gospel and cristen feith.

Galathies ben Grekis, and thou; thei ben of scharp wit, zitt thei weren folis and slow; to vndirstonde; for thei weren liztli temptid of false apostlis to hold bodili circumsicioun and fleischli serimonies of Moises law with the gospel. For the false apostlis seiden, that Petir and James and othere apostlis, that were with the Lord, medliden kepingis of Moises lawe with the gospel. And also thei seiden, that the feith of Crist without fleischli obseruauuncis suffisith not to heelthe of soule. Therefore the apostil wroot to hem, to fredom of the gospel, and cristen feith. And this epistil is departid into tweye principal partis. In the first principal part, he is aboute for to schewe that the feith of the gospel suffisith vnto heelth of lawful men; and this part therfor longith to the feith, and it lastith to the v. chap., there he seith, Crist delyueride vs, etc. And the secunde part, the which longith to maneris, lastith fro the forseid place vnto the cende of the epistil.

And thou; Grekis ben of scharp wit, netheles Galathis weren foolis and ful slow to vndurstonde. These Galathies token first of the postle the treuthe of feith and of techyng, but aftirward thei weren temptid of falssc apostlis to bicomme Jewis, that is, to holde bodili circumcisioun and fleishli ceremonyes, othere sacrifices of Moises lawe. And false apostlis counceliden and excitiden Galathies in many maneris, to adde Moises lawe to the gospel; for thei affermyden, that the feith of Crist without fleishli obseruauunces sufficith not to heelthe, and that Petre and James and othere apostlis that weren with the Lord, medliden kepyngis of the lawe with the gospel. Thei affermyden also, that Poul him silf dide othere thing in Judee, and prechide othere thing among hethene men. Bi these thingis and othere siche, thei peruertiden Galathies, in so myche, that Galathies assentiden to hem, and passiden in to fleishli keping of the lawe. Therfor the postle azenlepeith hem to the treuthe of cristen feith and of the gospels techyng, and writith to hem fro Effesus, of grace of the gospel; of which he hadde writen also to Romayns, that worshipiden the lawe in liyk maner. But to Romayns, as to wise men, Poul vside hijer wit, and deppere ether sotilier argumentis; and to these Galathies, as to lesse wise men, he vsith comyn word and esi. Also to these Galathies he seith, A! 3e witles Galathies, to azenlepe hem so to treuthe. Therfor the entent of the postle in his pistle is, to brynge azen Galathies to religioun of feith and to treuthe of the gospel, whiche Galathies weren disseyued bi disseitis of false apostlis. The maner is sich. He biforsettith salutacioun, where he touchith shortli bothe of his dignyte and of the grace of Crist, azenus bachiteris and hem that han glorie of workis of the lawe, and he comendith his persooone, whiche the false apostlis dispiseden. Aftir the salutacioun, he repreueth Galathies of vstableness; aftirward he comendith largilier his owne persooone; aftirward he repreueth Moises lawe in many maneres, and seith it shal not be holdum aftir Crist, that is, aftir Cristis deth and pupplisching of the gospel; for not oneli profitith not to riztfulnesse and helthe, but also it anoieith ether harmeth now. At the laste, he comendith the gospel and the feith of Crist, that it sufficith to heelthe.

An othere prologe.

The fynal conclusioun of the postle in this pistle is this, that bodili circumcisioun and othere sacrifices and obseruauunces of Moises lawe shulen not be kept with the feith of Crist, 3he, that tho ben avoided bi Crist, so that afterward tho ben cause of deeth ether of dampnacioun to her keperis. And he doith this, for Galathies, that weren conuertid bifor him, weren disseyued bi false apostlis, so that Galathies circumcididen hem silf, and kepten othere obseruauunces of Moises lawe. And this pistle is departid in to fyne partis bi fyue maneris, bi whiche he procedith to declare the forseid conclusion.

