INTRODUCTION.

It will naturally be expected that the following treatise should be introduced to the reader by some account of the manuscript from which it has been transcribed, and some statement of the grounds upon which it has been attributed to the pen of Wickliffe.

The manuscript is preserved in the library of Trinity College, Dublin, among the valuable remains of ancient literature collected by the celebrated Archbishop Ussher, and presented by King Charles II. to the University.*

It is on vellum, containing 219 leaves, each $6\frac{2}{3}$ inches by $4\frac{2}{3}$; a full page having 31 or 32 lines, very neatly and accurately written, in the usual secretary hand of the fourteenth or beginning of the fifteenth century. The last leaf is much wormed, and the volume ends imperfectly.

Its contents are as follow:—

• It is marked in the Library, Class C. Tab. 5, No. 6. CAMD. SOC. 14.

- I. A tract entitled Credo (being an exposition of the Creed); beginning, "It is sooth that bileue is grounde of alle vertues." Fol. 1, a. This piece is attributed to Wickliffe by Bishop Bale. See Lewis's List, No. 152.*
- II. A short Commentary on the Pater noster; beginning, "We schall bileue that this pater noster that Crist hymsilf techith to alle cristen men, passith alle othere praiers." Fol. 2, a.
- III. A Commentary on the Ave Maria; beginning, "Men greten commonly our lady goddis moder, and we supposen that this gretyng saueth many men." Fol. 3, b. See Lewis's List. No. 154.
- IV. Of the "vij eresies." This treatise is divided into seven chapters, each treating of a distinct heresy. At the end we read, "Explicitunt vij hereses contra pater noster." It begins thus: "For false men multiplien bokis of the chirche, now rendyng bileue, and now cloutynge eresies." Fol. 4, b.

The Lord's Prayer in the former tract was divided into seven petitions, or "axyngs," as is usual with divines, and each of the seven heresies described in the present tract has reference to one of the seven "axyngs" of the Pater noster. The tract appears to have been especially directed against the Friars: as may appear from the "heresies" it describes, which are as follows:—.

- 1. "That special preier applied bi her prelats, is better than general; as oon famulorum * seid of a frere, is better than a pater noster."
- 2. "That thes prelats ben hedis of goddis reume and so alle thes freris ben men of hooli chirche, that God wol here gladlier than ony othere comoun men."
- 3. "That thei can bowe the wille of our Lord God to brynge a soule to heuen, bi maner of her preiyng."
- 4. "That the sacrid cost is no maner breed, but either now;t, or accident withouten ony subject."
 - 5. "That prestis have power to assoile men of synne."
 - 6. "That men of private religioun be more thick saved."+
- 7. "That if we worchen bi conseillis of thes newe ordris, that leven the ordenaunce of Crist, we shal nedely be saued."

The tract ends fol. 6, b. The next two leaves are blank.

V. A treatise on the ten Commandments; beginning, "Alle maner of men schulden holde goddis biddyngis." Fol. 9, a.

This is the tract entitled by Bale "Compendium X. Præceptorum," which he describes as beginning Cujuscunque conditionis fuerint homines.* It is divided into two parts, corresponding to the two Tables of the law, the first consisting of twelve, the second of twenty-eight chapters.

VI. A treatise on "Feith, Hope, and Charite;" beginning, "For it is seid in holdyng of our haliday, that we shulden occupie the tyme in prechyng, and deuout hering of the lawe of God." Fol. 27, a. This tract is divided into six chapters; and is probably the same as that mentioned by Lewis, No. 274. There is a copy of it in a volume preserved in the library of New College, Oxford †

VII. A tract entitled at the end "Opera misericordie corporalis;" beginning, "If a man wer sur that he shulde to morowe come bifor a iuge, and other lese or wynne alle the goodis that he hat, and eke his lijf therto." Fol. 30, b. It is divided into six chapters.

This is also in the volume belonging to New College, Oxford, and is entitled, "The seuen werkys of mercy bodily."—It is mentioned by Bale and Lewis.‡

bodili sustenaunce." Fol. 35, a. This tract is divided into four chapters. It is attributed to Wicliffe by Bale and Lewis, and is to be found in the volume, already mentioned, belonging to New College.*

IX. "Septem peccata capitalia;" a treatise on the seven deadly sins, beginning, "Sith bileue techith vs that every yuel is other synne, or cometh of synne, synne shulde be fled as almaner of yuel." Fol. 38, a.

The seven sins are thus enumerated: "Pride, Enuye, Wraththe or Ire, Sleuthe, Couetise, Gloterie, Lecherie."

This tract is divided into thirty-two chapters and ends on Fol. 63, a. There are copies of it, according to Lewis, in the Bodleian Library, and in the King's Library.

X. "De Ecclesia et membris ejus;" beginning, "Cristis chirche is his spouse, that hath thre partis, the first part is in bliss, with Crist hed of the chirche, and conteyneth aungelis and blessid men that now ben in heuene." Fol. 63, b.

This tract is ascribed to Wicliffe under the titles De ecclesiæ dominio, and De ecclesia Catholica.‡ It is divided into ten chapters, and ends fol. 75, b. where we read "Explicit tractatus de ecclesia et membris ejus."

XI. "De apostasia et dotatione ecclesiæ;" beginning, "Sith ilche cristen man is holden to sewe [i. e. to follow] Crist, and whoever faylith in this is apostata." Fol. 76, a.

This tract is divided into four chapters, and ends fol. 80, b. with the note, "Explicit tractatus de apostasia et dotacione ecclesiæ."

The second chapter is headed in rubric De dotacione ecclesia, and is perhaps the same which Bale mentions under the same title as a distinct tract, and which he tells us begins *Utrum clerus debuerit dotationem. In the MS. before us the second chapter begins, "As to the possessiouns and dowyng of clerkis, bileeue shulde teche vs that it doith hem harm to kepe Cristis religioun, and harm to lewid men."

XII. "Tractatus de pseudo freris;" beginning, "For many beren heuy that freris ben clepid pseudo or ypocritis, anticristis or fendis, or ony siche name." Fol. 81, a.

This tract is divided into eight chapters; it is full of curious matter on the controversy with the religious orders, but does not seem to have been known to Bale, Lewis, or Baber. It ends fol. 95, b.

XIII. "Of the eight woes that God wished to freris;" beginning, "Crist biddeth vs be waar with thes false pro-phetis that comen in clothing of sheepe, and ben wolues of raueyn, and thes ben specially men of thes newe ordris." Fol. 96, a.

This is another tract of great interest, unknown to Bale; it consists of an elaborate parallel between the Scribes and Pharisees of the Gospel, and the mendicant orders of the fourteenth century. It ends fol. 101, a, with the note, "Her enden the eighte woois that God wishid to freris. Amen." This is probably the same tract which Lewis describes as a commentary on the text Væ vobis Scribæ et Pharisæi hypocritæ:* of which he says there is a copy in the King's Library.

XIV. "Exposicio evangelii M^t. 24. Egressus Jesus de templo, &c." beginning, "This gospel tellith myche wisdom that is hid to many men; and speciali for this cause, that it is not al red in the chirche." Fol. 101, a.

This is the tract entitled by Bale De Christo et Antichristo, of which there are copies, according to Lewis, in the libraries of Trinity College, and of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge.†

In commenting on the verse, "And thanne schal be greet tribulation what maner was neuer bifor fro the biginnyng of the world," our author applies the prophecy to his own times, in the following words:—"But so general strijf as now is among many rewmes, was neuere herd bifore fro the bigynnyng of the world, for al our west lond is with oo pope, or with the tother, and he that is with the ton, hatith the tother with alle hise."

This fixes the date of the tract to the period of the great Western Schism which began A. D. 1378.

It ends fol. 116, b. with the note "Explicit Euangelium."

XV. "Of anticrist, and his meynee," [i. e. his train, family, or followers;*] beginning, "Dauid seith, Lord sett thou a lawe maker vpon hem. Hit semyth to me, seith Austyn, that this signifieth anticrist." Fol. 117, a.

Bale mentions a tract under the title De Antichristo et membris, in two books; it begins, as he tells us, with the words, "Quemadmodum Dominus Jesus ordinavit," and therefore is most probably not the work now before us, but the tract usually known by the title, "How Antichrist and his clerks travailen to destroy Holy Writ," which has been published by the "Religious Tract Society," in their volume of the Writings of Wickliffe (Lond. 1831), from the MS. in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. The piece published by the Tract Society, however, does not appear, from what they have given of it, to have been in two books.

XVI. "Of antecristis song in chirche," beginning "Also prelatis, prestis, and freres putten on symple men that thei seyen, that Goddis office or seruyce ben not to be songen with note." Fol. 124, a.

This work seems to be a continuation of the former, and has escaped the notice of Wickliffe's biographers.

XVII. "Of praier a tretys," beginning "Also bischops and freres putten to pore men that thei seyn, that men owen not rather to praye in chirche thenne in other place." Fol. 126, a.

It ends fol. 127, a, with the note, "Explicit tractatus de oratione."

XVIII. A tract entitled "Nota de confessione," and beginning "Two vertues ben in mannes soule by whyche a man shuld be rewled in hoolynesse in mannes wille." Fol. 127, b.

It is divided into thirteen chapters, and ends, fol. 138, a, with the note, "Explicit &c."

did al that he couthe to obeye to lordis, and mekely and softly speke to hem. But to scribes and to pharisees he spake sharply." Fol. 138, b.

XX. A tract entitled "Nota de sacramento altaris." This title has been blotted with ink by a modern hand, so however that the words are still legible. It begins "Cristen mennes bileeue tau3t of ihū Crist, God and man, and hise apostles, and seynt Austyn, seynt Jerome, and seynt Ambrose, and of the court of Rome, and alle treue men, is this, that the sacrament of the auter, the which men seen be twene the prestis handis, is verre Cristis body and his blode." Fol. 145, a.

XXI. A tract without title, beginning "Crisostom seith, that fischers and buystouse men, makynge iche daye nettis with here hondes, founden Crist, whom prestis studiynge al day in goddis law founden not." Fol. 146, b.

XXII. Another tract without title, beginning, "Seynt Barnard spekith thus to Eugenye the pope, Supposest thou whether thise tymes wolden suffre, if two men stryuing for ertheli eritage, and axing dome of thee, thou woldest answer the voyce of thi Lord God, Man, who ordevned me domesman upon 30u." Fol. 152, a.

XXIII. A tract without title, beginning, "God moueth hooly chirche bi many maner of spechis to knowe the treuthe of his lawe, and therbi to come to blisse. And thus God spekith bi summe men, as if two persones dispitiden to gidre, the which we clepyn reson and gabbyng, whech ben Crist and the fende." Fol. 154, b.

This tract is in the form of a Dialogue, in which the speakers are Christ and the Devil. All the foregoing treatises from No. XVI. to this inclusive, appear to have been omitted in the lists of Wickliffe's writings.

XXIV. Another tract without title, written as if it were a continuation of the former, but which from its subject appears to be distinct. It is on the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost, and begins, "And for noither man ne womman may perfitly do the seuen werkis of mercy, withouten the seuen seftis of the holy gost." Fol. 161, a.

This may perhaps be the tract mentioned by Lewis under the title "De vii donis Spiritus Sancti."*

XXV. Another tract without title, and written also as if it were a continuation of the preceding, beginning "Clerkys knowen that a man hath five wittes outward, and other five wittes inward." Fol. 162, b.

Lewis mentions a tract entitled "Seven bodily wittis," but the initial sentence which he quotes does not agree with this.

XXVI. A treatise without title, beginning "Here are questiouns and ansueris putte, &c." Fol. 164, a.

• Lewis, No. 245, p. 211. † Lewis, No. 256, p. 211.

This is the work now for the first time published. It occupies 88 pages of the manuscript, and ends fol. 218, a.

XXVII. A short tract without title, on the mystical interpretation of Jacob's ladder, beginning "Hit is writen in the first book of holy writ, that ther weren thre patriarkes in the peple of God." Fol. 218, a.

XXVIII. Another short tract, beginning, "Thes ben the nyne poynts that our Lord Ihu answerid an holy man that coueit to wite what mi3t most plese vn to God." Fol. 218, b.*

XXIX. A tract without title, beginning "Of the dedis of mercy God will speke at the dredful day, and dome to all his chosun stondyng on his ri₃t side, Come ye blessed childre of my fadre," &c. Fol. 219, a.

This tract is unfortunately imperfect, and ends on the next page; the volume wants some leaves, and the last two leaves are much wormed, although perfectly legible.

It seemed desirable to give this lengthened account of the volume from which the following treatise is taken, not only from the great interest of the collection, comprising

- * This little tract has been printed in the "Irish Ecclesiastical Journal," No. 11, (May 1841,) page 183.
- † Some account of this volume was given about three years ago in the British Mazagine, vol. xiv. p. 275, as one of a series of papers on the MSS. of Wickliffe in the Library of the University of Dublin.

as it does many works, which, if Wickliffe's, have not been noticed by his biographers; but also, and chiefly, because the principal evidence, if not the only evidence, upon which Bale and others appear to have depended in attributing to our Reformer the works of which they have given catalogues, was undoubtedly the company in which those works were found, in such collections as that now before us.

The writer of these pages has already publicly declared his conviction, that we are to this day unable to decide with any certainty what are Wickliffe's genuine works, and what are not.* Bishop Bale, from whose Catalogue of the Reformer's works all subsequent writers have copied, appears to have transcribed without much discrimination the titles of all that he found in the MSS. to which he had access, or which were attributed to Wickliffe by his enemies, or by his friends, and the existence of a tract in any collection, containing one or more of the pieces usually attributed to Wickliffe, was with Bale evidence sufficient to induce him to enter it among the Reformer's writings.*

[•] See the Preface to "The Last Age of the Church." Dublin, small 4°. 1840. London (Leslie).

[†] Bale himself says, "Edidit partim Latine, partim in lingua vulgari, opuscula que sequuntur, quorum majorem partem ex

It is not, however, quite certain that the following treatise has been noticed by Bale, unless it be the same as the work to which he gives the title of "Replicationes et positiones, lib. 1.;"* and from the remark that has just been made, it appears that, even if it had been more distinctly included in his Catalogue, his authority would not have been of itself sufficient, without other evidence, to satisfy us that it was really from the pen of Wickliffe. The only positive evidence that can be alleged in favour of such a supposition, being its occurrence in a volume which as a MS. is coeval with the Reformer, and which contains so many of the treatises that are commonly attributed to him.

Of evidence on the other side in disproof of the hypothesis that Wickliffe was the author, the most satisfactory would arise from allusions, if any such could be found in adversariorum scriptis collegi." But the Catalogue itself bears internal evidence of having been in great part derived from the MSS. many of the works being enumerated in the order in which they occur in MSS. still extant. In neither case, however, can much authority be given to Bale's enumeration of the Reformer's writings, and in particular no inference can fairly be drawn from his omissions.

* Bale, Cent. vi. p. 455. Lewis, No. 231, p. 210. Bale also mentions "Positiones variæ, lib. i." and "Determinationes quædam, lib. i." but as he has not quoted the initial sentences of any of these works it is impossible to identify them with that now before us.

the Tract, to events subsequent to the Reformer's times, or from quotations of writers who flourished after his death.

With this view the quotations have been diligently examined, and as far as possible verified, and the Editor believes that nothing will be found in the treatise, which, so far as these considerations are concerned, might not have been written by Wickliffe. But, as there are a few cases in which the Editor has been unsuccessful in determining the author of a passage cited, this conclusion must necessarily be received as liable to some uncertainty.

It has been suggested, indeed, as a circumstance inconsistent with the supposition that Wickliffe was the author, that the passages of Scripture cited throughout the treatise, are quoted not from Wickliffe's own version, but from some other translation. But if this criterion be applied to the Works admitted to be Wickliffe's by the common consent of his biographers, and cited as such in evidence of his opinions, it will be found to conclude equally against them. Take for example the following version of St. Matt. xxiv. 27, 28, which occurs in the tract entitled by Bale De Christo et Antichristo, and which is admitted to be Wickliffe's, its date being fixed, as we have seen by internal evidence,* to a very late period of his life. The corresponding passage from the printed text of Wickliffe's version is given in juxtaposition for the convenience of the reader:—

The Tract De Christo et Antichristo.

As the leyting cometh out fro the eest, and apperith vn to the west, so shal be comyng of mannes sone to the day of doom: and wher euere the body be, shulen theglis be gederid; and anoon aftir tribulacion of thoo dayes, shal the sunne be maad derk, and the mone shal not 3yue his li3t, and sterris shulen falle from heuene, and vertues of heuenes shulen be mouyd.

Wickliffe's New Testament.

As leivt goith out fro the est, and aperith into the west, so schal be also the comynge of mannes sone, where evere the bodi schal be; also the eglis shulen ben gaderid thidir. And anoon aftir the tribulacoun of tho dayes, the sunne schal be made derk: and the mone schal not zeue her lizt, and the sterris schulen falle fro heuene, and the vertues of heuenes schulen be moeued.

This is a passage in which the similarity to the printed Version is much greater than usually occurs: but it sufficiently proves that we can draw no inference, as to the authorship of any work attributed to Wickliffe, from any such deviations from the text of his Version.

Besides, even allowing the objection its utmost weight, can it in any case prove more than that the tract in which such deviations occur, if by Wickliffe, was composed at a period of his life prior to the completion of his English Version? But not even would this inference be perfectly safe; for we know that it was the custom of our divines, so late as the reign of Charles I. to translate for themselves such passages of Scripture as they had occasion to cite; and that notwithstanding the existence of a Version allowed by public authority, and with all the facilities of reference afforded by the art of printing.*

The state of the case, therefore, seems to be, that there is no positive evidence against the supposition that the following work may be Wickliffe's; whilst on the other hand there is no decisive reason for attributing it to him, beyond the fact of its being found in a collection of his acknowledged writings. It may be said, also, that it is evidently the work of a man of learning, well skilled in the canon law, and in the theology of the day, and that it appears, from several expressions, to have been delivered to an assembly of judges, before whom the author was called upon to defend his opinions. Thus he says at the very outset, "First I witness before God Almighty, and all true Christian men and women, and you," &c. And he frequently alludes to some former discourses of the same kind; as, p. 6, "And thus I graunt now, as oft I have knowlechid before many witnesses," &c. and, p. 7, "To this I seid thus, I reheired a doctor that seid thus,"

&c. These circumstances are all consistent with the supposition that Wickliffe was the author, although it may not perhaps be easy to fix upon the precise period in the recorded events of his life, in which such an apology for his doctrines may be assumed to have been delivered.

There is another source of internal evidence from which it is possible that some light might be thrown upon this question, at least so far as indicating the shire or province in which its author lived. This, however, is a subject which the Editor, being an Irishman, is necessarily incompetent to investigate; and he has therefore thought it safer to leave the discussion of it to others, than to undertake to enter upon it with such imperfect information as he might perhaps have gleaned from books. He felt also that the attempt to fix the locality of an author of the fourteenth century, from the provincial idioms to be found in his writings, must in every case be somewhat precarious: unless we can be supposed to have fully satisfied ourselves that the phrases which are now found to characterize a particular shire, were also peculiar to that shire five centuries ago. And at all events it seemed certain, that no conclusion drawn from such premises against the supposition that Wickliffe was the author of the tract before us, could be deemed perfectly decisive of the question, without a more complete application of the same test to the other writings usually attributed to him, than it is in the power of the Editor to undertake.

It remains now to give some account of the contents of the treatise, which may perhaps help the reader to understand it; and then, a very few remarks on the manner in which it is now for the first time printed, will close all that the Editor has to say in the way of introduction.

It has been already said that the work is an elaborate defence or apology for the principal tenets of the Lollards, pronounced before some court of delegates or judges, by an individual, who if he was not Wickliffe himself, must have been one of his early followers, and a well read theologian of the day.

He thus states his object at the commencement of the Treatise*: "First, I witness before God Almighty, and all true Christian men and women, and you, that it hath not been nor is, nor ever shall be mine intent or purpose to say anything against the Catholic faith; neither [with] intent to beguile or deceive any man or woman, in anything unprofitable to the eternal salvation of their souls, nor contradicting the words or sentence of any Saint, speaking faithfully."

The following is a list of the propositions which appear to have been objected to our author, in the order in which he has stated and defended them.

I. "That the Pope is not the vicar of Christ, nor of Peter." p. 1.

This he explains to mean, that, if the Pope neglect his duty, he must be considered as having forfeited his claim to the office whose functions he has failed to perform. And the principle assumed in this assertion is defended by various quotations from the canon law, and from holy Scripture.

This was the well known doctrine of Wickliffe and his followers, upon which they grounded their constant assertion that the clergy had no right to their tithes and temporal endowments, except so far as they discharged faithfully their spiritual duties.

