

MAPPING LATE MEDIEVAL LIVES OF CHRIST

Queen's University Belfast,
June 10-13, 2010

The culmination of the AHRC-funded “Geographies of Orthodoxy” project, the “Mapping Late Medieval Lives of Christ” conference invites papers on any aspect of late medieval Christological piety, with a particular emphasis on the cultural manifestations of the pseudo-Bonaventuran tradition, in all European contexts. Topics might include:

- The production and reception of late medieval lives of Christ
- Lives of Christ in visual and material culture
- Political and theological controversies
- Lives of Christ, Latin and vernacular
- Lives of Christ across the Reformations
- Lives of Christ and histories of the book
- Lay access and pastoral care

Proposals for 20 minute papers should be sent to Dr Ryan Perry (r.perry@qub.ac.uk) by September 30th, 2009.

<http://www.qub.ac.uk/geographies-of-orthodoxy>

Supported by