In the firste pistle, that is to Romayns, Poul tretith of power; in the laste pistle, that is, to Ebrews, he tretith of presthod and of hoolynesse; and in the myddil pistlis he tretith of wisdom, as in the twei pistlis to Corynthis and in this. And for errour is azenus<sup>b</sup> wisdom, in this pistle he tretith of errour, that is, to distrie errour. The mater of this pistle is parfit treuthe of cristen feith, with remouyng of cerymonyals of Moises lawe. The entent is so to reduce Galathies to

The pistle to Romayns is writen to my3ti men; the pistle to Ebrews is writen to the worshiperis of God; and alle the myddil pistlis ben writen to wise men, that is, to Grekis. Therfor in this pistle, in the firste chapitre, Poul comendith him silf and his cause, that is, his office and dignyte of apostle, and the treuthe and the fredom of the gospel. In the secounde chapitre he seith, hou for this cause he a3enstood Petre. In the thridde chapitre he seith, hou the cerymony of Moyses lawe shulden be expowned. In the fourthe chapitre, he expowneth bi allegorie. In the fyuethe chapitre, he spekith a3enus vices. In the sixte chapitre, he spekith of merci, bodili and gostli

I. THESSALONIANS.

Tessalonisensis weren conuertid listly of the apostil, and wolden not be moued fro truthe of feith, neither bi tribulacioun<sup>c</sup>, ne bi fals prechouris. The<sup>d</sup> apostle preisith hem, for thei dwelliden parfytly in grace taken, and weren encressid in vertues 'to encreessyng of meede<sup>e</sup>; for thei hadden so 'greet swetnes off spirit and so<sup>f</sup> tristi feith, 'that for<sup>g</sup> hope of thingis to comynge<sup>h</sup> thei<sup>i</sup> suffride 'with deuout soule<sup>k</sup> greeete dispisyngis<sup>l</sup> and perels, for the name of Jhesu. In the ii. part he techith how he schal haue him to lower partis of the chirche, and most to hem that were conuertid of circumsisioun. In the iij. part he techith him, how he schal haue him to hem the whiche ben withoute the chirche, and speciali to heretikis.

PHILEMON.

<sup>z</sup> The apostil writith this pistil to Filemon, a man of Colosis, that hadde no dignite of ministracioun in the chirche, but he was a worschipful man in the peple; to whom Poul sendith homeli lettris, for Onesimus his seruaunt, that fledde with sum harm of Filemon, for he bar awei of summe of thingis of Filemon, but he was cristened of the apostil, whanne he hadde herd the gospel, to whom the apostil bisechith forzeuenes, and writith fro Rome fro prison to Filemon. The entent of the apostil is to biseche for Onesymus anentis Filemon. First the apostil salutith Filemon and his [wif and<sup>a</sup>] his sone; aftirward [he<sup>a</sup>] doith thankings [to God<sup>a</sup>] for the goodis of [britheren, and<sup>a</sup>] preisith the feith and [the pitee<sup>a</sup>] of hem; aftirward [he<sup>a</sup>] preicth Filemon, [that he<sup>a</sup>] spare Onesymus, [and that<sup>a</sup>] he thanke God, th[at he<sup>a</sup>] resseyuede Onesy-[mus as<sup>a</sup>] sich, and that he now gesse him not as a seruaunt, but a moost dereworthe brothir. The glose here. Crisostum seith, if Poul makith so greet bisynes for a seruaunt, for a theef, a fleer awei fro his maistir, it bicometh us to be bisi for siche; for Crist seith in the gospel of Mathew, v. c<sup>o</sup>. Blessid . . . . .<sup>b</sup>

The entent of the apostle is, to biseche forzeuenesse of Filemon to Onesymus, his seruaunt, that wente awei with summe thingis of Filemon, but aftir he was cristened of the apostil Poul, whanne he hadde herd the gospel, he was recounsiled. Therefore Poul writith to Filemon, and preieth him, that he forzeue Onesymus, and that he thanke God that he resseyuede him siche; and that he now gesse him not a seruaunt, but a most derworthe brothir. And in this pistil ben thre partis, affir the salutacioun. In the first part is doinge of thankings to God, for the feith and the pitee that Filemon hadde among britheren. In the ij. part is bisechinge, and tellinge of the dede and the conuersacioun of Onesymus, there he seith, For that thing, etc. In the iij. part is of his obedience, and of the harboringe of Poul, and of the salutaciouns of britheren.

HEBREWS.