The doctrine that the Pope is not the vicar of Christ or of Peter, was attributed to Wickliffe in the Council of Constance, where we find among the articles condemned, the following:—"Credere debet Catholicus, quod nec Imperator, nec universalis ecclesia, nec Deus, de potentia absoluta, ordinare potest, quod eo quod quis succedit, et post Petrum vocatur in facie ecclesiæ Romanus episcopus vel Papa, eo ipso sit caput vel pars ecclesiæ cui obediendum est." And again,—"Papa fingit mendaciter, quod est summus vicarius Jesu Christi in terris. Sed benedictus Deus qui istud caput ecclesiæ in parte contrivit, et divisit in partes contrarias caput hujusmodi benedictum."*

II. "That the Pope selleth indulgence." And "That he may give no indulgence, neither to men in purgatory, nor to them that are prescit, that is to say, that are to be damned, or are now damned." p. 7.

His defence of this point is comprised in the assertions, that the apostles gave no indulgences: that such indulgences can be of no value, unless we can be sure that the Pope who grants them is himself saved; whereas we are certain that many popes who have granted such indulgences are damned. That the indulgences bear internal evidence in themselves of being fictitious, and of none effect; and that the sale of indulgences, if the indulgences were of any value, would be simoniacal and sinful.

Wickliffe's opinion upon this subject, as stated in his articles condemned in the Council of Constance, was as follows: "Quantum ad indulgentias, privilegia, et regula-tionem ecclesiæ in lege nova, patet quod foret expediens toti ecclesiæ, quod omnes novitates hujusmodi sint sopitæ. Omnia tamen talia videntur esse phantasmata, nec fundata rationibus, nec Scripturâ."*

And in the "Rationes ac Motiva," given by the council for condemning his opinions, the 41st article attributed to him is thus expressed: "Fatuum est credere indulgentiis Papæ." +

III. "Of cursing two points. 1. That the ministers of the kirk ought not to curse and to wary. 2. That the kirk may not righteously curse a righteous man." p. 13.

The first he explains by saying that the ministers of the Church may curse, provided they do not use the power for their own private ends, but for the glory of God.

To the second he answers by distinguishing two senses in which the curse of the Church may be righteously denounced. First, when the person cursed justly merits such a sentence. And, secondly, when the curse is pronounced according to the forms of law. In this latter sense, when the evidence goes against a man who is really innocent, the Church may, nevertheless, be blameless in pronouncing sentence against him, in so far as the curse is pronounced legally and in due form: but in the other sense, a righteous man cannot be lawfully, or in the sight of God, rendered accursed, by the sentence of the Church. This is confirmed by a dissertation on the different senses of the word curse, and by citations from the canon law.

In the "Rationes et Motiva," already referred to, the 11th article attributed to Wickliffe is, "Nullus prælatus debet aliquem excommunicare, nisi prius sciat ipsum excommunicatum a Deo: et qui sic excommunicat, fit hæreticus ex hoc, vel excommunicatus."*

IV. "That Christ was cursed." p. 25.

This is explained by distinguishing the three senses in which a man may be said to be cursed. First, by sin, when by his guilt he excommunicates himself. Secondly, when he is excommunicated by the Church, as a means of leading him to repentance. Thirdly, when he is cursed by men unjustly.

In this last way only can Christ be said to be cursed; and that in three senses, either as having taken upon Him that nature of man, which was under a curse: or in His own Person, as having been cursed unjustly by man and condemned to an ignominious death; or lastly, in His members, who are one with Him, and in whom, when they are unjustly condemned, He also suffers excommunication.

V. "That each priest may use the key to every man." p. 28.

This proposition was a favourite one with the Lollards, and was levelled against episcopal jurisdiction; the meaning being, that every priest not only has power, but is bound, to exercise his office independently of the license of his bishop, and even in opposition to an express prohibition. It is in this sense that our author here defends it, and it was thus that a similar proposition was frequently defended by the Lollards: take for example the sixth conclusion alleged against William of Swinderby. "That ech priest may assoil him that sinneth, contrition had; and notwithstanding forbiddings of the bishop, is holden to preach to the people the gospel." To this he answers, "Thus I said not, but thus I said, and yet say, with protestation made before; That ech true priest may counsel sinful men that shewen to him her sins, after the wit and cunning that God hath given him, to turn fro sin to vertuous life. And as touching preaching of the gospel, I say, that no bishop ows to let a true priest, that God hath given grace, wit, and cunning to do that office; for both priests and deacons, that God hath ordained deacons and priests, ben holden by power given hem of God, to preach to the people the gospel, and namely and somely popes, bishops, prelates, and curates," &c.*

Our author here uses the same form of argument, viz. that, inasmuch as all power of binding and loosing is from God, a priest, who has received that power from God, possesses it as fully as a bishop; and that originally, by the testimony of St. Jerome, the order of priest was the same as that of bishop. These were the well known errors of the Lollards, and our author (p. 30) incidentally mentions the consequence that was commonly drawn from them by his sect, namely, that confirmation might be ministered by priests. †

VI. "Iche prest is holdun to preche." p. 30.

This was another favourite doctrine of the Lollards, closely connected with the former. Its meaning is, that the office of priesthood in itself imposed the duty of preaching, without any necessity of license from a bishop, [•] Fox, Acts and Monuments, vol. i. p. 534. Lond. fol. 1684. So also in the "Rationes et Motiva" at the council of Constance, the 34th art. attributed to Wickliffe is, "Licet alicui diacono vel presbytero prædicare verbum Dei, absque authoritate apostolicæ sedis, vel episcopi authoritate." Brown, Fasciculus, tom. i. p. 291.

and even in opposition to the bishop's inhibition; and whether the priest had cure of souls or not. Our author's argument is this: "Every man is holden to do what Christ enjoineth him to do: but Christ enjoineth every priest to preach; therefore every priest is bound to do so."*

VII. "If any hear the mass of a priest that liveth in lechery, and knoweth him to be such, he sinneth deadly." p. 37.

In proof of this position our author relies chiefly upon the decrees of the two Roman synods under Nicholas II. and Alexander II. in the years 1059 and 1063, in the first of which it was ordained that no married priest, or, as the synod expressed it, no priest having a concubine, should celebrate mass, or assist at its celebration; and in the second, the laity were enjoined not to hear the mass of such a priest.

Applying these canons to priests guilty of fornication, our author maintains the extreme position of his sect, that to receive the ministrations of such priests is a

[•] See the Note on p. 31, line 29.

[†] These enactments are given rather inaccurately in Gratian's Decretum, Dist. xxxii. c. 5 and 6. They will be found in the councils. (Hardouin, tom. vi. col. 1062, c. and 1139, c.) The decree of Alexander II. was the dangerous example afterwards followed by Gregory VII. of calling in the assistance of popular indignation in support of ecclesiastical canons. See Bowden's Life of Gregory VII. vol. ii. p. 25.

mortal sin; and that ignorance of the real character of the priest does not excuse the laity from this guilt, unless due inquiry has first been made. He then quotes several other decisions of popes and other ancient writers, condemning profligacy in the clergy, which, however, are more or less inapplicable to the question, because they do not make the people the judges or punishers of the delinquents.

The principle assumed in this proposition was the ground of many similar conclusions in the theology of the Lollards; as for example, that the incontinence of the clergy released their parishioners from the obligation to pay tithe; that the priest in deadly sin cannot consecrate the Body of Christ, nor minister efficaciously the other sacraments.* And these principles continued, even to the period of the Reformation, to produce such pernicious effects, that it was thought necessary to affirm

* See the second and eighth conclusion objected against William Swinderby. Fox, ubi supra, p. 533, 534. So in the "Rationes et Motiva," already so often quoted, Wickliffe is made to say in the 15th article, "Nullus est Dominus civilis, nullus est prælatus, nullus est episcopus, dum est in peccato mortali." (Brown, Fasciculus, tom. i. p. 284). And again in the 17th article, "Populares possunt ad suum arbitrium Dominos delinquentes corrigere." (Ibid. p. 285.)

the contrary doctrine in one of the thirty-nine articles of religion.*

VIII. "He that curseth any man, or denounceth him as cursed, when he is not cursed, breaketh God's commandments, by bearing false witness against his neighbour." p. 40.

This proposition our author asserts to "shew itself sooth," that is to be self-evident.

IX. "It is a taking of damnation that a man lead his life in poverty." p. 40.

Our author's defence of this proposition consists in an explanation of the sense in which poverty is a duty and lawful, and of the sense in which the profession of it is dangerous and a sin. It is probably in intent and meaning the same as the twenty-fourth article attributed to Wickliffe in the Council of Constance, which is thus expressed: "Fratres tenentur per labores manuum victum acquirere, non autem per mendicitatem.";

X. "Fastings are not necessary, while a man abstaineth himself from other sin." p. 44.

This assertion is supported by a reference to the words

- * See Art. xxvi. "Of the unworthiness of the ministers which hindereth not the effect of the sacraments."
- + See the fifth conclusion against William Swinderby. Fox, ubi supra.

of Joel, ii. 16, "Sanctify a fast," and by a passage from one of S. Gregory's Homilies. The right use of fasting, however, is asserted, and the benefits of it, when so used, enumerated.

XI. "That the priest is not holden to his canonical hours, except he be to sing [i. e. to officiate]." p. 44.

To this our author answers, "I deny not my having said this, from fear of the danger to which I am exposed by the law; for if it were proved in evidence against me, though it were false, if I denied, I should still be condemned as guilty. And on the other hand I grant not that I said it, that I lie not against myself, for I wot not that I said it, and man's mind [i. e. memory] is slender. If I have been in fault, I ask forgiveness, and I will mend."

After this confession, he takes occasion to urge, that if priests feel themselves so strongly bound to their canonical hours, imposed upon them by human authority, how much more should they esteem the obligation of that charge which they have received from Christ himself.*

It appears, therefore, that our author's doctrine on this

^{*} See the articles, under the head "Contra Orationes," attributed to Wickliffe in the Council of Constance. Brown, tom. i. p. 269. Also those under the head "Contra Missas et horas." Ibid. p. 276.

head was much the same as that of William Sawtrey or Chantris, priest; the seventh article alleged against whom, in his examination before the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1399, was, "That every priest and deacon is more bound to preach the Word of God, than to say canonical hours;" which proposition (although he afterwards recanted) he at that time admitted to be a fair statement of his opinions: his own words are, "And also I say, that every deacon and priest is more bound to preach the Word of God than to say his canonical hours, according to the primitive order of the church."*

XII. "That in the sacrament of the altar, after the consecration, dwelleth the substance of the bread." p. 45.

Here our author plainly alludes to some former work or discourse on this subject. "And in this matter," he says, "I remember that I have spoken and rehearsed the words of the Apostle, and other doctors, that they speak on this matter; for Paul saith, the bread that we break is the partaking of the Body of Christ."

He goes on then to quote several passages from the Decretum, which, however, seem to bear but little on the subject. Amongst the rest he quotes the famous canon Ego Berengarius, as if it were a testimony in his favour.

• Fox, vol. i. p. 587.

He distinctly asserts the Real Presence, although he denies transubstantiation. The following passage (p. 47) deserves to be here quoted: "This is that we say, and in all manners strive to prove, viz. the sacrifice of the church to stand together in two things, and to be made in two things together: that is, the visible species of elements, and the invisible flesh and blood of our Lord Jesu Christ: the sacrament, and the thing of the sacrament, that is the Body of Christ; as the Person of Christ standeth together of God and man, for he is very God and man. For every thing containeth in itself the truth and the nature of those things that it is made of; this thing that is seen is bread, and the cup that the eyes shew; but this that faith asketh to be in form of the bread is the Body of Christ."*

This is in full agreement with the doctrine maintained by Wickliffe in the Trialogus, lib. iv. c. 2, sq. and by most of the early Lollards.

XIII. "That churches are not to be worshipped, nor sergs [i. e. candles, tapers +] to be multiplied therein." p. 48.

In support of this proposition our author quotes Jerome,

[•] This last clause is very obscure, and is probably corrupt in the original. It is here emended conjecturally; the meaning appears to be "that which faith discerns under the form of the bread is the Body of Christ."

⁺ See the Note on p. 48, line 8.

from the Decretum; also William de St. Amour, Chrysostom, the Decretals, and the Decretum. His remarks are chiefly levelled at the abuses then so prevalent, of superstitious offerings of candles, &c. in the churches, and the traffic carried on, within the sacred edifices themselves, of the trinkets necessary for such purposes; from which he digresses into the subject of simoniacal practices among the clergy.

XIV. "That priests to sing may not first make covenant, without simony." p. 52.

This proposition our author supports by citing some passages from the canon law, and other authorities against simony. See the notes, p. 152, sq.

XV. "That the pope, cardinals, bishops, and other prelates beneath [i. e. of inferior degree] are disciples of Antichrist and sellers of merit." p. 53.

In proof of this proposition he quotes the well known passages of St. John's epistle, to shew that all who are contrary to Christ in their life or faith may be rightly called Antichrists. He then shews by extracts from the writings of several popular authors, that this accusation might fairly be brought against the prelates and clergy of the day. The writers quoted for this purpose are Robert Grosthead, Bishop of Lincoln, in his famous sermon before the Pope and Cardinals, at the Council of Lyons,

A. D. 1250;* the sermons of Odo,† and the Verbum Abbreviatum of Peter Cantor Parisiensis.‡

XVI. "That there is no pope ne Cristis vicar, but an holy man." p. 58.

In defence of this proposition our author cites the words of Holy Scripture, and of Gratian, St. Jerome, Pope Symmachus, St. Gregory, and St. Bernard, to prove the necessity of holiness in the priesthood, and the vanity of the dignity of sacerdotal functions without this higher qualification.

XVII. "That a judge giving sentence against an innocent man, sinneth mortally." p. 60.

In this proposition he evidently has reference to the proceedings against the Lollards; he proves it by quoting the definition of a judge from Isidore, and by stating the obligation which rests upon every judge to discern the truth and decide according to the right. For this he quotes St. Austin, St. Ambrose, St. Gregory, and many passages of Holy Scripture. He argues also that it is no excuse to a judge who condemns the innocent, that he has given sentence and conducted the trial in accordance with the forms of human law, because the Divine law, which forbids the condemnation of an innocent man, is of superior obligation. He states also another class of objections and refutes them. As "that God Himself condemneth the righteous along with the guilty, and Christ gave Himself to the death. Abraham was ready to slay his innocent son, Sampson slew himself in slaying the Philistines, David slew the Amalekite (2 Sam. i.) for a crime of which he was not really guilty. And thus by these examples it seemeth that man may give sentence, yea, even to slay the innocent." To these objections he answers, first, "God may do what He will, and therefore in some things it is not enough to us, God doth thus, therefore we may do thus." Secondly, Abraham "was not in will to slay his son," but acted by the command of God, and was blessed of God for his faith and obedience. Thirdly, "Of Sampson men say, either that he had the command of God, or repented after;" and as to David, "all his deeds are not to be followed," nor was the Amalekite innocent in the sight of God, for he thought to have pleased David, and to have obtained a reward for slaying Saul, and "for his lying he was a murderer," and therefore deserved his fate.

XVIII. "That a priest assoiling a feigner (a hypocrite), sinneth mortally." p. 66.

This assertion our author maintains without any attempt at qualifying it. For the priest [he reasons] who assoils a hypocrite, must either do so from carelessness, or ignorantly, recklessly, and by error. And in either case he is guilty of sin; whether he pretend to absolve, as author, from the punishment of sin, or as minister, to promise that God will do so. He sins, moreover, in that he gives occasion to the guilty man to trust in the absolution, and to continue in his sin; and also because by such an absolution "the priest beareth false witness, and professeth himself to know and to do what he neither knoweth nor doeth, and depriveth God of His majesty, making the man to trust in leasing, and so to do sacrifice to the devil."

These views are supported by the authority of the Prophet Ezekiel, St. Gregory, St. Bede, and St. Ambrose. He sums up his doctrine thus: "The priest may know that he hath not power to assoil, except so far as God giveth him commandment; now God saith thus: If thy brother sin, rebuke him: and if he forsake his sin, cease thou to rebuke him: but if he will not forsake his sin, proceed against him before witnesses: and if he will not hear you, be he then unto thee as an heathen man, and a publican. And whomsoever ye so bind, shall be bound, and whomsoever ye bring out of sin,* the punishment shall be remitted him. He commandeth not here to curse him that sinneth not, nor to assoile him that abideth in sin; but, on the contrary, to assoile him that forsaketh his sin, and excommunicate him that continueth in his sin."

XIX. "That marriage made in the third or fourth degree, although contrary to the ordinance of the Church, is rate and stable." p. 70.

He explains this to mean, that such a marriage cannot be held null, so that the man should be free to marry another woman, or the woman another man. And his argument is this: with the dispensation or confirmation of the Church such a marriage is valid; but the Church could not ratify it, unless it were previously ratified and valid in the sight of God; therefore the marriage is not in its own nature contrary to the law of God, for, if it were, no dispensation or ratification by the Church could render it lawful. This opinion he supports by some passages from the Decretum, in which it is admitted that the law forbidding marriages within certain degrees of consanguinity is of human institution merely, and no part of the law of God.

Our author's gloss upon the words quencunque solveritis in terra, "wam pat 3e bring out of synne" is remarkable. It is not to be taken as a translation, but as an exposition of the passage. In the printed text of Wickliffe's New Testament the words are rendered "what ever thingis 3e unbynden on erthe, tho shulen be unbounden also in hevene." Matt. xviij. 18.

On the whole, he concludes that marriages within the third and fourth degrees of consanguinity ought to be avoided; but that when made they are valid, and cannot be regarded as null, or as marriages made within the degrees forbidden by the law of God, for these he admits are unlawful and void.*

XX. "That the Church by solemnising matrimony in a degree forbidden, erreth, consenting to sin, and authorising sin." p. 71.

This position is thus proved. The marriage of cousins in the third and fourth degree is forbidden only by the law of the Church. It is therefore no sin in itself, but only by the law of the Church. Now St. Paul saith, "If I build again the thing that I throw down, I make myself a transgressor;" therefore the particular Church that celebrates a matrimony forbidden by the law of the universal Church is a transgressor; authorising the sin of those whom she should have warned against a violation of the law, and thus consenting to sin.

* The eighth of the Articles attributed to Wickliffe, and impugned by William de Wodford, is "Quod causæ divortii ratione consanguinitatis vel affinitatis, sint infundabiliter humanitus ordinatæ." See Orthuini Gratii Fascicul. ed. Brown, t. i. p. 190, and p. 213. XXI. "That Canon Law is contrary to God's law; and that decretists, as to that part of wisdom that they have of the world's wisdom, are Egyptians." And that by the science of Canon Law holy writ is blasphemed, yea God Himself who is the lawgiver. And that it were well if this science were in a great measure driven as chaff out of the Church." p. 73.

These assertions are defended by extracts from several The first is from an author who is not named, who objects to the canon law; that it tends to strife and debate, and is therefore contrary to the spirit of the Gospel; that it is of human origin, and that it is too closely allied to civil law, and that "from the commixture of these two laws is in diverse ways sown great seed of discord in the Church of God." St. Chrysostom is also cited, for the sentiment that "man's law" is busied in carnal things, and putteth carnal things present, before spiritual things to come. The other writers cited are "Parisiensis" (i. e. most probably Peter de Poictiers, commonly called "Cantor Parisiensis" +), Gregory, Austin, Odo, and some whose names are not given. One very long extract, from a writer who is cited as "an other witti in that same law," the Editor regrets very much his inability to trace to any author whose works are printed or within his reach. This writer, as our author quotes him, urges eighteen formal objections against "the new law," by which term he probably intends the additions made to the five books of the Decretals of Gregory IX. by Popes Boniface VIII. Clement V. and John XXII. between the years 1298 and 1326.* Most of his objections have reference to the temporal power and exemption from secular dominion, claimed for the clergy in the new decretals. As that no priest or clerk should be subject to secular lords: that the lands of the Church should pay no tribute; and that simony, heresy, usury. adultery, perjury, should be punished by the ecclesiastical courts only. He objects also to the abuses which, though not actually enjoined in the law, were nevertheless tolerated or permitted; as the superabundant wealth of the clergy, their being engaged in secular employments and offices, their bribery and corruption; the right of prescription; the abuses of indulgences and remissions: the neglect of the ancient custom of requiring the assent of the people in the ordination of ministers; the compounding for penance with money; the simoniacal abuse of proctorships, customs, and other expenses; the grants of privileges and exemptions from episcopal jurisdiction; corrupt decisions of law in matrimonial causes; cases in which a judge is compelled by the law to pronounce a sentence which he knows to be false; cases of unjust excommunication; decisions of lawyers in cases of marriage between cousins; and contradictions between the law and the words or precepts of holy Scripture.*

XXII. "That no man is Christ's disciple unless he keep Christ's counsel." p. 81.

In explanation of this position our author divides the counsels of the Gospel + into two classes, the first consist-

- * See the Articles condemned as Wickliffe's in the Council of Constance, No. 38. "Decretales epistolæ sunt apocryphæ, et seductivæ a fide Christi, et Clerici sunt stulti qui eas student." Orthuini Gratii Fascicul. ed. Browne, tom. i. p. 292.
- + It may be well to remind the general reader that theologians distinguish between the counsels and the commands of Christ. The latter are absolute, founded on the principles of immutable morality, or our natural duties to God and man, and are consequently equally binding upon all men, in all places and under all circumstances, and absolutely necessary to salvation. The counsels of Christ on the other hand relate not to things necessary, but to things expedient, leading us not to holiness, but to higher degrees of holiness, not to salvation, but to higher degrees of glory. "Hee est differentia," says St. Thomas Aquinas, "inter consilium et praceptum, quod praceptum importat necessitatem, consilium autem in optione ponitur ejus cui ing of those which are counsels of perfection to all Christians: as the three counsels of poverty, continence, and obedience; the second consisting of those which are addressed to some and not to all, as when our Lord said to the young man in the Gospel, "If thou wilt be perfect, go sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have riches in heaven." And he concludes, that, in reference to the former class, no man is Christ's disciple unless he keep Christ's counsels. It is true, he admits, that in a general sense all men are Christ's disciples, who by the law of nature follow His teaching: and that in an especial manner those that followed Him by the knowledge of the law of Moses, may be said to have been his disciples; but in the highest sense are they His disciples who follow Him in the Gospel, and to these it is necessary to obey His counsels, unless they would go back, like Judas, and walk no more with Him. For He Himself has said that no man may be his disciple unless he renounce all things that he hath and take up his cross and follow Christ. Our author concludes thus: "it followeth plainly that, though a man be Christ's disciple in some degree, nevertheless in some degree [i. e. in the highest degree, as just explained,] he is not Christ's disciple, but if he keep Christ's counsel."* It would seem, therefore, to be our author's meaning that all counsels of perfection, except such as were specially addressed to an individual, are binding upon all Christians as such, and have the force of commands.

XXIII. "That each man is holden to do the better." p. 83.

This position appears to have reference to the former, and to signify that in a case of interference or opposition between a commandment of God and a counsel, or between two counsels, the commandment, or the counsel which is of superior obligation, should be preferred. Our author has not expressed himself very clearly in his defence of this position, which is chiefly occupied in defining three senses in which a thing may be said to be better than another, viz. in its nature, form, or virtue. But the quotations he has given from the Scriptures, and from St. Jerom, appear to show that his meaning was as stated above.

* Page 82.

XXIV. "That Images of the saints are not to be worshipped." p. 85.

In defence of this proposition the author quotes St. Gregory the Great, and a writer whom he describes anonymously as "another;" also the second commandment, and other passages of Scripture.

He then states as an objection, that these passages refer to the images of the heathen, in which they worshipped the devil, not to the images "brought in by the Church." In other words that the Scriptures prohibit not every use of images, but only that use of them which would substitute them as an object of worship in the place of God: and for this he quotes the Decretum.

To this he answers that doubtless no true Christian men do honour the images of the saints as God: but others who are not true Christians do; and there are many ways of committing idolatry; as first, when a man "setteth in his affection anything before God." Secondly, "of undue order and cause;" and this in three ways, as giving to a creature what is due only to God; or honouring God irreverently; or honouring the creature for God. He asserts that many fall into these errors: "that many believe the image to be God, and many believe God's virtue to be in the image subjectively, and therefore are more affect to one image than to another, which is doubtless idolatry, as true men say." These abuses he maintains should be amended; and confirms his opinion by passages from St. Austin, St. Clement, St. Chrysostom, St. Bernard, St. Jerom, and the Archdeacon.

XXV. "That the Gospel written is not to be worshipped." p. 90. This proposition is levelled against the superstition of hanging "the Gospel," that is a few verses of the Gospel, about the neck as a charm. This he refutes by the authority of St. Chrysostom, St. Jerom, and St. Austin; and he adds, that when men hear the Gospel in the Church and are not saved, and inquire "whether the Gospel is in leaves of words, or in virtue," they are to be answered, "If it were in the leaves, thou hangest it reasonably about thy neck; but since it is not in the leaves of the parchment, but in the virtue, and by hearing thou art not healed, therefore in vain thou hangest the leaves about thy neck."*

He then states the objection, "But if thou say, by the touching of Christ's body many were healed, and by the touching of his clothes, as the Gospel sheweth, and the Apostle sent napkins to put on men shaking with devils, and the devils were driven away. And it is said that a woman made an image of Christ, and an herb by touching thereof received the virtue of healing.* Therefore men may trust in such things." To this he answers, first "That Christ is more excellent, more full of virtue, than creatures." Secondly, "they that were healed, were not healed simply by the touching, but for the trust that they reposed finally in God." Thirdly, "that such things were at first permitted, and miracles wrought for rude men, to confirm them in the faith. But now that all is plain and open, it is vain and superstitious for the people to have such things." And for this he quotes Chrysostom and Bede. \textsquare.

XXVI. "These are two other points. One, that charms in no manner are lawful. Another, that it is superstitious to hang words at the neck." p. 92.

In defence of these positions our author quotes the

- * This story is told of the woman whose issue of blood was healed by touching the hem of our Lord's garment. See Note, p. 91, l. 24.
- † In the original "more excellent and vertuosar than other creatures." This would seem to a modern reader to imply that Christ was a creature. But such was not our author's meaning, nor the import of his language, as it would have been understood in his own day. The word creatures is grammatically in apposition with other: as if he had said "more excellent than others, i. e. than creatures." Comp. Luke x. 1. Rom. viii. 39, in our English Version.
- † In this part of the work our author repeatedly refers to some former discourse or treatise. "I have rehersid the sentence of Chrysostom, p. 90. "And to this I seid thus," p. 91. "And to theis I have said thus," p. 92. See p. xxi.

Mosaic law and the prophet Isaiah, confirming his doctrine by citations from St. Austin and the Decretum. He shows by these authorities that witchcraft, charms, enchantments, and divinations in every form are unlawful, both by the law of God, and by the law of the Church. And that Christian men, when visited with sickness or any kind of peril, should have recourse, not to charms, augurs, or diviners, but to God; that after the example of Job they should confess their sins to the Almighty, and beg His forgiveness, "and take then such medicines as God hath made and commanded, and deceive not themselves vainly, nor incur further indignation." For St. James has said, "Whoso needeth any wisdom or help for anything, let him ask of God, and all that is needful shall plentifully be given unto him."*

He then proceeds to enter more at length into the subject, defining the charms and enchantments forbidden, to be such as are "brought in by accursed devils and by suggestion of devils, contrary to the commandments of God, or else by man's vanity and folly, without authority of God Almighty, in which men hope for help without Him, or even in opposition to Him, like heathen men or infidels." He then defines the various kinds of charmers.

as enchanters, ariolers, aruspicers, augurs, dreamers, necromancers, geomancers, hydromancers, piromancers, sortilegers, &c. concluding "that, since God hath forbidden these things, as well as holy doctors and the Church, it is vain and superstitious, and a species of idolatry, to use such things against so many commands, authorities, witnesses, and counsels."

He next supposes an objector to urge that "such things are useful, because God hath given virtue to herbs, to words, and stones, and men often see by the evidence of their senses that such things help." To this he answers, "it is true that God hath given virtue to all things that He hath made, and hath ordained how they shall be used, and to what end. And therefore ought every man to use them as He ordaineth, but not in a way contrary to His ordinance, or without it. This, therefore, gives no proof that these things profit when hung about the neck, unless we find it written and bidden so to use them." And again, "when men say such things help, this is not certain without better proof." He then proceeds to point out some of the causes to which the apparent success of such charms is to be attributed, and concludes by an earnest exhortation to trust in the goodness and providence of the Almighty, and not in the unlawful and uncertain aid of charms, forbidden alike by the authority of the Church, and by the testimony of Holy Scripture.

XXVIII. "That the vow of religion is against Christ's Gospel." p. 100.

Here our author first explains "that the name of religion is taken in many manners." As first "for the truth that ruleth a man to serve duly his Maker" Secondly, "for the act and state proceeding of this religion." And thirdly, "materially, for the persons thus inclined." The present question, however, relates chiefly to the second signification of the term, in which those are called religious, "who depart from other people by sects [or orders], founden by traditions, and other sensible rites."

He then explains the nature of a vow, and shows that it may be wise or unwise, profitable or unprofitable, lawful or unlawful. Hence he says, "four things are required to every vow that obligeth," viz. "first, principally, that it be made to God." Secondly, "that it be in such things only as are good and profitable to the salvation of the soul: and not in things evil, or unlawful, or noyous [i. e. injurious] to any man, nor letting to any commandment of God, or counsel of Christ." Thirdly,

"that it be made with deliberation." And, fourthly, "that it be wilful."

He concludes, therefore, that "if the vow of religion [i. e. the vow taken upon entering one of the religious orders or the monastic state] be thus circumstanced, then it is pleasing to God, and in accordance with the Gospel; else if it be in a contrary manner begun, followed, or continued, who doubteth that it is not sin?"

He then enumerates several ways in which "the vow of religious men or of any man" may be against the Gospel, and therefore unlawful; as when men vow "that they will not eat flesh, till they be avenged of some man:" or "to fast, or to go pilgrimage, for to do their lechery or vengeance on some man." Also when men "bind themselves to keep any estate or degree," or to observe any monastic rule, "more for the sake of highness of the world, or worldly riches, or lust of flesh." Again. he instances in the case of the friars, their obligation to live by begging, "which is against the Gospel;" their vow to abstain from meats, "against Christ's freedom, that biddeth His disciples eat such things as men set before them;" for which "forbidding men to be wedded. and abstaining from meats," they are also reproved of the Apostle, 1 Tim. iv. Further, "when they vow to keep CAMD. 80C. 14.

an obit, or other rites, although God promiseth no reward for keeping such, but rather reproves them:" when they so vow obedience to the superiors of their several orders, as to "put their will under man's will, more than under the will of God," that they may not do even what God biddeth them do, if their superior bid them refrain, or do the contrary; and "when religious men are letten by their vow from preaching of God's Word, and from fulfilling the deeds of mercy;" in all these cases, he concludes, "it is certain that their vow is against the Gospel."

In confirmation of these views, he quotes the book On Contemplative Life, commonly attributed to St. Prosper; also St. Bernard, and Grosthead, bishop of Lincoln, with many passages of Scripture; concluding with the words of St. James, "If any ween him [i. e. suppose himself] to be religious, not refraining his tongue, but deceiving his heart, his religion is vain. Religion clean before God, and before the Father, is this, to visit the fatherless, and motherless, and widows, in their tribulation, and keep himself unspotted from the world."

XXIX. "That religious men are bound to bodily works." p. 105.

This he proves by testimonies of holy Scripture: also by the authority of St. Augustine, the Decretum of Gratian, and the rules of St. Francis and St. Benedict; in which last, special times and hours are set apart for the labour of the friars.

XXX. "That it is not lawful for the religious to beg." p. 108.

This he explains, that "though it be lawful to every man to beg in need, nevertheless it is not lawful to any man without need," or for the purpose of "gathering much worldly riches, or to enable him to waste his time in idleness, or waste himself and his goods, and those of other men, in lusts and in other vain curiosities."

He then shews in what sense begging may be lawful, but asserts that "wilful begging of stalworth [or ablebodied] men is forbidden to every Christian man, by the Apostle of Christ, and by God Himself;" and that St. Paul commands the excommunication of such as "walk disorderly, working not at all." (2 Thess. iii. 10—14.) From which our author reasons thus:—"And since no man ought to be cast out from the communion of Christian men, except for deadly sin, it followeth that he sinneth mortally, that wilfully and wittingly bindeth himself to such a state, contemning travail,* as that he beg for ever."

^{*} The words "contening traveil" (p. 109, l. 13) are printed exactly as they stand in the MS. but "contening" is probably a mistake for "contemning." The omission of a line over the a would make the whole difference.

This position is defended by many texts of Scripture, and by the authorities of Augustine, the Decretum, the Glossa ordinaria, Jerome, Prosper, the Golden Legend, and St. Gregory.

The foregoing brief summary of the contents of the treatise, and of the arguments employed by the author, may be of some use, it is hoped, in assisting the reader, to whom the antiquated language of the original may be an impediment. It may serve also to establish the truth of what has been already said, that the treatise contains nothing inconsistent with the supposition that Wicliffe was its author. No writer of a later date than Wicliffe appears to have been cited in it; and the general moderation of its tone and doctrine would seem to indicate, that it proceeded from a man of learning, and was composed at an early period of the great religious movement of which Wicliffe is regarded as the leader.

It remains now to say something in the way of explanation, and something perhaps also of apology, for certain peculiarities of the present publication.

The Editor has taken great pains to furnish an exact transcript of the MS. from which the work has been printed: even its obvious errata have been religiously retained (except where they were corrected by the original scribe), and all conjectural emendations, however necessary or certain, have been reserved for the notes.* This seemed the indispensable duty of an Editor who had undertaken to print from a single manuscript; not only to preserve such traces of the true readings as even the mistakes of transcribers sometimes enable us to discern, but also because it appeared desirable to retain exactly the orthography of the original.

No attempt has been made to represent the contractions of the MS. which would have served no useful end, even if it could have been effected without getting type expressly cast for the purpose; but the use of two Saxon letters 3 and b has been retained, because they appeared to form an essential part of the orthography of the period to which the MS. belongs.

For this, however, the Editor feels some apology to be necessary, as the use of the p especially was persisted in

* The only deviations that have been permitted are, first, in the case of proper names, the name of God, &c. which are written in the MS. sometimes with small, and sometimes with capital initial letters. In the printed tract capital letters have been uniformly employed. Secondly, in the punctuation; which has been conformed to the sense, and to the modern notation. The punctuation of the MS. is highly capricious and irregular, and no object would have been attained by attempting to preserve it. The marginal summaries, and references to the Scriptures and Fathers, although the greater part of them occur in the original, have been in some cases added by the Editor for the sake of uniformity.

on his own responsibility entirely, and in opposition to the judgment of the Council of the Camden Society; to whom he takes this opportunity of returning his thanks for the deference they have paid in this, as well as in another instance, to his wishes.

His principal reason for desiring to retain this ancient letter, was because it seemed to him to form a part of the orthography of the language, at the period to which the MS. belongs; and because he does not believe that its place can be adequately supplied by any modern substitute.

In the fourteenth century, the compound letter th does not appear to have had the soft or aspirated sound which now belongs to it; it had the hard sound which in German it still retains, and was written chiefly in foreign words, or when the t and h were in different syllables, as in such words as priesthood, knighthood. In some few instances in the following pages, th will be found at the beginning of a syllable, but always in words where t is now employed, and where the th had therefore most probably the hard sound.* For example theching, (p. 33, [•] Macpherson, in his edition of "Wyntoun's Cronykil of Scotland," has the following remark on the difference of p and th. "D, p expresses the sound now marked by th in that, this; whereas such words as think, thing, are written with th; and this distinction with very few exceptions (apparently faults of transcribers) is constantly observed." (General rules for reading Wyntoun's Cronykil, vol. i. d. p. 2.) This distinction (which is no more than the difference

1.31) for "teaching;" bi thwex, (p. 38, l. 11) for "betwixt;" thwo, (ib. l. 13) for "two;" throwip, (p. 40, l. 26) for "troweth," i. e. believeth. These peculiar spellings could not have been retained or noticed, had the character p been every where replaced by th in printing the treatise.

Less objection seems to have been made to the retention of the letter 3; and it was, in fact, impossible, without altogether reducing the words in which it occurred to modern spelling, to find any real substitute for it. It is now generally represented by the soft or quiescent gh, as in such words as thought, though; but frequently also by g, hard, and by y. In some words it is represented by h, and in some it is now altogether dropped. For example, it is now soft or quiescent in taust, taught; rist, right; list, light; hist, hight, i. e. promise,] &c. It is represented by hard g, in azen, against; forset, forget; zefing, giving; zate, gate; zaf, gave, &c. It has become k; in 3el, health; 3ed, heed; 3erd, herd (i. e. shepherd); 3er, hear, &c. It is y in 30we, you; zet, yet; zong, young; zere, year; zeld, yield; enplized, employed; byzar, buyer; zha, yea. And it has been altogether dropped in the modern spelling of 3erb, earth; fru3t, fruit; 3erle, earl; abi3d, abide. In some cases it has been used for z, as bow3and, for thousand; solempni3id, for solemnized, &c.; but in these cases z perhaps ought to have been printed, although no difference can be observed in the MS. between the 3 used for g, gh, y, h, &c. and the 3 used for z.

On the whole it appeared impossible to substitute for these letters their modern representatives, without admitting a principle that should have led to the translation of the whole treatise into modern spelling, a task which the Editor had not undertaken to perform. Nor did it seem to him that, while the antient orthography in other respects was retained, much additional inconvenience could result to the reader from the presence of the two letters 3 and b. Those who took the trouble to read the tract at all, and who were resolved to master the other difficulties which its language presents to a modern reader, would become familiar enough with those letters before they had perused half-a-dozen pages; and it is hoped that such readers will perceive that without those letters, the transcript of the orthography of the period, which it was the Editor's object to put in print, would have been inaccurate and incomplete.

The other instance in which the Editor has to return his thanks to the Council of the Camden Society for deferring to his judgment, is in reference to the title that has been given to the treatise. That title is of course without authority from the original MS., and when the work was first proposed for publication to the Council, some Members were of opinion that it bore internal evidence of a date later than the life of Wicliffe. the Editor not being able to concur in the reasons alleged * for this view, and being convinced that the work contained nothing that might not have proceeded from the pen of Wicliffe, was anxious that the question of the authorship of the treatise should not seem to be in any way decided by the title given to it in the present publication, and he therefore proposed that which now stands on the title-page, retaining the abbreviated title of "Wicliffe's Apology," on the upper margin of every page; —a proposal to which the Council cheerfully acceded.

The Editor has to acknowledge having received much valuable assistance in the laborious work of collating the proof sheets with the original MS. from his friend the Rev. Richard Gibbings, of Trinity College, Dublin. The errata, for which the reader's indulgence is solicited, occur chiefly in those pages which had not the advantage of his revision.

Some apology is due to the Society for the long time that this volume has been passing through the press. The delay has been occasioned chiefly by the great difficulty of verifying the author's references, and by the occupation of the Editor's time by his official duties.

P.S. A learned friend, to whom the Editor shewed these sheets, has suggested that some readers may perhaps misunderstand what has been said, p. xvii. respecting the difficulty of deciding what are Wicliffe's writings and what are not. It may be well therefore to say that the Editor does not by any means intend to assert that we are not now able to determine whether any of the ancient tracts attributed to Wicliffe are really his. On the contrary, there can be no doubt that with respect to many of these treatises we have every reasonable proof, as well from the testimony of friends as of enemies, that they are the production of Wicliffe. But what has been said is, that we are to this day unable to give any satisfactory criteria of his genuine writings; we are unable to decide, for example, such questions as that which presents itself with respect to the author of the following treatise; and in the case of by far the greater portion of the tracts that have been attributed to Wicliffe, as well as of those which exist in our libraries on similar subjects, and which have escaped the notice of his biographers, we seem at present to have no means of ascertaining with any certainty their real parentage, beyond the evidence afforded by the authority of Bale, or the catalogues compiled by writers, who in many cases do not so much as profess to have seen, much less to have perused, the treatises they describe.

Until all these writings are collected and published, under the care of competent editors, the learned world will not be in a condition to discuss the genuineness of any tract attributed to Wicliffe, or to decide upon the real character of his doctrines.*

Of cursing twey poynts.

III. Of A noper is his pat is put and askid, hat he minstris of he kirke curring owe not to curse and to wari.

Certs to his I sey hei owe bohe to curse and wari, but neuer for 1. hat he iuil wille ne veniaunce, but for luf of ritwisnes. And raper for be be hirk breking of he bidding of God, han for worldli goodis or pride of he over not to world and flescli lust.

An oper is his hat is putte, hat he kirke may not ristwisly curse 2. hat he a ristwys man. To his I seid hus, hat in two maner of hing, is seid kirke may iust; first sympli, or after trowb, as bat vnrytwysnes is not inne. wiely curse In be secound maner is a man seid iust, onli in name or aftir a riztwys present riztwisnes. And bus as doctors seyn, a sentence of cursyng is seid to be zeuun justli, on two maners. On after troup, wan it is don wit just cause, juste ordre, and just entent. A noper, wan it is don onli up on comyn form o lawe. And bus it may be as it semih sum tyme, hat how he kirke curse iustli, as to form, a iust man, neples it [is] not iust as to sopfastnes; as wan per is no cause of be fulnes of be kirke cursing: vnrijtwisnes of be cause is po syn going be for of pe obstinat, wan pe synnar wil not dewli obey ne amend rist. bat is bat bu dost bo dom in nam of be kirke, feibfully wilving be mendment of be synnar, helful, to be worschip of our Lord Jhu Crist, and due ordre procedand up be gospel. But suppose her bat his just is bat is ordeyned be God to do a hing, or to suffre, to comyn, or to minister in ani maner, or zend in be nam of Crist, and he willing to perform obediently and fille be wark bat

God hap jeuun to do, suppose he pat pis is iust. And pan I suppose pe kirke mai not iustli curse him, as he may not sequester him fro pis pat God joinip him to do, but if God wille pat he be sequestrid; nor pe kirk may not iustli priue pe comyning of cristun men, nor taking of pe sacraments, nor part taking of good pings, wyle he is iust, not but if God wil pat it be done; nor pe kirke may not iustli punisch nor bid punische swilk on, bifor pat God bid; nor non may denounce swilk on cursid, not but in pe forme pat he is cursid; nor pe kirke mai not iustli lede ani man in to synne, nor bid do synne, ne contune per inne, pe wilk he putt owt of comyn and harmip, as it semip bi pe speche of feipful men; nor mai not iustli wari him, ne pray iuil to him, ne punisch him, for he will do wel and fille Godds bidding, and amend his mis. In ani swilk maner pei mai not curse ani swilk iust man.