<sup>d</sup> Poul wroot this epistil more cleerli or exelently than othere pistlis; for ech man is moost expert outhir moost redi in his owne langage. Wherefore as Ebrew langage is formere than othere, as Isodre seith in the firste book of Ethimologies, so this pistil to Ebrewis, that was last writen, is the firste in ordre of techinge. For in this pistil is schewid the vnperfeccioun of Moises lawe, and the perfeccioun of the gospel; and so the ceessynge of cerymonies of Moises lawe is schewid azens the opynyoun of Jewis conuertid. Thre thingis ben in the lawe of God. The i. thing is the feith of God, for a lawe is not zouen, no but to a peple, which is men gaderid togidere; and the first preisable gaderynge is the feith; the ij. is the truthe reulynge, zeuen of the auctour of lawe; and the thridde thinge is the eende of the lawe. Oure auctour is God, and the eende is the blis of heuene.

The apostil wroote to Ebrews this pistil in Ebrew tunge. And the entent of the apostil is to enforme and stir the conuertid of the Jewis al oonli to the feith of Crist, and to drawe away hem fro the obseruancis and serymonyes of the olde lawe. For in this pistil is schewid the vnperfeccioun of Moises lawe, and the perfeccioun of the gospel; and so the ceessynge of serymonies of the olde lawe is schewid azens the opinyoun of Jewis conuertid. And this pistil is departid into foure principal partis. In the first he schewith Crist to be the mooste worthi creature of alle creaturis, and therefore in him is moost to be trowid; and this part lastith to the bygynnyng of the vii. chap., there he seith, Forsothe this Melchesedech, etc. In the first chapitre hen ij. partis. In the first part forsothe he comendith Crist ouer alle prophetis and ouer alle men, and to be bigeten fro the bigynnyng, azens the Jewis that seiden, We witen that God spak to Moises, but we knowen not this, of whens he is. In the ij. part he schewith him to be more worthi than ony resonable creaturis, that is to seie, aungels or oonli man, bi manye resouns, there he seith, So miche he is bettere than aungels. In the ii. principal part he proueth the preesthood of Crist to be bettere and worthiere than the preesthood of the Leuytis, or of the olde lawe. And this part lastith to the enleuenthe chapitre, there he seith, But feith is the substauce of thingis to be trowid. In the third principal part he comendith the feith, bi the which is maad cominge to Crist, and that bi alle the xi. chapitre. In the fourth principal part he spekith of the goostli vnderstandinge, fro the xij. chapitre to the eende of the epistol.

DEEDS OF APOSTLES.

<sup>a</sup>The principal conclusioun of the Deedis of Apostlis is this, that cristen feith entrid into the world bi miracle, and grace of the Holi Goost<sup>b</sup>, and not bi mannes wijsdom, and aftirward strenkthide and multipliede bi the same Holi Goost. [And this book is diuided generali into twei partis. In the first part is maad minde of tho thingis that hen comyne to alle the apostlis, and this part lastith to the fourth chapitre. In the ii. part is maad mynde of the propir deedis of Petir and of Poul<sup>c</sup>.]

JAMES.

We reden that whanne Seynt Steuene was slayn, there was maad greet persecucioun in the chirche at Jerusalem; and alle, outaken the apostilis, weren scaterid bi the cuntrees of Juda and of Samarie. Therefore James the lasse, brothir of Judas, the apostil, and the sone of Alpei, that was bischop of Jerusalem, scnte this pistil to hem that weren scaterid of the chirche, and suffride persecucioun for rihtwiisnesse, enfoormynge hem in vertues generaly as to ech astaat. And this pistil is departid into thre partis. In the first part he techith the concupicens of the fleish, that is to saie, worldli wijsdom to be fled, in that that he stirith hem to haue ioie in temptaciouns, in whiche the fleish is turmented; and this in the first chapitre. In the ii. part he techith pride of liif to be fled; and that in the ii. chapitre and iii. chapitre. But in the ii. chapitre he schewith how it is to be fled in other persoones, bi accepcioun or worschippinge of hem. In the thridde chapitre he techith, pride and worschipe of the peple to be fled in a mannes own silf, the which ofte tymes cometh of maisterschipe. In the thridde part he techith richessis of this world to be dispised; and that in the fourth and in the fifthe chapitre. In the iiiii. chapitre, as to the wille of hauynge of hem. But in the fifth chapitre, as to the holdynge of hem. And thus is maad open the dyuydyng of this pistil.