But it semed me bat it speded a litil to seeke be witte and be sawis of feibful men, owe [how?] bei speke of cursyng, for ber is mani maner of cursyng. be first and be warst, and bat is dedely synne, bi be wilk a man synning, puttib him self out of comining of feibful men, bat is to sey, vndisposib himsilf to tak part of be merits of he kirk, as it is of ilk man deed bi synne; and hus owip no man to curse ani man, for God may not autorise pat actyfe cursyng; nor Crist was not bus cursid, for he synnid neuer. passyue cursyng, bat is peyn be it self wib synne folowand, is just; wilke is proper God to zeue, and is just medicyn hat ho synnar owip for to take pankfuly, and be sory for be cause perof: per is also a noper cursing, bat is preying of iuil or effectual warying or cursyng bat is iust, departing fro comyning of feibful men, and fro be taking of be sacraments. And a nober by wilk a man cursib a nober contrarily to be lawe of Crist, and bat but only in nam or pretendid.

perfor to spek of pe cursyng of pe kirke, [by] pe wilk pe kirk denouncip opunly a synnar to be put out of comynyng, and be forfendid him to comyn feleschip of feitfulmen, and taking of sacraments, but he do be raber penaunce, and infect not ober, and but his be ritful bob up be side hat is cursid and up on he kirk side cursing, be howfib be kirk to temt warly. For as bre condicouns mak martirdom faire, bat is to sai, riztwisnes of be cause, charitable pacience of be martir, an vnrigtwisnes of be persewar, and so bat cursing be ristwyse longen in a contrari maner; bat is to say, ristwisnes in the kirk cursing, cause of vnristwisnes in be man cursid, and enemy of be obstinat. And bus it may be, bof be kirk curse a just man justly, as to form of vsing of lawe; nables it is not justly as to be cause of sobfastnes, nor it may not, wyle ber is no cause of vnri3twisnes in be man, ne obstynacy, ne ritwisnes in be kirk, bus doing; bat is, wile God biddip not be kirk curse, bus be vnrijtwisnes of be cause is synne going biforne, for wilk be man schuld be cursid. Enemy of be obstinat, wan be synnar wil not dewli obey ne a mend. Riztwisnes of he kirk doing execucoun is wan be kirk a cordib wib Crist, and be kirk aboue; of mek charitable feibful entent, benkyng helful correccoun of be synnar to be honor of God, procedib in dewe ordre up be gospel.

But, for to haue be more clere and vndeceyuid knowyng of bis mater, cursing and assoling in mater of domis, and geuing of sentence in ani maner of dome, priuey or comyn, and in mater witnessing, and in materis to be don, bolid, susteynid, aprouid, confermid, canonisid, autenkid, or to be helpid, in ani maner of cause a geyn ani man, or for ani bing, me semib now spedy to sey summe bings.

First, I tak as feib, bat no creature mai do iustli, wele, meritorili, perfitly, vnsinfully, effectuali, ne perseuerantli ani bing, not but if God wirk bat bing bi him, and in him; bat if he do, or presume to do bis bat God wirkib not bi him, he synneb, and his wark schal be in veyn, and idil, and schal not stond in profit. bis semib bus, Crist mist not, ban mikil more non ober creater mai bat Crist mist not, semip bus; for he seip in the gospel, be Sone mai not of Jo. wo. himsilf ani bing, nor noust, but as he seb be Fadir doing; bat if he schuld do ani ping pat God schuld not bi him, schuld do vniustly. For bus he seib: If I bere witnes of misilf, mi wittnes is not trewe, it is Fadir bat berib wittnes of me; and as be Fadir beril witnes of him, and biddil him bere witnes and speke, so he berib witnes and spekib. War for he seib; be words bat I speke, I speke not of misilf, but be Fadir dwelling in me he dob be dedis, and as he gaf me bidding so I spek. And so is ilk man holdun to spek, and do, and witnes, as be Fadir giffib bidding to hem. And but no creater mai do iustli ani bing, not but if Crist do it bi him, semily bus. Ilk power in heuen and in zerbe is zeuen to Crist. Also be Fadir hab seuen al dome to be Sone, and al wysdam is of be Lord God. berfor wib out Crist is no just power, dome, ne wisdam; he hap be key of Dauid; he closib, and ban no man Apoc. iii. opunnib; he opunnib and ban no man closib. If he dyng down, ban no man biggib vppe. If he close, ban is ber no man bat may opun, ne iustli azenstond him, nor no man mai sey pis schal be don, but if he bidde. And he giffip power, and wisdam, and seip: Wib outen me see mai no bing do. And for his seib Poule: We 2 Cor. iijo. may not of our self benk ani bing as of ourself, but our sufficiens 2Cor.xiijo. is in God; and no werkis in vs and no bing mai we agen be trowb, but for he trowh. And for his seib he prophet: Lord, hu hast Is. szujo. wrout al our warkis in vs. And mani swilk witnes. And so, sin no creater mai do iustli ani bing wib outun Crist, ban be kirk may not, nober general kirk, ne particuler; be kirk in heuen, ne be kirk sleping in purgatory, ne be kirk fizting in his world, aggregat, or gedred to gidre in on of Crist, and of al chosun to be blessid wip him wip outen ende, lepun vp to gidir in to oo spirit and concorporel and conperseyuers and felows of be heizest of Crist, and of his godly kynd. As Petre seib in his epistil, and Poul of Colocenses: Weber it be be kirk particuler, as were two or bre are gedrid to gidir in Cristis name, and of he kirk; or if it be a persone ordeynid to do ani hink in he name of Crist and of he kirk, he mai no hing do iustli, but in maner befor seyde, hat Crist do it him.

And bus is opun bat be kirk mai not iustli curse ne bles, but as he hab befor ordeyned to be down, and do it be be kirk; be kirk mai not ellis curse iustli, bat is nober sequester ani man fro comyning of feibful men, ne fro part takyng of sacraments, ne for bid him ne to do ani bing, ne joyn him penaunce, ne denounce, put out of comyn, ne bid iuil to him, ne curse him in ani maner, be wat nam bat cursing be callid; be kirk may not do it iustli, ne vnblamfully, not but in als mikil as Crist hab ordeynid to be doun, and doib it bi be kirk, and confermit it. And rist so of soiling: oper wis may not be kirk bring a man out of synne, ne forzef be peyn, nor man siker, ne pronounce, ne hist him to be soylid, in ani maner for ani cause. Ne oper wyse howip ani man to dred ani curse, not but in als mikil as it is zeuen vp Cristis bidding, ne ober wise ioi of assoiling; ne reste hemsilf siker per for. Oper wyse ow 3e not to drede it; pat is, 3e ow not to drede it pat it schal greue 30w, or noy 30w, as at God to mak 30w sinful, or to be punischid, nor 3e ow not cesse, ne abstene fro ani good wark, but vp bat Crist for bedib it him. bis sentence is clere of manifold witnes of be feibful opunning of holi writt, and publischid expresly and ymplizebly, and of be sawis of feibful doctours, witnessing and expounding; and of be decreis of be kirk conferming. In canoun it is writun bus, of he words of he pope Leoun; he priuylege of Leoun. Petre dwellip were euer pe dome is zeuen aftir his equite, pat pe fersnes be noter to mikil ne to litil, were no bing schal be bounde ne lowsid, not or Petre byndip or lowsip. Who euer deserue to tak be sentence of daming, if he wele perseyuer in his wit, no man mai relesse him. And bi resoun of bat prohibicoun fro comyng of feibful men and reseyuing of sacraments, syn it is not a sacrament supposid bat is it leful to a lewyd man in be vertew of be kirk to curse and louse; but wan ani after be bridde correpcoun dwellib inobedient, he owib not only to be denouncid a cursid, bat of sume is callid be lesse curse; but comyn of feibful men and takyng of sacraments owun to be defendid him; bat is callid be more curse ban be kirke hab ordeyned resounably; bat be kirk performe it solemply, candel slekennid, bell rogun, and be cros turnid vp so doun. neuerpeles it intendib be good of him bat is cursid charitabli, and profist of be kirk. And it semib be a nober doctor to bring forb a nober curse, be wilk i is leful to curse be iust man, wib outun his demerit, of forbeding him comyn of men, and taking of sacraments, but he geit mede of his obedience, and be sinnar be mad redy, or for summe ober swilk cause. But certeyn I am but his curse may not be done wib outun resounable cause; ne be nakyd wille of be prelat is not inowe berto; ne a man is not holdun for swilk curse to leef bing but he is holdun to do bi Godds bidding. Neuerbeles he mai medulfully cesser fro summe dedis for a tyme, and deserue for obediens. And if ani can ground his maner of cursyng I consent.

But how pat we spek of curse oiper it pat is dedly, or peyn consequent per of, or ellis warying, or it pat is sequestracoun of pe iust man fro comyn, or it be wilke pe iust man be cursid as contrari to Godds lawe, pat is but only in name or pretendand, or ani oper, it semip pat noun owip to curse ani principali for money, for his proper cause or wrong don til him.

Gregor.

Pis semip bi ensaumpul of Crist and Moyses, and swilk ober: and also be doctors and laws of be kirk: for bi lawe canoun no man howip to curse in his owne proper cause; for vnder be autorite of Gregor be kirk writib bus; Among mani quarells a nobil man, Ysidore, pleynid him to be cursid of be [thy] brober hed, and wan we lere of be [thy] clerk bat was present for wat cause his was don. he maad knowen for non oper cause, but for he had greuid bee. Wilk bing noisib vs rist gretly, if it be so; bu schewist bee to benk no bing of heuenly bings, but tokunist bee to have an zerbli conversacoun, til bu haue done cursing for venging of bi selue; bat is defended by holi rewlis. Werfore fro hene for be wel bisy about. And presume bu neuer to do aftur swilk bingis, for defence of bi noune iniurie; for if bu do ani swilk bing, wyte bu wel it to vengid after in bi self. Werfor be glose of Ion seib, be bischop mai not curse ani man for wrong don to him, nor mai not be iuge in his oune cause, bat is to vnderstond, namly, it is leful to no man to curse principali for his o une proper cause.

But mani prelats are out of part of bis maner of cursing. Also bi be feib of be gospel no man owib to curse a nober not but of charite bat he hap to him, for of be feib we owe to luf our enmies, and also for to do alle bings in charite, for mani man cursib now not for charite, and perfor not feibfully. beh glad, for 30r mede is plentiuous in heuen. God bring us to his. And prelats mai sore drede, hat her vniust and iuilwilly cursing be in cause whi he puple dredih not cursing, nor mendih not, but asenstondih and risih asen hem; and his is cause of al iuil, for ilk crature wih God aust to senstond falshed: for hus is writun in he Psalme, Who schal rise to gidre wih me asenis he iuil willid, or Psalme who schal stonde wih me asen he wirking wickidnes. And he wise Sap. w. man, he gelousy of him schal tak armor, and arme he crature to venge him on he wickid, and wih him al he world schal fist asen he vnwitti, and he spirit of vertu schal stond asen, and as a wirlwynd schal diuide hem; and wickydnes schal bring al 3erh to wildrenes, for cursing he 3erh swellih, and iuil wille schal turne out he setis of he misti. And as seynt Jame seih, As he welle mai not bring Jac. iii. forh of o pitte bitter water and swete; so mai we not blesse God wih he mouh, hat we curse man made to his lekenes.

pis is a nober point, for I seid bat Crist was cursid. But bei IV. Crist toke heuely at he worde, herfore I preied to excuse me or spare was cursid. me in termis; and neuerbeles to trewe vnderstonding me binkib it mai be seid sobli, and wip out blame: for we schal vnderstond bi Holi Writte, and bi teching of seynts and bi resoun, and bi comyn experiens, bat in bre maners is a man seid cursid. Ffirst 1°. and warst be synne, wan he cursip himsilf, and bi his wickid dede gob out of comyn of holi men, and vndisposib him to tak part of merits of he kirk. And hus mai not God curse ani man, ne hid ani man curse, ne a proue it, ne bus was Crist neuer cursid, for he synnid neuer. In be secound maner is man cursid iustli, wan 20. God wordeynib him for his synne to be putte to peyn, and out of comyn, and to be waried, or denouncid, or schewid, as cursid and haldun swilk. And bus is man justli cursid and worbili, wan men curse him bi Godds biddyng, and pan bei do it medefully. punisch him, and not to bring fort frut; and bus he seit he wille curse to her blessing, wan bei wil not kepe his bidding; for wan bei prey for plentey, and pees, and swilk ober bings, and delitun in beis bings, and 3ekun ber synnis bar by, he wil send hem skarnes and noises, and pole hem to have debate, and punische hem in mani wyes, and ay be moo lusts bat bei haue here, ay be more schal ben per peyn. And pus he cursip to per blessing. And so pis pat mani callun blessing is cursing. And agen ward; bus we prayen iuil and cursing to our neybor iustli, wan we desire bat discese and ober enuves be to hem to lette hem of iuil and to mak hem to drede synne and to do bettar. And bus we blame childre and 100 3°. misdoars. And bus Iob cursid his day. And Jeremy bat man bat Jer. 20° callid his fadre pat a son was born to bim, and as bi ioy gladid him, for pey desirid pat beis schuld lette men fro doing of iuil and be in a maner to stere men to be heur of her mysse and to desire to be heyne; for bus were good to mani a man, bat bings were in desesse to him, but now are in mikil leking. But 3et in his maner of curse bat men curse man iustli for his misdede, was Crist not cursid, for he seruid not to be cursid, nor God bad not men curse him, ne 3° bei dede not bis justly to him. But in be brid maner a bing is seid cursid wan men cursun man bow bei do it vniustly, or bannun him, or puttun him out of comyn, or haldun him cursid, or denounce, or schew him cursid. And pus comyn speche callip men cursid. And bi lawis of be kirk men are bus cursid, and bidun to be holdun cursid, wan bei are wel good, and be more blessid of God. And bus Crist was cursid of men, and olden cursid, and put out of Gal. 3° comyn of men, and put to deb as cursid man. And bus seib Poule, He was mad for vs bat cursid bing, bat we schuld be mad blessid Yea. 53° in him. And be prophet Ysaye, but we arettid him as smitun of God and lafte, and bus he seib bi be prophet bat alle men cursun But for his is he mikil he bettar and not he wars. And we schuld luf him be bettar and desire bus to be cursid wib bim, as Poule dede, and Moyses, and odir, as Holi Writt seip of hem; for Poule seip he desirid to be cursid of Crist for his breper, to Ro. 9, a. make hem saue. And Moises praied to forzeue pe puple per Rx. 32°. synne, or ellis to do him out of his book; not pat pei desirid to do synne and be cursid worpily; but pat pei wold pus wip out desert be punischid as cursid for pe peple, to make pem saue. And pus schuld we alle if we were in charite, as me pinkip.

And it semib bi sindre resouns it mai be seid bat Crist was 1°. cursid; first bi bis bat he was made man wib outun synne bat was cursid of God, and iustli put out of lordschip and comyn for a tyme. be secound, for he was in his persoun bus wib out desert punischid. 2º. as if he had ben cursid. be brid, for he is cursid in his membris bat 3°. are oon wip him. After his bat he seib, his bat ze dede til ani of hem lest of myn good or iuil, 3e did it to me. And bat 3e ded not to hem 3e ded not to me. And bis schuld maak men rad to do ani iuil to ani good man, or to curse him, or to gruch agen him, for it soundib in to Crist. And berfor seid Moyses, 30r grucching Ex. 16°. is agen be Lord. bus as he is seid cursid bat men cursun. as al men of a comvnte berun punisching for be defaut of two or on. bus it is be twen Crist and vs. for bus was he punischid for vs. And bus seib Peter bat he bare our synnes, for he bare be pevn of Pe. 3°. hem. And bus he callip our synnis and our defauts his. And bus he seip in be Salm, God my God loke in to me, why hast bu Salm. 22. left me, fare fro my heyle, po wordis of my defauts. And God 3et left neuer Crist, but ay is wip him, for he dob ai bo bingis bat plesun God, os himself seip. But for he polid him bus be punischid, and for he left sum membris of be kirk at a tyme, for his he seib bat he left him. And bus was Crist callid a synnar and blasfemer, and be cursidist man in zerbe, for bei seid bat he was a deuowrar, and bat he blasfemid. And bus, as we sev bat man a sefe blasfeme or cursid, wan he is bus jugid and rettid of men, bow he be not so in sobnes, in his maner we sey of Crist hat he was blasfem, synnar, and cursid, and hat he get was not; for he blasfemid not, ne synnid, ne did no bing worbi curse; and bat Crist wold bole al bis schuld we be glad, and leren to bole wib him; and ban bi bat we schal be holdun of God be more blessid, and be be more blessid, and be so perceyuers of Cristis meritis.

To his, me hinkih, I may wel sey hus, syn al power is of God, and, as be gospel seib, per is no power but of God, ne man may do no bing, but if he seue him be mist; as Crist seib, 3e may wib out me do no bing, bat onely a man vse his power in to ilk bing, as God werkib bi him, and lefib him to vse it vnblamfully, and no forber, and fro bat may no man lette him. And his is bat we sey, bat we may of rist so, if her be ani vsing of power, or callid power, bat is not bi Crist, bat is no power, but fals pride, and presumid, and onli in name, and as to send and effect is nowst. Neuerbeles, a man is seid to haue power, and leue to vse power, in many wyse, as sum bi lawe and ordre of kynd, sum bi lawe and ordre of grace, and some bi lawe and ordre made and writun. And so it is seid bi lawe pat is mad of pe kirk, pat ilk prest hap pe same power to vse be key in to ani man in bo poynt of deb, as be pope; but not ellis, not but autorite in special be seuun to him of be kirk per to. But if it be askid, if ilk prest mai vse be key in to ilk man, bat is to sey, to assoile him, or ellis to bind him fro grace, it semib opunly bat ilk prest may not asoile ilk to bring him Matt. 13°. to heuyn; for be gospel seib, bat Crist in a coost of be Jewis mist not do ani vertu per, for pe vntroup, not but helid a few seek, pe handus leyd vpon, and he maruelid for per vntrowp; pan, wan

> Crist, bat is God Almisty, and of his absolut power may al bing, and no bing is vnpossible to him, nor no bing may agen stond him, and 3et may not of his ordinat power 3ele be folk for her ontrowh, and vndisposicoun, and vnabilite to reseyue, mich more ani oper beneh may not help, but after be disposicoun of him bat receyuib.

Al so it semily bi his, hat he pope may not bring in to grace, ne bles, him pat lastip in vntrowp, and in per synnis; os it semip bi Jewes and Saracenis and oper swilk, os is witnessid, and of feibful witnes. Also God 3aue him no farrer power, not but asoyl hem bat wil leue ber synne, or to hynd hem and curse bat wil dure ber inne. And bi so be same resoun none oper prest may not excede. And if it be axid weber ilk prest hab as mykil power as be pope, as a nenist God, it semip to me pat is foly to a ferme in his case oiher zie or nay, be for pat it mai be schewid out of Holi Writte. And so it semih al so to me it is foly ani prest to presume him to haue euyn power wib ilk ober, be for bat he may ground him in be feib; and foli it were to deme to ani man any power bat God hab seuun to him, or be vsyng per of; for certeyn I am, how euer ani man tak power to him, or vse power, it profit not, but in as myche as God zeuip it, and wirkip wip it, and confermip it; and certayn I am, bat be power bat God saue Petre, he saue it not to him alone, ne for him alone, but he zaue it to be kirk, and for bo kirk, and to edifying of al be kirk; os he seuib be sist of be ee, or be act of ani membre of he body, for help and edifying of al he body. And Sent Jerom seib, Sum tyme be prest was bat ilk bat be bischop. Jerom. mani dingings, and he pat enowip not, and dede pings worpi betings, schal be dongun wip few dingings. And as Austeyn seib, Not ilk vnkuning schal be excusid of synne, but he mai be excusid bat fond not wat for to lere. But he mai not be excusid bat fond what he mist lere, and saf not wark per to; and perfor we pray God for zeue vs our ignoraunce. And per for men schuld not tak pis word ouer egirly, ber for prestis flee fornicacioun, not onli for hemsilf, but also for all oper, but bei make hem not to synne dedly; for be gretnes of be synne in prestis, ouer be synne in ober men, is schewid be many resouns; and for it is mikil greuowsare pan simple fornicacoun bi thwex an onlepy man, and an onlepi womman, and it is grettar ban spouse brokun of seculer men bodily, and neuer be lese bob thwo are dedly synne. And bat it be be more semib bi bis: for ai be heiar degre, be sarrar is be falle, but presthed is heiar degre pan hodili matrimoyn, and bus be prest in doing fornicacoun dob sacrile, and brekip his wow; for hi be vertu of his degre, he made be vow of chastite. Also be gretnes of his synne is schewid bi be lawis and peynis bat are made ber azen; for bus is writun in be decreis, he prest or dekun hat is tan in fornicacoun, heft, or mansleyng, or forswering, be he deposid. And eft, If ani are prestis, dekunis, or sodekunis, bat lib in be sin of fornicacoun, we forbede him in almisti Goddis behalue, and bi autorite of Peter and Poule, be entre of be kirk, til bey repent and amende; and if bei last in per synne, pat noon of 30w presewme to here per office, for per blessing is turnid in to cursing, and per prayor in to synne. as God seip bi pe profist, I schal curse to sour blessing; and who so wil not obey to his helsum bidding, he synnih in he synne of 1 Reg. 200. vdolatrie, as Samuel witnessib, and seynt Gregor enformib; synne of wichcraft is to not obey, and be felowny of ydolatrie to not wel assent. And eft bus, Bidding we comaund, bat no man here be messe of bat prest bat he wot dowtles bat hab a concubyn, or a womman suspect brout in vndir. Werfor in be holy seyn is ordeynid his capitul, vnder he peyn; seying: If ani of prestis, dekunis, or sodekunis, after be ordinaunce of be good memorie of our predecessor seynt Leoun, and pope Nicol, of be chastite of clerk, hold concuby opunly, or leuip not heer pat he holdip; vpon almisti Goddis half, and bi autorite of Peter and Poule, princis of postlis, we bid him, and agen sey him, bat [he] syng no messe, ne rede no gospel, ne pistil, at be messe, ne dwel not wib prestis, ne tak no part of be kirk. And as be decretals declarun, in bre maneris Decretals. is his callid notory; Oiber wat it is lawfuly connicted hi witnesses, or bi his oune cnowleching, or ellis bi be dede bat mai not be weypid a wey, as be dwelling to gidre of be man and be womman, and be bringing forb of barnis. And eft be decre seib, If ani bischop, or Decre. ani of prestis, or dekunis, consent to fornicacoun, or to crime of incest in his parische, for price or prayour, or amendih not hat is done bi be autorite of his office, be he suspendid. And eft writip Decretal. be pope to be bischop, We bid to bi broberhed, bat bu steer bisili be clerkis of bi jurisdiccoun, bat are wib in be ordre of sodeken, or a boue, bat han concubins, bat bei moue hem fro hem, and reseyue hem no more agen; and if bei wernid hold hem stille, suspend hem fro office; and bei suspendid if bei wel dwel stille in ber iuel, do bey bisines to moue hem fro office for euer. And as be doctor seib, Doctor. pis schal be heuen wib deposing. And forsob seib the pope, We wel bat be bischops bat are necligent in bis, vndir go be same peyn. And eft be decre biddip, Receyuib no wey be office of him bat see Decre. wot lieb in synne of fornicacoun, and of symonye, and als mikil as see mai, forbedip swilk fro holi ministres; for it is nedeful, for pow be sacraments han be dignite of per vertu, neuerbeles bey noy bus mikil bob to be ministring, and to be receyuing hem, agen be ordinaunce, but bob be ministring and to [? be] receyuer vnworbily are wip hem verrey idolatrers; per for sacraments are forbidun to be revoluid of be handis of such prestis, but wan such prestis see hem dispicid of be peple, bei be be licliare callid to penaunce, and bus

VIII. To curse a man that is not currid.

A noper poynt putt is bis: he bat cursib ani man, or denouncib him cursid, wan he is not cursid, he brekip Goddis binding, berip fals witnes agen his negbore. Pis schewip it self sop, and oper resouns prouun it wele. And for sob, as he list bat seib agen mend, as wan he wot how a bing is if he denay and afferm in be contrari; or ells he pat presumip and wenip to wete verily of a bing, and properli denail bat, and affermil be contrari, wening him to lize in his, so lizh he hat chargid to afferm of a hing os it is aftur witing, and he affermil agen be sobe, and a bing os it is, for in his he seip agen God, and so agen his mynde; for be troub of his mynd affermib not to him be bing to be but os it is; for be toper is fals presumpcoun. And bus wan he affermib him to wite bing bat he wot not, he affermil agen his mynd, and namly wan be bing is nowt, for he mai not wet but bing bat is, for if he wene to wit bing bat is not, bat is but fals presumcoun; and for his seib Crist in sentence, if I denoy his hat is, I schuld be lik 30w a lier. On his schuld here witnes hang bat bei witnes not azens God, nor be not disseyuid hemsilf, nor disseyue non oper men.

pis is a noter: it is a taking of dampnacoun bat a man lede his lif in pouert. Certs his is contrari to his, hat noon is Cristis disciple but if he forsak al bing for him. Alas he bat puttib forb bis bing noiber dredib ne schamib to lette, ne sclaunder ober men. Alas pat oiper throwip his lesings agen be bidding of God, wer to bring bei forb suche bings, sib Crist ledde his bodili lyfe in most hevest pouert, as divers doctors declaren. And he was riche, he was mad nedy for vs, pore and helples, as be psalm seib on him, bat we bi his pouert schuld be mad riche. Pore he was, for he had Matt. viii. not were to hied his heuid, and he chase be pore in his world, bat are riche in he feih, as Jame seih. And he pore he blessid, as he gospel seib, and his apostlis led be porest lif; and bus he reprouid be rych, and seid many iuel to cum to hem, and neuerles to sum pouert is not only a bing of saluacoun, but also of dampnacoun. perfor hem see pore men hat hei grucche not azen God, but be glad of per pornes; for bus seip be psalm, Lord, good is to me for bu Psal. hast lowid me, bat I lere bi ristwisnes. And ilk man see bat he bring not him self synfully in to pouert, nor bide not synfully per in. And se hem religious, bat bei feyn not falsly pouert, nor mak bei not hevet voyd, bat bei purchas hem not peyn but meed. And see bei bat bei oblesche no man to ber maner of pouert, but bat God hab callid ber to. And alle prelats and prestis vse bei hemsilf in wat pouert bei schuld folow Crist; for bei schuld folow Crist as holi doctors declaren, bob Jerom, Ambrose, and oper. And for be clerar declaring of his mater we schal understond hat pouert is a forme, a bing bat is seid pore, or litil, or haldun litil in sum maner. And bus sum are gostly pore, and sum bodily; sum vertuously, and sum vicously, or synfully; and sum peynfully; and ilk on of hem in syndry degrees and maners. Gostly pouert is sum tyme wan a bing hab litil of sum spirit; and bus was Crist most pore, for he had lest of be spirit of prid, or ober sinful spirits, 3he lesse pan euer had ani oper man; for al had sum synne but he; and lest he coueited of his world, bob of hienes of lif, coueitise of flesche, lest of lordschep, lest of honour worldly, or worldly serueyse. And litil he tuk or coueytid of his worlds goodis, or worldly seruice, for he tuk of hem but in comyn, as bei weren holden to do seruice to him, in be performing of be wark but God saue him to do. But and wan men wold haue reeft him to haue maid him kyng, he fled it; and ouer his he porid him self ouer alle oper; more alle oper mist for taking hede to his kynd and degre bat he is of, and to traueyl bat he toke, and be seruice bat he dede, and to be sorow bat he bolid. Was per neuer creature so pore, ne bat porid him so mich; for ouer hem alle he chesid to be maid be CAMD, 80C, 14.

lowist, as it semip to him pat beholdip. And as be titil of his world, and of worlds lawe, he was moost pore, for he cleymyd no bing be pat titil, nor no bing to be proper to him, ne wold he not be juge in per bings, nor wan men wold not seue him, he sowt no veniaunce vp on hem, but went his wey to oper place. And his techib his pouert. And his pouert was bi bis mikil be more, as he is be richist bing bat mai be, and grattist Lord; for his is God, bat is al riches; and in him he is riche gostly in mercy, ristwisnes, and pees, power, science, and algostly bingis. And rich is seid, as he bat chefly hab a bing; and Crist is rich, for he hab chefly and richli alle bingis, and gouernib, and ledib ouer alle oper creaturis. And bi bis we mai see, how alle bings are his most properly; and to holdyn of him, and bi his lawe, and his seruice to be don to him per for. And bi be state of innocence he is verray Lord, for man was maid to lord in alle creaturis, and forfetid not bat wyche synnip not; and Crist kepid ai pat state, so he had titil to be Lord; and bi bus mikil ouer Adam, as God is aboue man. And bus is opun, how Crist is at onis bob richist and porist. And for his seil doctors, hat to defend be contrary pertinatly is heresy, contrary to be feib. And bus he taust his disciplis, to flee synful pouert, and to follow him in medful pouert; forbad hem to flee prid, and al fals coueyteis, and veyn glory, and to be mek and suget, and seruiciable, obedient and buxum to ilk man, and to hold hem paied of fode and helyng, and bisily to labor per fore; and pole deseyce of body in wantyng, and taking a wey, wip out ani euynes, or sekeng to do veniaunce agen; and who bat wold be he more, to be minister and servaunt to alle, and nowt glad to mikil of per power, or witte, or oper pings, but glad in pis, if God haue chosun hem to grace, and seue be pank til him for alle bingis. bus he tawt hem to do, and fle prid, and oper synnes, bat maken man pore synfully; to ocupie oper mennis bingis synfully, and bus to be rich, and falsly holde ryches. And so many wyse to renne in to be wrat of God. And bus doctors declaren be apostols so louid Crist in heyest pouert; and Jerom and ober seynts kennun how bat prestis now schuld folow Crist in pouert. Dus seib Jerom. Jerom. It be howuip vs clerks to not mishews be sygnes of our cleregye. for alle be tokenis of clerks, crien and presenten vertewes to be in hem; be croun crieb pouerte; be cloping honeste of soule; be state purte; be honoring, chastite; be professioun, religioun; be office, deuocoun; be stody, contemplacoun. And perfor but if we schyn in beis vertues, be croun lieb, be clobing, be honoring, be professioun, be office, be stody, be contemplacoun. And ber for be beis we are but peyntid clerks and lied clerkis. And if God schal tyne alle boo bat spek lesyng, and bat are lesing, and not only hare clerks dampnid, for bei spek lesing, but also for bei luf it moost, and putten hemsilf for it to be deb. And eft, be clerk pat seruib to Crists kirke, first schuld interpret be calling of his nam, and enforce to be bat he is seid; for a clerk in our speche is seid sort, and per for are men seid clerkis, for pei are of pe Lordis sort, or for be Lord is per part; and for he is be Lordis part, or hab be Lord his part, he haut to have him silk bat he have be Lord, and be had of be Lord. He bat hab be Lord, and is had of be Lord, and seip wip be prophet, Mi part be Lord, may no bing haue wip Psal. xvo. out be Lord; bat if he have ani bing bi syd be Lord, be Lord schal not be his part; as if he have gold, or silver, or diverse instruments, or possessouns, with per parts, be Lord denaied not to be his part. If I am be part of be Lord, seib Jero, and a litil cord of his heritage, I take not part wip oper linagis, but, as a decoun and prest, I life on tibis, seruing be auter, I am susteynd of offryng of pe auter; and fode and heling having, wip hem I schal be content, 1 Tim. of. and nakyd I schal folowe be nakid cros. X. Of fasting.

Joel ii°. Gregory.

An oper poynt putt is bis: Fastingis are not necessary, wil man abstenib him fro oper synne. And as to bis I sey bus, bat fasting generaly is not onli in forbering of meit and drink, but in forbering of iuel, and al iuel spite, and in doing of good dedis. pis semih hus bi he scripture; for hus seih he prophet, Halow 30r fasting. Wat is it, seip Gregory, to halow fasting, but to schew due or worbi abstinens of flesch, wip oper good verteuis joined per to; do a wey prid, wrap, strif, and oper vices; for in veyn bu foilist bi flesch wib abstinens, if bi soule be not refreynid fro synnis. And as sum fastingis are but of ordinaunce of he lawe, so bi he lawe are mani excusid per of; as wymmen wib childe, and waxit folk, wold, and 30ng, sek, and feble. And be pore are excusid bi be lawe. And neuerbeles fasting is mikil profitable bob to grace and to blis; for bus we sey to God, by bodyli fasting bu berist doun vices, liftist up be mynd, and zefyst vertu and medis. eft bus, be clere fairnes of fasting is schewid to be world heuenly, bat Crist, autor of al bing, abstening richid. By his Moyses, dere to God, was makid zeuar of be lawe; bis liftid up Hely bi be aire in a chare of fire; for his Daniel, ouercomer of lyowns, saw misteris of priui bingis; bi bis Ion, be inward frend of be Spows, was clere; bise are opun in be stories. God graunt in vs to folow beis ensaumplis of abstinence.

XI. Of horis.

An oper poynt putt is his, hat he prest is not holden to his horis canonized, not but if he be to syng. To his I answere hus, I denoy me not to have seid his, for perel falling in forme of lawe; for if it were witnessid agenis me, pof it wer fals, if I denoyed, I schuld be condempnid as gilty. Ne I graunt not bat I seyd it, bat I lie not on mysilf, for I wot not bat I seid it, and mannis mynd is sclendre. If I have fautid, I aske forseunes, and I wel mend. But o bing I wot wel, if prestis are bounde to per horis bi be lawe bat hem silf han maid, bei howen be bound be be charge bat Crist hab seuen hem. And if bei haue streit conscience to faile in his hat hemself hap bound hem to, bei schuld haue mikil more to faile in bis bat Crist hap bound hem to, if bei lofid and trostid him aboue be wark of per hondis. But if bei haue bounden hemself, per as he maad hem free, and setten mikil bi per oun tradicouns, and litil bi his, and puttyn his bidding to forbfil per, and followen wickid coueitis and oper iuel, ban schal bis be verified in hem bat Crist seib in his gospel, Pe Holi Goost wan he comib schal find bis world Joh. anjo. of dome; and eft, Whi brek 3e be biddings of God, to kepe 3or own tradicouns? ypocritis, wel is prophecied of 30w, his peple honorib Mat. 200. me wib ber lippis, but ber hert is far fro me. In vevn bei honor me, teching be biddings and be maundments of men; leuing be bidding of God, for to kepe per oune tradicouns. And eft, Wo word yow bat tizen mynt, aneis, and comyn, and ilke herbe, and leuen be sadder bings of be lawe, dome, feib, and mercy; beis bings howen to be done, and poo not be left. Blind foolis, clensing forp be knatt, but swelowyng be camely. And for sop, as Ambros Ambros. seib, Till bu lefe bis bat bu art bodun bi bo bidding of Crist, what bing bat bu werkyst is vnbankful to be Holi Goost. And mani prestis in per horis byddyn hem self Goddis curse, for pus pei sey, Lord, bu hast blamid be prowd, cursid bi bei bat bowen doun fro bi Ps. carriii. biddings.

An oper poynt is put hus; in he sacrament of he auter, aftir he XII. Saconsecracoun, dwellyh he substaunce of he brede. And his is sohe, crament of the fuller. for he body of Crist [which] is he bred hat he saf for he lif of he

And in his mater I remembre hat I have spokyn and rehersid 1 Cor. 20. be wordis of be apostil, and oper doctors, but bei speke on his mater; for Poule seib, pe brede bat we breken is be part taken of be body of Crist. And Austeyn seib, his bing bat is seen is breed, Austeyn. and pat pat be feib askeb to be enformed be bred is be body of Crist. Decre. And be decre, and oper doctors mani, a corde. And syn ber wordis are canonized, and approuid of holi kirk, oiber be hould to graunt per wordis, or to denay be canonizing and aprouing of be kirk; and bat semib not good. Per for I sev as beis seyncts down, and trowe as holi kirk trowip, and techip; pat be sacred host is verreyli be 1 Cor. 20. body of Crist, for Crist seip soo; and pus seip Poule, Breper, fle fro worschipping of idols; I speke to 30w as to wyse men, demib bis bing bat I sey; be cuppe of blessing bat we blesse, is not it be comining of Crists blood? and bred pat we brek, is it not be part taken of be body of be Lord? for we mani are oo body, and a life 1 Cor. 200. hat alle taken part of oo lofe, and of oo cuppe; forsob, I tok his of be Lord, bat I be tok to 30w; for be Lord Ihu, in be nist bat he was betrayed, tok bred, and blessid, and brake, and 3af his disciplis, and seid, Take and eete all of his; his is my body hat schal be trayed for 30w, do his in my conmemoracoun. Also he tuke be cuppe, after bat he sopid, seying, Dis cuppe is a newe testament in my blod; do bis, als oft as 3e schal take it, in to my conmemoracoun; for als oft as 3e schal ete bis bred, and drink be cuppe of be Lord, 3e schal schew be deb of be Lord, til bat he cumme. And so, who bat schal ete bis brede, and dring bis cuppe vnworbily, he schal be gylty of be body and blood of be Lord. Perfor man proue him selue, and so ete he of his bred, and drink of his cuppe, for wo hat etib and drinkip vnworpily, etib and drinkip dome to hymsilf, not deming wisely be body of be Lord. And upon his seib Ambrose Ambrose. bus, It is a gostly medicyn, and memory of raunsom, bi wilk we deserue greiter bingis, to wilk we are taust to nist; not but drery of

be nist of oure synnes, of his hat in he nist he was be tan for our synnis, wan his sowle was drery to be deb. And also in be mynd of be same deb, he 3af his disciplis bis bred, and be cuppe of be new testament, and monest to take it, and ete it, doutles to be made like to him, and innewid in to him; he menib as mani as wil be in vnite of his body bat is be kirk. And bis mete is prophitable to vs dwelling in his vnite, bob to body and to sowle; ffor he flesch of Crist was peynid for the hele of our body, and his blod was zeuen out for be zele of our soule, but profitib not to hem bat are out of vnite; werfor be apostel seib, He bat etib or drinkib 1 Cor. aro. vnworbily, bat is, oiher wib out deuocoun, or oher wyse ban it is of be Lord ordeynd, or dwelling in be fillip of synne, he schal be gilty of be body and blod of be Lord; bat is, he schal zeue peyn for be dep of Crist, as if he had slayn him, and he drawip spot of good bing to an iuel. And Austeyn seib, We sey his bing be body and Austeyn. be blod of Crist, be wilk tan of be zerb fro be frutis, and halowd bi gostly praiors, we tak ritli to gostli sele, in to memory of be Lordis passioun; be wilk, wan it is browt be handis of man to bat inuisible spice, is halowid not but bi be Spirit of God wirking inuisibily; for God wirkip al pingis pat are done in his wirk bi bodily styrings. Dis is bat we sey, and in all maneris striue to proue be sacrifice of be kirk to stond to gidre in two pingis, and to be maad in two bingis to gidre: bat is, be visible spicis of elements, and invisible flesch and blod of our Lord Inu Crist; sacrament and bing of be sacrament, bat is be body of Crist; as be persoun of Crist stondib to gidre of God and man, for he is verrey God and man; for ilk bing contenib in it silf be trowb and be nature of boo bings bat it is maad of; his hing hat is seen is breed, and he cuppe hat he seen schewen; but his hat he feih askih to be enformed he bred is he hody of Crist. Also be decre seip, I Beringary concent to be holi Decre. kirk of Rome, and as be apostil seib, I cnowlech of mowb and hert, me to hold be same feib of be sacrament of be Lordis bord, be worschipful sir Nicol pope in heys holi seynes, he hap be tane me of autorite of pe gospel, and of pe apostil, and hap fermid to me pe bred and wyne, pat are putt in pe auter, to be after pe consecracoun not onli sacrament, but verrey body and blod of our Lord Inu Crist sencibly, not onli in sacrament, but in trowp to be tretid; wip handis of pe prest to be brokyn, and wip pe tep of feipful men. And mani oper seingis of doctors a corden to pis.

XIII. Worschiping of kirkis.

Isaye. Jerom.