<sup>a</sup> This prologue is from p, collated with y, in which last is the following rubric, Here biginneth a prologe on the deeds or acts of Apostles. <sup>b</sup> Om. y. <sup>c</sup> This passage is supplied from p. <sup>d</sup> This prologue is from y. The prologue in p is for the greater part torn out. It began thus: Another prologe. James enformeth holy chirche general in vertues, as to ech staat in teching . . . . .

I. PETER.

In this first pistil Petir tretith of moral vertues, that is, of vertues of soule, that maken a man worthi to be saued. And this he doith bi dyuersite of statis and persooones. First he comfortith hem that ben in tribulacioun, and nameli hethcne men newe conuertid to cristen feith, and pursued therefore, and exiled of her owne lond. The secunde tyme he techith cristen men to be suget to kyngis and dukis and to ech man for God, and seruauntis to be suget to her lordis; and techith men to suffre pacientli wrongis at ensauple of Crist. The thridde tyme he techith wyues to be suget to her husbondis, and araye hem in vertues, and not in precious clothis, ne with gold, ne peerlis; and that husbondis honour her wyues, as euene eiris of grace, and that alle men be meke, and stidfast in feith and vertues, and 3ilde not yuel for yuel, but good a;ens yuel, bi ensauple of Crist. The fourthe tyme, that men be armed with thougt of Cristis passioun, and haue feith in charite, and vse hospitalitie and other vertues, and dispose hem to speke wiseli Goddis wordis. The fifthe tyme he techith precestis to do weel her offis, and that 3onge men be suget to eldre men mekeli in alle good doynge, and that alle men be meke and sobre, and wake a;ens the deuel, and a;enstonde him strongli in feith. This tellith apostillis here to men that of cristen lawe in the bigynninge of the chirche weren exilid fro her own cuntre and placis. Therefore Petir comfortith hem in this pistil, and he wroot fro Rome, in the tyme of Claudius the emperour.

II. PETER.

In this secunde pistil, first Petir tellith the giftis and the biheestis of God, that men fle synne, and be stidefast in feith and vertues, and the exelence of Cristis techinge. The secunde tyme he tellith as false prophetis weren in the peple, so and false maistris schulen be in sectis of perdicoun; [and he<sup>c</sup>] discreueth the condicioun of these maistris with her sectis, and tellith also the greeete peynis of hem that turnen a;en to her synnes. The thridde tyme he tellith of disceiuers that schulen come in the laste tymes, and lyue in lustis, and neither bileeue ne triste Crist to the doom to comynge. And with this he tellith how cristen men schulden make hem redi with holi conuersacioun a;ens the doom.

I. JOHN.

Seynt Joon the euangelist hadde a special loue to the noumbre of thre, for the misterie of the Holi Trynite. And as he made thre bookis, that is, the gospel, the apocalips, and these pistlis, so he departith<sup>f</sup> these pistlis into thre; for<sup>e</sup> kyndeli we han wey to go forth fro comynere thingis to thingis<sup>h</sup> lesse comin. Therefore the firste pistil enfoormeth alle cristen<sup>i</sup> men general<sup>k</sup>; and the secunde pistil enfoormeth speciali a synguler meyne; and the thridde pistil enfoormeth a singeler persooone.

This is a prolog sett comynli in manie biblis, and clerkis expownen this, thou; it be not the prolog of Jerom, but of another expositour<sup>l</sup>. Also<sup>m</sup> whanne Joon was distitute of al mannes speche and help, he was enspired of God. Bi this was<sup>n</sup> schewid to us, that in as miche as we goon awei more fro this ertheli voise, bi so miche we ben deemed more able to Goddis visitacioun. Joon knew bi Goddis reuelacioun, that dyuers statis of the chirche schulden suffre manye thingis for the name of Crist; and that thei my;te the more esily suffre, he warneth hem bifore bi schewinge of the Holi Goost; and al this is do, to comende pacience, that who that suffrith pacientli, haue reward of blis, bothe of<sup>o</sup> bodi and soule. And Austyn seith to ech cristen man, If thou forsakist<sup>p</sup> to suffre hatrede for<sup>q</sup> Crist, thou forsakist to be a membre of Crist.