An oper poynt is bis; kirks are not to be worschippid, nor sergs to be multiplied per in. I wot wat I seid. Wil bu offir a candil bat bu gevt merit and grace: seue to be pore, bat he may see go to his bedde, or to do sum good werk; or to wold womman, bat scho spynne, or teese her wolle, or do sum good wark. And bat bis be pe profitabler, concorden all feibful doctors, and cristen men. And oft bu reproue hem bat drawen a wey help fro be pore to bigge deade warkis. In Ysay bus is writun; Refresch be pore, and bat is my refresching, seib be Lord God. And Seint Jerom seib. Mani biggen wall, and drawen a wey pilars of kirk, be marblis shinen, be bondis schinen wib gold, be auter is vmbeset wib stonis, but of he ministris of Crist is no chesing. No man sett agen me be riche temple in be iewes, be bord, be lanternis, censars, pannis, cuppis, mortars, and ober forgid wib gold, ffor beis were ban aprouid of he Lord, wan prestis slow be offringis, and bests blod was remissioun of synnis; bow alle beis went bifor in figer; bei writun for us in to wom be zendis of his world are conivn. But now wan be Lord hab halowid be pouert of his hows, here we be cros, and kownt we gold as cley. To reue ani bing fro a frend is beft; to defraude be kirke is sacrilege; to have tane bing to be zeuen to be pore and mani hungry, and to reseue it, is vile or fals drede, or of opunyst felony; to wib drawe ani bing ber of, it passib be cruelte of all robbars. Hector Thebanus a man sum tyme richist, wen he went to vse philosophie at Athenis, he kest a wey a gret peise of gold; he gessid bat he mist not have to gidre, riches and vertu;

we stoffed and farsid wip gold, followen pore Crist; and a color of takyng of almis, we chouche a boue our mikil riches, how may we trewly depart oper mennis bingis, bat dredfully reserven our owne. Pe fulle womb disputib litly of fastyng. Vp on be wilk seih William de Seynt Amour, Swilk maner of men bigging hus William de biggings semen to turne bred in to stones; bat is to sev, be bred sever. of pe pore, pat is almis beggid, in to hepis of stonis, pat is in to stonen howsis costlew and superflew; and perfor bey semen werrar ban be fend, bat askid stonis to be turnid in to bred. Wer for Jerom Jerom. kennib wel simple men seying, Gif no bing to no man, ouer liflod and opun necessaries; bat howndis ete not be bred of children; forsob, he seib, be sowle of be trewe man is be temple of Crist: honor it, clop it, gif it 3eftis, and tak vp Crist in it. Wat profit is it be wallis to schine wib precious stonis, and Crist to dize in be pore man for hunger. Also bus seib Crisostom, Men bigging be Crisostom. memoryes of martres, and honoring kirkis, semen to do a good dede: but and if pey kepe oper ristfulnes of God; if pe pore ioi of per goodis; if pey mak not oper mennis goodis here bi violence or bi fraude; who so is vnwyse bat he vnderstondib not, for bei mak per biggings, not to be glory of God, but to mannes dome. And vniustly bei bigge memories were pore men, boling violence of hem, crien agen hem; for martirs ioien not bat bei are honorid so of be money of swilk pore men greten; what ristfulnes is his to zef zeftis to be dead, and spoyle be quek; taken of be blod of wrecchis, and offre to God? Pis is not to offre to God, but to wylen to mak God felow of his violence, hat if he tak gladly money pat is offrid to him of synne, he consent to synne. Wel bu bigge be howse of God? 3ef to be feibful pore werof bey may lif, and bu hast biggid a resounable howse of God. Men dwellen in biggings, but God dwellib in holy men; perfor wat men are bey bat spoylen men, and makyn biggings of marters? bey aray be dwellings of men, and disturblun be habitacouns of God. Ihu 3ed in to be biggings of be temple, and sowt be holines of be temple, but CAMD. SOC. 14.

wan he fond in be temple be properte of be temple, he went out; for he bigging stod hat man had revsid, but he holines hat God had ordevnid was fallen; be temple of man is biggid of stonis of faire composicoun, but be temple of God is be congregacoun of men leuing religiously. A man delib [in] be bigging of wallis, but God in be conversacoun of seynts. De prophet seib, Lord, I have Wilk fairnes? Not his hat diversite of schining louid be fairnes. marbles maken, but his hat he barianns of gracis of louing me makib; bat fairnes delitib be flesch, but bis quekenib be soule; bat for a tym desceyuib and iapib be see, but his biggib be vnderstonding perpetual. Dis seib he. Derfor it semib good, spedi, and meritori, bat be kirk be honorid, neuerbeles not to mikil nor superflue, ne curiously, nor proudly, for glory of be world, noiber in biggings, noiper in lists, noiper in instruments, nor minstris necessarijs in to vse per of; but honestly and mesurabli honorid and kepid in alle bings, and mikil honestliar ban it is nowe in mani placis; and specialy bat feyris nor markets had no place in be kirk, in solempne tymis, wan men schuld tent to prevers and to Goddis seruys; and pat in silk tyme men tent not to idil talis, foul spechis, harlotries, bakbityngis, or conuenticlis, purposing iuel, as peft, or manslawt, or swilk oper; so no synnis were vsid in be kirk; bat be house of God be not maad a den of befis. Dus schuld be kirk be honorid; but in be quek gostly kirk, bat is be congregacoun of cristum men, auste honestly to be honorid, first in vertuis, and vertuis dedis, good maneris, and ritful warks, clensid of alle crimis and dedis forbeden hem in holi writt, and feibful doctors, and ordinaunce of be kirk; and bus schuld God haue a gloriouse kirk, bat is now pollutid and fylid wib many vnleful bings. Wheher is it not writun in be lawe of be kirk bus? Forsob it is an horrible bing bat in sum kirkes is witnessid marchaundis to have place; so bat ani bing be askid for bischoppis, abbots, or oper personis, to be putt in per segis, or prestis to be induyd, or inled in kirks, or for sepulturis, or exequies, diriges of be dead, or blessing of wed-

And sum demen to be leful, for bei deme not be lawe of be dede for to harme by cause of long custom, not takyng heed bat synnis are so mikil greuowsare, euer be lengar bei hold bound be vncely sowle; berfor we forbede more strengliare pat peis pings be no more do bus; so no bing be askid for personis of be kirk to be browt in to ber segis, nor for presthed to be institut, nor for dead to be byried, nor weddings to be blessid, nor oper sacraments. And if ani presume agen his, know he him to haue porcoun wip Giezi. And als after be decre, in an oper place: No Decre. man presume to seue for ani custom, noiher to be taking of symonyently, bat is to sey, for coueytise, for his labour tak ani ping, for who pat sellip eiper of his hings wib wilk po comil not forb, he leuib noiber vnsold. And schame it is bat a man be constrevnid to seue his money for nowt. Of silk bings is be kirk to be purgid, for mani causis: forsob as Symon Magus, bicause of coueytise, wold have bowt of be apostel his power, bat he schuld be Holy Goost receiue to hele hem bat he put be handis to, bat he mist have gotun money of be selling of signis; as be decre Decre Saluator witnissip. And perfor he was reprouid of Petre, for he demid to possede be seft of God bi money, and perfor he had no part in bat bing. It semily bat prestis are nowe in be same chapiter, takyng goostly grace or ordres bat bei geyt ber of superfleu riches, prid of world, and lust of flesch, and bey bat minstren to ober in bat entent, bat bei habunde in ber bings. And it semib bat lewid men hiring prestis, in pat entent, deming to by be goostly bings so, or bat bei eke riches to hem, or per oper bings befor sevd, are greuid in be same synne. And bus it semib to sume, bat wat euer clerk takib priate, religioun, bischophed, or dignite of be kirk. bat he life lustili, or habunde after hienes of be world, or to lord in bat maner bat Crist forbedib his disciplis to lord in, he synnib deadly. And bus be couenaunts how to be seuerythly, bat be goostly bings be done frely. But for he synne of symonye may vnnese or neuer be fled in swilk bings, perfor conduct prestis are reprouid of be lawe, after Mostiensis, Hostiensis, and Innocent; and eft Hostiensis seif of hem pat zeuen a peney, or peyneyes, to prestis, for to do aniuersaries, or to syng a messe of be Holi Gost, or swilk maner, or for to syng trentaylis, in alle swilk casis, to tak or 3ef temporal bing for goostly bing, of for bword, or certeyn couenaunt, it is symonye. But bei selle him vndeadly, and glorified, and ofte and for lesse price, wan bei trowen him God, regning in heuen vndedly, and til bey cum to penaunce bei restore not be money. Dus he seib. And Jerom seib bus; Jerom. Als oft of men are seid singing for menis fauor, and temporel wynning, or hope of ani temporel profet, solly Crist is sold and be trayd, and wen be body and blod of Crist is tretid wib foul hands. and polutid conciens, Crist is trayd and crucified. And Ambrose Ambrose seib; He [bat] zetib and drynkib bis sacrament wib out deuocoun, or operwise pan it is ordeynid of pe Lord, synging messe, or dwelling in lust of synning, he schal be gilty of body and of blod of Crist, and schal zeue peynis for deb of Crist, as if he had slayn him, and he schal draw spott of good bing iuel tane. Dis seib he, and more afterword.

Dis is a noper poynt, hat he pope, cardinalis, bischopis, and oper XV. The prelats be nepe, are disciplis of anticrist, and sellars of merit. I pope, cardinalis, wot what I have rehersid he words of doctors hat spekin on his dischopis,

But now men sevn hem iust, if bey do be law after per wit; an bow bat bei do bing bat is agen Crist, and agen consciens, be law schal excuse him, and is inow for him. Also be pope seib in his lawe, bat ber are two lawis, as law of be spirit, and law mand of men; and who bat is led be be law of be spirit is fre, and is not worbi bat he be dreuen vnder mand lawe, and perfor go he fre bi oure autorite. But now are men lettid oftun bi maad lawis, rewlis, and constitucouns, to wirk after be spirit, or to do be merciful dedis or rigtfulnes frely, bi autorite of Crist; bis is oft prouid many tymys bi deed, os bob in religious, and oper, wen it is not leful to hem to do be dedis of mercy, noiper bodily, nor gostly, if per ouer man bid hem be stille, and lefe alle beis or ani ober lawis, rewl, or customis, wat euer bei be, wan bei ar not wip bo gospel in ani maner substauns formid or vsyng in to perfeccoun of fredum of be gospel, but are in ani maner, ani tyme, for ani bing, letting, or trobling, or tarieng any bing bat gospel biddib, or counseylib to be don; in bis bei are agen Goddis law, and agenis God, aftur be sentence of Crist befor seid, He pat is not wip me, he is agen me.

An oper poynt is bis; bat no man is Cristis disciple, but if he XXII. kepe Cristis counseil. Dis me pingip wel is sop, bi diuerse resouns. ciplis kepe And perfor we schal first vnderstond, as bob Goddis law, and Cristis experiens, and resoun techip, bat Cristis counseilis are callid in two wise, as sum tyme bing bat he counseilib to, and biddib not to ilk man as ober comaundments; as are beis, bat men kepen in be gospel bodily pouert, and keping fro bodily weddingis, and suylk oper. On oper wyse is callid his counseil bus, as he sterib oon to do bus, an ober bus; as he seid to be man, 3if bu wilt be perfi3t Matt. xixo. go selle alle bat bu hast, and 3ef to be pore, and bu schalt haue mikil mede in heuen, and cum and follow me. And bus seib Poul, bat he gaf counseil to bingis as him bowt, but ilk man had his 1 Cor. wijo. proper seft of God, to go as God hab callid him; and bus in ilk pingis men nedyn euer be counseil of God, to led hem in al pingis to do as is leful and spedy and best, and his is a seft of he Holy Goost. And bus is opun, but non is Cristis disciple, but if he kep his counseil; for ellis he lerip not at him, nor is not zeuen to his sciens, nor led per by, nor fillid perof, nor of pe sciens of God, but if he kepe his counseil; for bus seib Crist, and rehersib be prophet, Joh. w. pat alle men able are taut of God. And bus wan bei condemp vniustly a just man on many sidis, bei led men in blindnes, and bus wan bei erre are desseyuid and disseiuen, all bis is in mirknes. And 3et bey deny to men be undirstonding of be gospel, and seyn men may not undirstond it, and bei graunt bat bei undirstond it not, and bei wel bi deneris. And bus bey may not deme but bat bei lede bis world in mirknes. But it is scham to hem to sey bus, but ere kirk errib, sin he and his kirk is o persone, and also if he kirk err, men may be in dout of her dedis, wan scho errib, and wan not; and were it vnsikir to trow to her canonizing, approuing, or afferming, or autorizing bifor pat bei proue hem bi sikirar ground; perfor as God ordeynid men to strif agen beis princis, bat all be drifun in to be service of Crist, and groundid and formid bi him. And oper goostly bingis of schrewdnes in heuenly bingis, bat are bei bat feynun in ypocrisy and color bingis bat bei tak and understond misser, as bob holy mennis lif, and oper vertuous werkis, pat men mis vndirstonden now, and turnen al in to pride and coueteys, and vndir lustis. And ban we be clobid be habarioun of ristwisnes, to held to ilk man, but we howe bi his lawe to frend and fo, to suffreyn and suget, and bat we deme non man, but as God biddib; for who is he pat seip his hing schal be don, and he Lord comaund not, but Balaam seid he mist not spek, but hat he Lord Num. put in his moup, and perfor wan he wold haue cursid hem in anger. xiiio. he blessid hem; and mak 30r feet to be shod in arayng of be gospel of pees, bat alour wark and our wille be to mak pees; and Eph. vio. take we be helme of sele, bat is good hope, and be swerd of be Spirit, bat is Goddis worde, bob to strik wib, and to vndirnem misdoars, and to defend hem of. But if bei sei may we not vndirstond, appily bei wot not, for God may seue vndirstonding to wam he will. And if bei suppose hem to han, and of God, so may God delen it til an ober, and berfor may be first wit if bei sey bei haue not, ban are be foolis to deme men. And ban dar I wel sey, bei vndirstond not beis men, bat bei wet weber bei sey wel or iuel. If bei sei we can not, or we vndirstond amis, pray we hem, for Ihu sak, to enform us, bi be trowb of holy writt, and trowb brout out bi resoun, bat may not fayle, and bi sensible trowb, and be we euer more redy to be mendid bi be troub of Crist, for we are not so sikir bat we be wib out faut, error, and vnkunning. Derfor bat we may cum out, and cum to be knowing of trowb, and lif ber after, euer pray we to Ihu Crist.

XXVIII.
Of vowe.

An oper is put and is askid bus; bat be vowe of religioun is agen Cristis gospel. To bis I have seid bus, bat be name of religioun is takun in mani maneris; os sum tyme for be trowb bat rewlib a man to serue duly his makar. And sum tym for he act and he state procedyng of his religioun. And he hrid, materialy, for he personis bus enclinid. And bus be keping of Cristis lawe is callid religioun, bi holy writ, and holy doctors. In he secound maner are religious callid boo bat departun from oper puple bi sectis foundun, and bi tradicouns, and oper sensible ritis. And in his maner wer ber bre sectis among be Jury, Phariseis, and Esseis, and Saduceis. Eft it be howein to not, but to a wowe is a resonable creature to obey him to his souereyn, to kep sum hard bing bat is sensible, or vnsible, a bout bing ay lasting or temporel, wise or vnwyse; wise, wan it is according to God, efter his lawe to be worschip of God, and profit of be vowar; vnwise, wan it is only about temporal bingis, or vnhonest, or vnprofitable to soule hele; werfor it be howuib be vowar be in fredam, having feruor to do plesing Goddis pingis, bat are to soule hele; and bat he entend to fulfil, ellis he synnib in vowing, and so his vow is synne; as if it be more for lust of flesch, pride of world, or to geit temporel riches, or in to harm of ani man, or swilk oper, ban for honor and worschip of perfor it is seid bus, four bingis are required to ilk vowe bat oblischip: first, principaly, bat it be maad to God, sin it is be worschipful dede only to be seuen to God. Pe secound, bat is bi bingis only good and profitable to hele of soule, and not ivel bing, nor of filb, nor vnleful, ne noves to ani man, ne letting of ani maundment of God, or counseil of Crist, efter be decre of Isidor, Isidor. seing bus: In iuel histis, kut be filling a wey of bing bat is hist. In fowl vowe, chaunge bi decret, and do not his bat bu hast vowid unwarly. Pe brid, but it be made wib deliberacoun, but be purpos or entent be not misrewlid, for if it be foly, or vniust, or vndiscret, or letting bing more profitable, it is not to be kepid, but vtterly to be brokin, after his bat Ecclesiastes seib, An unprofitable and a Eccles. w. foul hist displecip God. And as he is seid vnfeipful pat dop not his hat he hist, so is he hat dop not of he feib, hat is of he ground of God, or not of good in witt or ordre, for ilk bing bat is not of Rom. xiu. be feib is synne. And in a ober place it is seid, bo vowis of foolis are to be broken. And wilk bei are Hugo declarib, in his book of Hugo. sacramentis, seying bus, Po fowl wowis vndirstond al bat are iuel of hem silf, or ellis hof hei be good, hei are not ordinat. Or wan more iuel is of hem pan good is in hem. Pe fourt requirid to a vow is, bat it be wilful. Pan if be vowe of religioun is circumstaunsid, pan it is plesing to God, and wip be gospel; ellis if it be contrarili be gunne, led, or contenid, who doutip hat ne it is synne? Derfor iuge religiouse men in ber consciens, if bei ground hem bus in her vowis, and ilk feibful man loking in holy writt, and be lif of Crist and his apostlis, and her dedis, after þingis þat are seid semyn to be contrary. Certeynly if be vow of religious men, or of ani man, is not wip be gospel, to be perfeccoun of be fredam ber of,

but in ani maner letting or trobling or tariing bing bat be gospel biddib, or counseilib, ban certeynly al so it is agen be gospel; after be sentens of Crist, bat seib, He bat is not wib me, he is agen me, Luc. xio. and he pat gedrep not wip me, he scaterip. As if ani person obeyed him wip wickid stering, or onordinatly, to do ani bing bat is forbedun bi be law of God, or to lef bing bat God biddib do, as sum wil mak her awowe bat bei wil not do be dedis of mercy, oiber bat bey wil not ehyt flesch, tul bei be vengid of sum man, but if he ouer tak, bei wille ober mak a vow to fast, or to go pilgrimage; for to do ber lechery, or veniaunce of sum man. Also boo bat bydun hem to kepe ani staat or degre, or rewle more for cause of himes of be world, or worldly riches, or lust of flesch, or to do ani bing, oiber bi her causis, or ellis wan he is lettid bi be vow to do be ded bat God wold him to do, as bus his vowe is agen be gospel. And ilk bat vowib ani bing to do in any maner for ani cause, wib out mening of be Holy Gost to do so, he synnib in bat vowing; berfor if religious vowen in his maner, doutles her vow is synne, and agen be gospel; as if possessioneris to kep be religioun of monk, or chanouns, more to be partiners of temporal goodis, and to lif in delitis, and hignes of he world, han to lif in wilful pouert, dewe obediens, and chastite. Who doutib bat ne as bus bey synne agen be gospel? And if hei do not hat hei hist, it is he more agen he Becles. wo. gospel, and be bidding is of God, seying, Wan bu hast vowid a vow to be Lord, bu schalt not mak it void, but fil his bat bu hast hist, for an vnfeibful man and a foole hist displecib God; as if freris obeyid hem bat bei beg, for al ber tyme is in begging, bat is azen be gospel, as it is seid in oper placis, or wan bey obey hem to abstevn from meytis, azen Cristis fredam, bat biddib his disciplis Luc. zo. eyte swilk as men settun to hem. If bey bynd hem in be contrary, bat bey be not in fredam to do bus, but if Crist had for bedun it hem, ellis it is agen be gospel, for swilk are reprouid of 1 Thi. in. be apostil seying bus, he spirit seip opunly, hat in he last tyme sum schal depart fro be feib, tenting to spiritis of error, and to kening of fendis, speking lesing in ypocrisy, and having ber consciens iren brondit; forbeding men to be weddid, and abstening fro metis, bat God hab maad to be tan of feibfulmen, and boo bat knowun be sob, wib doing of gracis, for it is halowid wib be word of God and by prayoris; for ilk creater of God is good, and no bing to be castun a wey, bat is hawid bi be doing of grace. And neuerbeles be meyt comendib vs not to God, nor filib vs not, but frely it may be tan, and frely left. Also if bei vow hem to hold an abit, or oper ritis, and God behitip no meed for be keping, but raper reproue, as he dede sum tyme be Phariseis, doutles bat is azen be gospel. It semib bus, wan it is not groundid bere, and is wip out med aylasting; for his is pleinly agen he gospel bidding, Pu schalt not tak be name of bi Lord God in veyn, and bis bidding he brekib bat dob ani bing wib out God ordeyning it, or bat lefib his bidding, or dob ani bing for wilk he is not to be medid in blisses for euer. And if religiouse men bindun bus to be obedient, and puttun ber will under mannis will, more ban under be will of God. so bat it behowiib to do be will of man, be it hout work or nout, and wat bat God biddib hem do bey may not do it, if ber ouerman bid hem cerse, or to do be contrari, certis bis is agen be gospel; and hat we are in our pr. nr. Our fader hat art in heuen, Luc. uj. bi wyl be it don, in zerb as it is in heuen. And bus wan religiouse men are lettun bi per vow fro per preching of Goddis word, and fro filling of be dedis of mercy, and fro ristwisnes manifold, as bei knowlech, and are nedid bi al per tyme to comyn wip per breber, bow bei be symonientis and synnars, bat God forbedib tak meyt wip, or hald felischip wip; it is certeyn pat in swilk casis her vow is agen be gospel. And wan be vow of religious is to wilful bodily pouert, and obediens, and chastite, to be kepid, but now our religious lifib and flowib among all men most in delitis, and habundip in worldly riches, and takip to hem worldly honoris:

XXX. Begry not ligious.

Pis is an oper; pat it is not leful to religious to beg. To pis I leful to re. sey bus; bow it be leful to ilk man to beg in nede, neuerpeles it is [not] leful to ani man wib oute nede of releue and iust nede dispicing ristfulnes; noiper to gedre him mikil worldly riches, noiber wasting his tyme in idilnes, noiber bat he wast himsilf and his goodis, and oper mennis, in lustis, and in oper veyn curiositeis. And for be declaring of his mater, I suppose first, hat begging is tane in diueris maneris, as gostly or bodily; and sum tyme vertuously, and sum tyme synfully, and sum tyme peynfully. Per for bat to beg understond is sum nedy man to aske, be syde be titul of worldly dett, helpe for his releue schewing be signe or bi tokun or be expresse voyce. And bus it semib bat Crist in manhod, as alle kyngis and princis lifyng, are nedid to beg of God al misty. And bus all begging of God gostly godis for relef of hem, and of her brebern, to be releuid of per synnis, peynis, and wrechidnes, in case bei beg medfuly. Also bus man leuyng occupacoun about temporal bingis, and necessariis of lif, for wark mere profitable and more gostly, and helful to soule, and perfor it nedip to beg. And to swilk wit, as doctors seyn, is bis verrified of Crist, bat be Salm seib, I am beggar and pore, and nedy, and helples, and swilk oper; ffor he taking our kynd, was mad nedy and helples for vs, and bus he beggid gostly goodis for vs of be Fadir. and namly, but if bei clerkis, if bei tak gylfuly under color of nede, bis bat is dewe to be pore, doutles bei do sacrilege, and bi misusing of swilk bingis bei eyte and dring dome to hemsilf. Also Prosper seib, pei bat han her owne, if bei wil ani bing be don to hem, bei tak not wip out gret synne bat be pore man schuld lif of. As zeld in almis schal be putt be fore, bat bei only take pore mennis meytis, bat may not labor ne suffice not. Est Austeyn seib, Wan we may labor, we how not begging tempt God; bat as bus bat we may of his gift. And sin we lif per of, we lif of him gifyng, for he hap seuen bat we may. Also be begging of clerkis is schenschip of bischops; ffor bus seib Jerom, Now syn coueyteis hab waxen in be kirk, as in be empyr of Rome, lawis gon a wey fro be prest, and visioun from be prophet, al bi power of bischopis name bat bei chalang unlefuly to hem wib out be kirk. Also bei dryue in to ber vsis al bat is of dekunis, ne bei chalang not bis only bat is ascriuid, but bei tak a vey all bingis fro alle men; be vnblessid clerk beggib in be strete, and boundun vnder seruil werk he askib almes opunly of ilk man. And of his is he he more dispicid of all, bat he wrechidly desolat is gessid to be fallun justly to bis wrechidnes bo bischopis a lon lowen to zeftis. Alon he vsib ministry. Alon he chalangily to him all bingis. Alon he assoylib oper partyes. Alon he slep all. And for coueytis of prestis oft risun hatis; per for are bischopis accusid of clerkis; per of pe biginning of strif; per of be cause of detraccoun; per of is maid be beginning of synne. For sob, if ilk man in his world is bidun to have sum bing, bat he be content only wib possessioun, and tak not oper mennis bingis, noiber be feld, noiber be wyne of be pore, nor his wayn, nor his money, nor his frutis, how mikil more he bat is prest to be kirk of God howil in al bing to kep riztwisnes, pat he chalang only his to him pat [he] knowip to be of his rist, and ref not oper mennis bingis, ne touche; feel he him euyn wib oper. And also bat Clement Pope hadde writun be nam all be nedy folk of be cuntrees, and he bolid not hem to be soget vn to begry, bat be clensing of baptem had halowid. Also bi lawe cyuil it is not leful to a mişty body to beg; perfor be pey war peis vniust beggars, and ilk man se to wam he zeue almis, wat maner and whi, and wherof; for bus biddib Crist, Wan bu makist a meyt Luc. xix. or sopar, calle bu not bi riche frendis, neybors, ne cosynis, bat bei bid not be agen and reward be maad to be. But calle be pore, blynd, crokid, and feble, bat han not werof to quit be, and bu schalt be blessid, and it schal be quit bee in be rising agen of rigtfulmen, for bey may not. And God seib bi be wise man, If bu schalt do Eccli. zijo. wel, wit to wam, and per schal be mikil grace in pi goodis. Do wel to be just man, and bu schalt fynd reward of God, bow bu fund not of him. seue to be mercyful and reseyue not be synnar; 3ef to be good, and to be mek do wel, and 3ef not to be vnpitous; forbede bi louis to be zeuen to him, bat he be not miztiar in hem ban bu. For bu schalt fynd double iuel in all goodis, bat bu dost to him; ffor God hap synnars to hate, and he schal zeld veniaunce to be wickid. And bus is also bedun, Wil bu not do almis of oker and vsur; pat is, do not swilk defautis to do almis perof, ne hald 30w not clen perof, but if we mak oper dew satisfaccoun; ffor pe decre seib, he offring of wickid bing is filid, for God approuib not Decre. be gestis of wickid men, nor he lokib not in to be offring of be Eccli. vnpitous. Nor he schal not be merciful to synnis, in be multitud xxfu*. of ber sacrifice. Bred of be nedy is be lif of be pore; he bat defraudib him, he is a man slear; he bat schedib blud, and he bat dob fraud to be hirid hyne are breber. Perchauns sum man binkib it, are mani riche men auarous and couetous, I haue no synne if I tak it fro hem, and gif it to be pore; I may geyt mede of bis, bat bei do no good of. But his hout is sterid to him bi sleyt of he fend, for if a man gef al bat he took, his is not to be wenid almis, if his be seven or despended to be pore hat is getun of leful hingis. ffor he bat takib iuel in his entent bat he zeuib wel, he is more Gregor. greuid ban helpid; berfor bat we tak no bing vnder color to do almis wib synne, be scripture for bedib, seying, Offringis of wickid-Prov. xxio. men are abhominable, but are offrid of felonie; he but offrib sacrifice Eccli. xxxiu0. of be substaunce of be pore, os he bat sleb be sone in be sizt of be fadre. And wat bat is offrid in felony in be sacrifice of God it softib not, but sterib his wrabe. It semib wel bat beis vniust beggars, and namly be ministers of be kirk, brekyn be bidding of Deut. suo. God; ffor he biddip bus, Vtterly a nedy man and beggar be not a mong 30we; bat is to sey, polib not in 30ur defaut ani fal in to so gret nede, but he be nedid to beg. And bi be same ne man schuld blamfuly bi idulnes, bi rechlesnes, nober bi wast, noiber bi foly, bring him silf to swilk nede. And if he dede, men schuld not zeue Prov. xx°. to him bat he askip, as is befor seid. And for Salamon seib, pe slowman wold not in winter here for be cold; berfor he schal beg in be somer, and per schal not be seuen to him. And if he beg wip out nede, he dob vniustly; for to beg, is be creater to schew be word or wark or tokun is defaut wanting, and nedib to be releuid, and ask bi side be titil of worldly dede, sum bing to be releuid by; of his need han if he noiher want, ne haue nede to be releuid, he dop vniustly pat brekip Goddis bidding, lizep, and berip falswitnes; ffor he affermib bat ned is per, wan it is not; and bus he is a bef. and fraudful reuar. Also it semip hat hei put wrong un to God, or to be peple, or to bobe; ffor bus is seid in Goddis lawe, De warkman is worbi of his meed, and his hyre. And eft, who bat warkib Tubit. inc. ani bing to be, pay him his hyre a none. But wan beis ministeris of be wark han don ber office, if God or be peple wil not pay hem per hire, ban is God or be peple vniust, if God schuld pay and dob not, he dob ban agen his oune law. If be pepul schuld pay, and dop not, han be peple brekib be bidding of God. But if beis men beggars are not sent of God, to do his office, or doh not his dede trewly, or ellis nedih not to beg. And ellis he peple is redy to quit hem her seruice. But of his wil hei not be payid, but gredyly gon abowt to geyt al hat hey may, han hei do uniustly, and silun God and he peple. And hus may hei dred in his, lest hei he childre of iudas gostly in maneris, and he synful begging be despitously kast on hem, os is prayid in he Salme, Wandring hi his sones borne, and heg hey, cast out of her dwellingis. For dred of his schuld heis meny be aferd to beg as hei do, wyting wel hat Crist beggid not, but if he nedih, ne seyntis noiher. And if hei dede, hei repentid her of and amendid; and so I rede heis beggars do hi tyme, and come to Crist. Amen, Amen.

THE END.

NOTES.

- P. 1, l. 2.—I witness bifor God Almisty, and alle trewe cristummen and wommen, and sowe. From this passage it may be inferred that this work was delivered as an address before some assembly.
- —— l. 3.—That I have not ben. Perhaps we should read "That it hath not ben." The sense would seem to require some such alteration.
 - l. 4.— The general feith. That is, "The Catholic faith."
- l. 17.—I knowlech to a felid and seid thus. That is, "I acknowledge to have felt and said thus:" a for have. Our author uses the word feel again, line 20: "And this sterith [i. e. stirreth, moveth] me to fele thus." So also in the confession of John Aston (Lewis's Life of Wiclif, Oxf. 1820, p. 262), "Y, John Aston, Prist, unworthely required of my Lord the Erchbyschop of Canturbery...... to say what I felyde in the matyr of the Sacrament of the Autere." And in the confession of Nicholas de Hereford (A.D. 1382, ibid. p. 256), "Wytes alle cristen men that we Nichol of Herforde and my fellow Pristus..... whan we were required to seyne what we felyde of diverse conclusions," &c. The word seems used for the Latin sentio.
- P. 2, l. 2.—As the glose seith.—See Biblia cum Glossa ordinaria, et Nic. Lyrani Postilla, &c. Venet. 1588, fol. The Gloss on Rom. viii. 9 is as follows: "Si quis autem Spiritum Christi non habet, (vivens secundum sensum carnis vel gesta. Dum mente consentit carni, vel ejus opera actu explet), hic non est ejus (i. membrum Christi)."

P. 2, l. 4.—Thus seith seint Jerom. The passage here quoted occurs in St. Jerome's fourteenth Epistle Ad Heliodorum, according to the order of the edition of Vallarsius. But our author, like most of the Divines of his time, quotes the Fathers, not from their own writings, but from the extracts given in the Decretum of Gratian. See Decret. Caus. 2, q. 7, c. 29. Non omnes, where the words cited by our author are thus given:—"Non omnes episcopi sunt episcopi: Attendis Petrum: sed et Judam considera. Stephanum suscipis: sed et Nicolaum respice. Et infr. Non facit ecclesiastica dignitas Christianum. Cornelius centurio adhuc ethnicus dono Sancti Spiritus mundatur; Presbyteros Daniel puer judicat. Et infr. Non est facile stare loco Pauli, tenere gradum Petri, jam cum Christo regnantium. Et infr. Infatuatum sal ad nihilum prodest, nisi ut projiciatur foras, et a porcis conculcetur."

The reference to Daniel is in the Latin Vulgate to Dan. xiii, or in our English Bibles to the story of Bel and the Dragon.

- cap. i. 11.—Also Austeyn seith. This is from Aug. Tract. vi. in cap. i. Joannis. It is quoted, however, from the Decretum, Caus. 2, q. 7, c. 30. "Non omnis qui dicit, Pax vobiscum, quasi columba est audiendus. Et infra."—The words that follow are given in the Decretum (ib. c. 32) as St. Augustine's, but they do not occur in his works, as the Corr. Rom. acknowledges; they are as follow: "Qui nec regiminis in se rationem habuit, nec sua delicta detersit, nec filiorum crimen correxit, canis impudicus dicendus est magis quam Episcopus."
- --- l. 14.—The crime of his synnes. The Latin shows that we should read, "the crime of his sonnes."
- —— l. 15.—Not alle prestis. This seems taken from the rubric of Caus. 2, q. 7, c. 33, which immediately follows the foregoing quotation:—" Majores et minores non dignitate sed vita intelligi oportet." Or from the rubric of c. 29, " Dignitas non facit Episcopum, sed vita."
- —— l. 16.—And Gregor seith. Decret. Caus. 2, q. 7, c. 28. "Paulus dicit, Seniorem ne increpaveris. Sed hæc ejus regula in eo servanda est cum culpa senioris exemplo suo non trahit ad interitum corda juniorum. Ubi autem senior juvenibus exemplum ad interitum præbet, ibi districta increpatione feriendus est. Nam scriptum est: Laqueus juvenum omnes vos: et rursus propheta dicit, Maledictus puer centum annorum." The passages of Scripture referred to are 1 Tim. v. 1. Isa. xlii. 22. and Isa. lxv. 20.

- P. 2, l. 22.—And this is put after in decreis. This is part of Gratian's note on Caus. 2, q. 7, c. 32. Qui nec: "Quibus ergo Hieronymus, Augustinus, Gregorius auferunt nomen Columbæ, Episcopi, Senioris; nonne et privilegium est auferendum dignitatis, ut possint a subditis reprehendi?"
- —— l. 26.—Also Austeyn seith. Decret. Caus. 8, q. 1, c. 11, quoted from August. de Civit. Dei, c. 19. "Qui episcopatum desiderat, bonum opus desiderat. Exponere voluit, quid sit episcopatus: quia nomen est operis, non honoris. Græcum est enim, atque inde ductum vocabulum, quod ille, qui præficitur, eis, quibus præficitur, superintendit, curam eorum scilicet gerens: ἐπὶ quippe super: σκοπὸς vero intentio est. Ergo Episcopos, si velimus, Latine superintendentes possumus dicere: ut intelligat non se esse episcopum, qui præesse dilexerit, non prodesse."

Our author appears to have read in this passage, "atque inde dictum vocabulum," instead of ductum, for he renders, "and ther is said a word." It is worth noting also that he has translated ille qui præficitur, "he that is maad a prest;" and eis quibus præficitur, "the thingis that he is maad prest to;" qui præesse dilexerit, "he that lufith to be a prest;" and non prodesse, "not further to."

- P. 3, l. 1.—Ai to. i. e. always.
- 1. 3 But if. i. e. unless. See p. 5, line ult.
- —— l. 6.—As Gregor seith. The editor has not been able to find these exact words in St. Gregory, or cited in the canon law: but perhaps our author quotes them loosely from the Decretum, Caus. 8, q. i. c. 9. "Pastori sanctæ ecclesiæ dicitur: Simon Joannis amas me? Pasce oves meas. Ex quibus verbis colligitur, quia si is, qui valet, omnipotentis Dei oves renuit pascere, ostendit se pastorem

- summum minime amare." See B. Greg. Epist. iv. lib. vii. indict. 15. (Edit. Benedict. tom. ii. col. 848.)
 - P. 3, l. 7.—Howith. Oweth, oughteth.
- —— l. 10.—Also thus seith Crisostom. The editor has not been able to find the passage here referred to, either in the canon law, or in the works of St. Chrysostom.
- —— l. 16.—And thus seith an other. This is another reference which the editor has not succeeded in verifying, although he has spent more time in the search than it was worth.
- —— l. 19.—Now deme this fixting kirk. Deme, i. e. "consider this fighting church," alluding probably to the schism of the Popes; an allusion which may serve to fix the date of this tract.
- P. 4, l. 9.—In the propos. i. e. "in the proposition;" the subject, namely, or question under discussion.
 - -- l. 11.—And he hist it. i. e. " and he promise it."
- l. 15.—Therfore the pope ioi not. i. e. "let not the pope joy or rejoice." So also, line 17. But al dred more, i. e. "Let all dread more."
- —— l. 18.—For thi that in swelk, &c. Forthi, because. This sentence in modern English is, "Because that in such the sin is aggravated by reason of the degree," i. e. by reason of the dignity or rank of the sinner.
- —— l. 19.—Ioi thu not. From Ecclus. xvi. i. "Ne jucunderis in filiis impiis, si multiplicentur: nec oblecteris super ipsos si non est timor Dei in illis:" and verses 3, 4, "Melior est enim unus timens Deum, quam mille filii impii. Et utile est mori sine filiis, quam relinquere filios impios." Unpitouse is our author's version of impius; so also we often find him using the word pite for piety.

- P. 4, l. 21—Thowsand. This word should have been printed with z, not with the Saxon 3: thowzand, not thowsand.
- I. 29—And eft Jerom seith. Decret. Dist. xl. c. 2, quoted from St. Jerome's Epist. ad Heliodorum. "Non est facile stare loco Pauli, et tenere gradum Petri, jam cum Christo regnantium: quia hinc dicitur, non Sanctorum filii sunt qui tenent loca sanctorum, sed qui exercent opera corum." The Roman correction notes that the latter part of this extract, from quia hinc to the end, is not found in St. Jerome's works: the first part is quoted again in Caus. ii. qu. 7, c. 29, Non omnes.
- —— l. ult.—And Gregor soith. Decret. Dist. xl. c. 3. "Nos, qui præsumus, non ex locorum, vel generis dignitate, sed morum nobilitate innotescere debemus, nec urbium claritate, sed fidei puritate." Our author's version of the words "Nos qui præsumus," we that are priests, is remarkable; and this is not the only place in which he has rendered præsse in the same way (see note on p. 2, line 26); which shews that the notion of a sacrificer was not in our author's time the primary idea attached to the word priest.
- P. 5, l. 2.—Places ne orderis. Dist. xl. c. 4. "Non loca vel ordines Creatori nostro nos proximos faciunt: sed ei nos merita bona jungunt, aut mala disjungunt."
 - ____ l. 3.—Nekist, nearest, proximos.
- —— l. 4.—Departen. Disjungunt; the old English verb active and transitive, to depart, (i. e. to separate, to disjoin, put asunder,) was used in the Office of Matrimony, in our Prayer Books, until the last revision of the Liturgy, when the original words "till death us depart," were altered into "till death us do part." The word depart in its ancient transitive signification does not occur in the authorized version of the Bible.
 - ___ l. 5.—And Crisostom seith. Dist. xl. c. 5, quoted from the spurious Opus impersectum in Matthæum. "Homo Christianus fortiter cadit in peccato propter duas causas: aut propter magnitudinem peccati, aut propter altitudinem dignitatis."

- P. 5, l. 7.—Also of the dedis of Boneface. Quoted "Ex dictis" [al. gestis] "Bonifacii martyris." Dist. xl. c. 6. "Si Papa, suæ et fraternæ salutis negligens, deprehenditur inutilis et remissus in operibus suis, et insuper a bono taciturnus, quod magis officit sibi, et omnibus, nihilominus innumerabiles populos catervatim secum ducit primo mancipio gehennæ, cum ipso plagis multis in æternum vapulaturus." Al. "vapulaturos." which was evidently our author's reading.
- L 12.—Crist [on] the zerd. The editor is not sure that he is right in supposing the word "zerd" to mean "earth," and the preposition "on" to have been omitted by the transcriber. It has occurred to him, since the sheet to which this note refers was printed off, that "zerd," may mean herd, "shepherd;" and that the passage does not require any emendation. In other places zerthe or zerth is the spelling adopted for the word "earth."
- —— l. 19.—A gaf. For "he gave;" a for he is common in Shake-spere, in the mouths of peasants or illiterate persons. Thus in Love's Labour Lost, Act I. Scene II. "Dull" says,

" - but a must fast three days a-week."

And again, Act IV. Scene I. "Costard" says,

"Indeed a must shoot nearer, or he'll ne'er hit the clout." And a little afterwards.

"To see him kiss his hand ! and how most sweetly a will swear."

- --- l. 22.—In tholing, i. e. "in suffering."
- ___ l. 23.—As is opun in his pistil, alluding to 1 Pet. v. 2.
- _____ l. 27.—Comyn. Perhaps for "coming:" but our author often uses the word comyn for "communion."
- P. 6, l. 2.—His. For is. Our author (or his transcriber) frequently prefixes h to words beginning with a vowel.

- P. 6, L. 13.—Or doth the contrari. These words are probably repeated by a mistake of the transcriber.
- --- l. 17.—Ben snibbid, i. e. "censured." The verb to snub in this sense is still used in vulgar English. It is said to be derived from the Swedish. (See Junius.) In Shakespeare the word is used with the spelling sneap; as in Love's Labour Lost, Act I. Scene i.

Biron is like the envious sneaping frost; and in King Henry IV. (Second Part,) Act II. Scene i. Falstaff says,—"My Lord, I will not undergo this sneap without reply." Snib, Snyb, Snebbe, and perhaps also Snuff, are all different spellings of the same word, and occur frequently in our old writers. Pope, in his note on the passage last cited from Shakespeare, calls sneap "a Yorkshire word."

- —— l. 22.—After the Holi Gost taking. i. e. "after receiving the Holy Ghost."
- P. 7, l. 3.—Prescit. Præsciti, reprobate. See also lines 23 and 24 of this page.
- —— l. 5.—I seid thus: I rehersid a doctor. This is an evident allusion to some former work, or public speech. So also (p. 6, line 1) our author says,—"And thus I graunt now, as oft I have knowlechid bifor mani witnes," &c.
- —— l. 6.—Sale worth. i. e. ready for sale. We still have "Woeworth" in our English version of the Bible, Ezek. xxx. 2.
- --- l. 6.—For thi that. For thi, because. Or perhaps we should read "for that thei."
- --- l. 12.—Sogetis. Subjects; those who are placed under their spiritual care.
- —— l. 19.—That the byzar be profhabili sekir. i. e. that the buyer be proveably (certainly, demonstratively) sure. In the next sentence siker is used as a verb: the word is often spelt sicker. In line 22 we have provabily, and line 28 provable.
 - --- l. 24.—Rennun, run, issue not forth.
- —— l. 31.—Stonding ny. i. e. nigh in favour, or in office, to an earthly king.

CAMD. SOC. 14.

P. 8, l. 12.—The Pope's bulle techith. In an ancient Horarium printed by Philippe Pigouchet, Paris, 1493, there is the following allusion to to this Bull (Sign. K. iii. facie):—

"Pape boniface a donné a tous ceulz qui diront deuotement ceste orayson qui sensuit, entre leleuacion du corpus dñi et le dernier Agnus Dei, deux mille ans de vray pardon."

On the next page is the prayer to which this privilege has been granted, which is as follows:—

"Domine iesu qi hanc sacratissimam carnem et preciosum sanguinem de gloriosissime virginis marie utero assumpsisti, et eundem sanguinem de sacratissimo latere tuo in ara crucis pro salute nostra effudisti: et in hac gloriosa carne a mortuis resurrexisti: et ad celos ascendisti cum eodem sacratissimo corpore tuo: iterum uenturus es, iudicare uiuos et mortuos in eadem carne: libera nos per hoc sacratissimum corpus tuum, quod modo in altari per manus sacerdotis tractatur, ab omnibus immundiciis mentis et corporis, et ab vniuersis malis et periculis preteritis, presentibus et futuris. Qui uiuis et regnas," &c.

The editor has been permitted to make this extract from a beautiful copy on vellum of this rare book, in the possession of the Earl of Dunraven. The colophon at the end is as follows:—" Ces presentes heures a lusage de Romme furent achevees le .ii. iour de Aust, Lan de grace Mil quattre centz .iiii. xx. et .xiii. Pour Symon vostre Libraire demourant a Paris en la rue neuue nostre dame a lenseigne sainct Jehan leuangeliste."

Our author speaks as if the two thousand years of pardon had been granted to the recitation of the bull; but, if he really meant this, he is evidently inaccurate, for the privilege was granted to the repetition, not of the bull, but of the foregoing prayer.

In a copy of the "Hore beatissime virginis Marie secundum usum Sarum totaliter ad longum cum multis pulcherrimis orationibus et indulgentiis iam vltimo adiectis," in the Library of Trinity College, Dublin, the same prayer occurs with the following rubric in English prefixed.

" ¶ Our holy father the pope Bonifacius sextus hath graunted to all them that say denoutly thys prayer following between the elenacyon of our lorde et the .iij. Agnus dei .x. thousande yeres of pardon. Oratio. Domine Jesu Xpe qui hanc," &c.

This copy of the Hours was printed at Paris in 1536: "Impresse Parrhisiis per Franciscum Regnault, impensis et sumptibus eiusdem: alme vniuersitatis Parrhisien. librarii iurati. Anno domini millesimo quingentesimo tricesimo sexto. Die vero .xxv. Maii."—It differs from the former copy, and from our author, in assigning ten thousand years to this indulgence, which it ascribes to Pope Boniface VI. meaning evidently the Pontiff who is usually styled Boniface VII. (A. D. 1295); for Boniface VI. (A.D. 896) lived but fifteen days after his election, which was also by some supposed to be irregular, so that he is often omitted in the list of pontiffs:* and Boniface VII. (A.D. 974) was an Antipope, † and therefore of course not counted.

It does not appear from either of these authorities what our author alluded to in saying that this indulgence was granted "at the instance of a king;" but it is probable that a collation of other editions or MSS. of the Horarium, if the search were worth the trouble, would clear up this difficulty.

- P. 8, l. 14.—As oft as a nobil man. In line 18 our author speaks of "lewid men," or laymen, "that can not this orisoun," i. e. who are not learned enough to be able to read it; and perhaps, therefore, by "a nobil man" he may mean one who is possessed of the education sufficient for using the prayer.
- —— l. 18.—Putting to over. i. e. adding moreover. This probably alludes to some provision in the original bull substituting the pater noster, in the case of laymen "who can not this orisoun," for the prayer above cited.
 - ____ l. 21.—On groundid. Ungrounded; unfounded.

P. 8, l. 30.—It behofith to trowe. i. e. we are bound to believe.

P. 9, l. 6.—Thus seith the doctor. The editor has been unable to find who "the doctor" here quoted is.

- Barthelmew in casis. Bartholommus Brixiensis, a celebrated doctor of the canon law, wrote the Apparatus in titulos et Decreta Gratiani, and also in titulos et Decreta librorum V. Decretalium Gregorii IX., which are published in the Corpus Juris Canonici. He is author also of a work De Casibus Conscientiae, of which Oudin tells us that a copy exists in MS, in the library of St. Peter's College, Cambridge. (Oudin. de Script. Eccles. tom. iii. col. 92.) This would seem to be the work here quoted by our author, (casis being a mistake of the scribe for casibus, see line 17) except that our author at the end of his quotation has given his reference thus: "The Clementyns de pe .c°. abus. h. Barth. in Casibus," i. e. "Hæc Bartholomæus in Casibus:" by which it appears that the extract from the Clementines was cited from Bartholomæus; and if so, Bartholomæus Brixiensis cannot be the author referred to, for he died A. D. 1250 (see Fabricius. Biblioth. lib. ii. p. 471); whereas the Clementines were not published until the second year of Pope John XXII. i. e. 1317.

--- l. 8.—Also the law seith. Clementin. lib. v. tit. ix. c. 2. abusionibus. The passage referred to is from a Decree of Pope Clement V. in the council of Vienne, A. D. 1312, and is as follows:—

"Ad hæc cum aliqui ex hujusmodi quæstoribus, sicut ad nostram audientiam est perlatum, non sine multa temeritatis audacia, et deceptione multiplici animarum, indulgentias populo motu suo proprio de facto concedant, super votis dispensent, a perjuriis, homicidiis, et peccatis aliis sibi confitentes absolvant, male ablata incerta (data sibi aliqua pecuniæ quantitate), remittant, tertiam, aut quartam partem de pænitentiis injunctis relaxent: animas tres, vel plures parentum, vel amicorum illorum, qui eleemosynas eis conferunt, de purgatorio (ut asserunt mendaciter), extrahant, et ad gaudia paradisi perducant, benefactoribus locorum quorum quæstores existunt, remissionem plenariam peccatorum indulgeant, et aliqui ex ipsis eos a pœna et a culpa

(ut eorum verbis utamur) absolvant; nos abusus hujusmodi per quos censura vilescit ecclesiæ, et clavium ecclesiæ auctoritas ducitur in contemptum, omnimodo aboleri volentes, ea per quoscunque quæstores fieri, vel attentari de cætero districtius inhibemus. —— l. 24.—A place that is called porciuncula. Portiuncula was a place near Assisium, where was a ruined church dedicated to St. Mary of Angels, which was rebuilt and restored by St. Francis of Assisium, at the commencement of his religious life; it was the favonrite scene of his early devotions: in it he conceived the design of founding the celebrated order of Friars Minors, and it subsequently became the centre and mother church of the whole Franciscan family. "Hunc locum (says Wadding) vir sanctus amavit præ cæteris mundi locis. Hic etenim humiliter cœpit, hic virtuose profecit, hic fœliciter consummavit; hunc in morte fratribus, tanquam Virgini carissimum, commendavit....... Hic est locus in quo Fratrum Minorum ordo a S. Francisco per divinæ revelationis instinctum inchoatus est." Annal. Minor. t. i. p. 43, Romæ, 1731.

The indulgence first given to Portiuncula was this, that every person who after confession and absolution shall visit that church on the second of August, from the first vespers to sun-set, shall obtain a full remission of all sins committed from the day of his baptism to the day of his visit to Portiuncula: see the story of the origin of this indulgence in Wadding, tom. ii. p. 17, et seq. and the arguments in proof of it, ibid. p. 55, sq. The indulgence was first granted by Honorius III. A.D. 1223; it was afterwards frequently communicated to other churches, and in 1481 the same privilege was extended by Sixtus IV. to all churches of the Franciscan order. Johannes Semeca, called Teutonicus from his country, was author of a gloss on the Decretum of Gratian, which is printed with that work in the Corpus juris Canonici. The gloss on the canon Inter querelas, just cited, is as follows: "Ergo episcopus non potest excommunicare aliquem pro injuria sibi facta, ut hic, et infra c. q. 5. De occidendis. Nec enim potest esse judex in causa sua, ut 4, q. 4, c. 1."

The reading of the Vulgate, "tradebat autem judicanti se injuste," is of course followed by our author.

P. 21, l. 11. - Were the Archdecoun seith. Guido Baifius (as he is erroneously called by Cave, who followed Trithemius), or more properly Guido Baisius, i. e. de Bayso, or de Bajisio, Archdeacon of Bologna, flourished A.D. 1280, and is usually known by Canonists as "The Archdeacon." He composed a celebrated Commentary on the Decretum, entitled, "Enarrationes super Decreto, sive Rosarium," which has been several times printed. It is to this work most probably that our author refers, and statements similar to that which he quotes occur so frequently in it that it is not easy to point out the particular passage cited. For example, in his commentary on the following canon (Caus. ii. q. 1, c. 11.), " Nemo episcopus, nemo presbyter excommunicet aliquem, antequam causa probetur, propter quam ecclesiastici canones hoc fieri jubent," the Archdeacon says: "Causa, scil. contumacia, pro hac enim sola causa est quis excommunicandus. Ar. xi. q. iii. nemo episcoporum [c. 41] et c. nullus sacerdotum [c. 42] et dicitur tamen excommunicari pro homicidio, pro furto, et hujusmodi, i. e. pro contumacia de tali vel tali crimine. xi, q. iii. certum [c. 43] xxii. q. i. prædicandum [c. 17]. Hug. et videas quod de hoc not. xi. q. iii. episcopi [c. 8] et c. nemo episcoporum [c. 41]. Cum medicinalis, lib. v. secundum Innocentium, qui ita not. extra de ver. sig. ex parte in gl. de hoc etiam not. ubi etiam approbat predictam sententiam Hu. scil. quod pro solo crimine non est quis excommunicandus si velit se corrigere, ut in pre. c. nemo xlv. dist. sed istud [c. 17] xxiiij, q. iii. tam sacerdotes [c. 14] sed contra xvi. q. i. alia [c. 6] in fi. ibi, si peccavero, &c. de hoc xvii. q. iiij. de presbyterorum [c. 23]." Archidia. super Decreto, sive Guidonis de Bajisio Enarrationes super Decreto, vel Rosarium. Fol. Lugd. 1549. fol. 130, col. 4.

Here, however, the archdeacon quotes Hugo and Innocent, not Lincoln and Innocent, as our author states (line 16). This, however, may have been a mistake on the part either of our author or of his transcriber.

—— l. 15.—And this dede Lincoln. Robert Grosthead, Bishop of Lincoln, A. D. 1235-1253, a celebrated canonist and divine, and zealous opposer of the power of the Roman court. He was a man of eminent piety and learning, and, although not canonized at Rome, was by many of his own countrymen spoken of as a saint. See a list of his works in Cave, Hist. Literaria, ad an. 1235.

The story alluded to by our author is thus told by Ralph Higden. in his Polychronicon (fol. cccv. b. Lond. 1527):--- " Also that yere [1253] deved Saynt Robert Grostehed, bysshoppe of Lyncoln, the nynth daye of October. He was cunnynge in all the lyberall artes. And specyally he expowned many thynges in logykytyks and astrologye. He sent to the fourth Pope Innocent a pystle sharpe ynough, that begynneth in this wyse: Our Lord Jhesus Cryste; he sent that pystle by cause the pope groupd the churches of Englonde with taxes and paymentes undue and uncustomable. Also for he hadde geuen his letyll newe [nephew] a chanonrye with the fyrste that voyded in the chyrche of Lyncoln. But this Robert wolde not receive the chylde. But he wrote to the pope and sayde, that he nother wolde nor sholde receyue such to the cure of soule that cowde not rule hymselfe. Therfor this Robert was somned to the court and accursed. Thenne from Innocentes court, he appellyd to Crystis owne trone. Thenne after Roberts deth it happed on a nyghte that the pope laye in his bedde and rested, a bisshop apared to hym arrayed as a bysshop, and spake to the pope and sayde, Arise, wretch, and come to bi dome. And smote hym with his crosse on the lyfte syde ryght to the herte. Thenne in the morowe the pope's bedde was founde bloody and the pope deed. ¶ Herfore though Roberte was a noble man, and dyde oft miracles, ye court suffred hym not to be canonysed." See also Matthew Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 760 (fol. Lond. 1689).

P. 22, l. 22.—And this is notable to wit in the decre. This is a reference to the words of Gratian, Caus. xxiv. q. 3, part 3, and the following, c. 10, si igitur, and c. 11. cum ergo. The words are, "Illicita ergo excommunicatio, ut ex præmissis apparet, non lædit eum, qui notatur, sed a quo notatur: ac per hoc, qui innocentes sunt, ex alterius crimine condemnari non possunt: sicut ab imprudentibus familiæ potentum pro peccatis dominorum solent notari. Sed adhuc objicitur, quod non solum innocentes, sed nec etiam criminosi sententia maledictionis sint feriendi. Ait enim Christus in Evangelio, Orate propersequentibus.... Item Apostolus: Benedicite persequentibus vos: Benedicite et nolite maledicere: Item, Maledici regnum Dei non possidebunt.

Item Hieronymus (in epist. ad Titum initio cap. iii.). Si igitur Michael non fuit ausus diabolo et certe maledictione dignissimo, judicium inferre blasphemiæ: quanto magis nos ab omni maledicto puri esse debemus? Merebatur diabolus maledictum: sed per os Archangeli blasphemia exire non debuit. Relege veteres libros, et vide, quæ tribus in monte Garizin constitutæ sint, ut benedicerent populo, et quæ in monte altero, ut maledicerent: Ruben, qui maculaverat torum parentis, et Zabulon novissimus Liæ filius, et ancillarum liberi in monte Hebel ponuntur, ut maledicant his qui maledictione sunt digni.

Item (in lib. Josuæ) Cum ergo in singulis quibusque fidelium talis sit propositi varietas, hoc mihi designari videtur in hoc loco, quod dimidii illi, qui juxta montem Garizin incedunt (illum, qui ad benedictiones electus est), istos figuraliter indicent, qui non metu pœnæ, sed benedictionum et repromissionum desiderio veniunt ad salutem; illi vero dimidii, qui juxta montem Gebal incedunt, in quo maledictiones prolatæ sunt, istos alios indicent, qui malorum metu, et suppliciorum timore complentes, quæ in lege scripta sunt, perveniunt ad salutem."

P. 29. l. 20.—Sent Jerom seith. Quoted from Jerome on Tit. i. in the Decretum, Dist. xcv. c. 5. "Olim idem erat Presbyter, qui et Episcopus. Et antequam Diaboli instinctu studia in religione fierent, et diceretur in populis, Ego sum Pauli, ego Apollo, ego autem Cephæ, communi Presbyterorum consilio ecclesiæ gubernabantur. Postquam vero unusquisque eos, quos baptizaverat, suos putabat esse. non Christi, in toto orbe decretum est, ut unus de Presbyteris electus superponeretur cæteris, ad quem omnis ecclesiæ cura pertineret, et schismatum semina tollerentur. Et paulo post. Sicut ergo Presbyteri sciunt se ex Ecclesiæ consuetudine ei, qui sibi Præpositus fuerit, esse subjectos; ita episcopi noverint, se magis consuetudine, quam dispensationis Dominicæ veritate Presbyteris esse majores, et in commune debere Ecclesiam regere." Also ibid. c. 6. (ex Hieron. ad Rusticum Narbonensem episcopum de septem gradibus ecclesia.) " Ecce ego dico, præsentibus episcopis suis, atque adstantibus in altari, Presbyteros posse sacramenta conficere. Et infra. Sed quia scriptum est, Presbyteri duplici honore honorentur; maxime qui laborant in verbo Domini, prædicare eos decet, utile est benedicere, congruum est confirmare, convenit reddere communionem, necesse est visitare infirmos, orare pro invalidis, atque omnia Dei sacramenta implere.

Et infra. Nemo hinc episcoporum invidia diabolicæ tentationis inflatus, irascatur in templo, si Presbyteri interdum exhortentur plebem, si in ecclesiis prædicent, si plebibus, ut scriptum est, benedicant. Etenim abnuenti mibi ista sic dicam: qui non vult Presbyteros facere, que jubentur a Deo, dicat, quis major est Christo? aut quid corpori ejus, aut sanguini, poterit anteponi? Si Presbyter Christum consecrat, cum in altario Dei Sacramenta benedicit, benedicere populo non debet, qui Christum etiam meruit consecrare? Et paulo post. Circa laicos, ac mulieres, jubentibus vobis, O injustissimi sacerdotes, Presbyter Dei benedictionis perdit officium, amittit linguæ opus, non habet confidentiam prædicandi, truncatus est omni parte virtutum, solum Presbyteri nomen habet, plenitudinem, ac perfectionem, que consecrationi ejus competit, non retentat. Quis hic, rogo, O Sacerdotes, honor vester est, ut damnum gibbi [lege gregibus] inferatis? Quoniam cum pastoribus per potentiam vestram aufertur Deo digna diligentia, contagium quoddam, et calamitas crescit in gregibus: ac Dominici patrimonii damna conquiritis, dum soli vultis in Ecclesia potentari."

The passage is quoted in the Decretum (part. i. dist. xliii. c. l.) from St. Gregory, Pastoral. part. ii. c. 4. The words are, "Hinc Paulus ait ad Titum: Ut potens sit exhortari in doctrina sana, et eos, qui contradicunt, redarguere. Hinc per Malachiam dicitur: Labia Sacerdotis custodiunt scientiam et legem requirunt ex ore ejus, quia Angelus Domini exercituum est. And, after referring to Exod. xxviii. 33, 35, he adds, "Sacerdos namque ingrediens vel egrediens moritur, si de eo sonitus non auditur."

In the marginal reference, "c. 5," ought to be "c. 15," which was the old division: "dt. 43," is evidently "dist. 43," the reference to the Decretum.

P. 31, l. 24.—Uphauns. i. e. lift up.

—— l. 29.—Curats. Our author is here arguing against those who maintained that "simple priests," (that is, those who were merely priests, and not curates, having no cure of souls,) were not bound to preach. His argument is, that even if St. Gregory spake of those who had cure of souls, yet it would not follow that "simple priests" are excused. The subject was a favourite topic with the Lollards. Thus the sixth of the "Articles of John Purvey, which he afterwards recanted," as given by Fox (Acts and Monuments, vol. i. p. 619. Lond, 1684) is, "Whosoever taketh upon him the office of Priesthood, although he have not the charge of souls committed unto him, according to the custom of the church, not only may, but ought to preach the Gospel freely unto the people; otherwise he is a thief, excommunicated of God, and of the holy church."

In the Articles presented to the King against the Lollards, in 1382, they were accused (Art. 11.) of holding "That priests and deacons, whosoever they are, are obliged, and ought to preach publicly to the people, on account of the orders they have taken, although they have not a people or cure of souls." (Lewis, Life of Wicliffe, p. 105, quoted from Knighton.) See also the Articles and conclusions against William Swinderby, Fox (ubi supra, p. 534, 538).

- —— l. 5.—Prespod. This word should have been printed, as it is in the MS. "presthod."
 - ____ l. 6.-Langwag. Language.

- —— 1. 9.—The argument of our author appears to be this:—
 "They answer the passage adduced from St. Gregory, by saying that by preaching he means reading at the mass; but if this be so, then every man and woman may preach, for every man and woman may read in a language unknown, i. e. at the mass. Therefore if every man may preach, it is folly to look for orders." The unfairness of such an argument is manifest. It turns on the double meaning of the phrase "reading at the mass:" the opponents of our author maintained that the priest preaches the Gospel when he reads the Gospel at the mass, but they did not allow that every man and woman may in this sense read at mass.

- —— l. 14.—Austeyn seith thus. This quotation, and that which follows from St. Chrysostom, the Editor has not been able to find.
- —— l. 26.—Therfor seith Isidor. This is quoted in the Decretum (Dist. xxxviii. c. 1), not from Isidore, but from Concil. Toletan. c. 24 [al. 25]. "Sciant igitur sacerdotes Scripturas sanctas, et canones, ut omne opus eorum in prædicatione et doctrina consistat: atque ædificent cunctos, tam fidei scientia, quam operum disciplina."
- l. 29.—Therfore the prestis. This part of the quotation, which does not occur in the Council of Toledo, or in the Decretum, seems taken from Isidor. Hispal. Senten. Lib. III. c. xlvi. "Sacerdotes pro populorum iniquitate damnantur, si eos aut ignorantes non erudiant, aut peccantes non arguunt, testante Domino per Prophetam; Speculatorem dedi te domui Israel. Si non fueris locutus, ut se custodiat impius a via sua, ille in iniquitate sua morietur: sanguinem autem ejus de manu tua requiram. Sic enim Heli sacerdos pro filiorum iniquitate damnatus est: et licet eos delinquentes admonuit, sed tamen non, ut oportebat, redarguit." (Isid. Hispal. Opp. p. 683, c. i. C. fol. Par. 1601.)

O, nation, that thou could'st remove!

That Neptune's arms, who clippeth thee about,

Would bear thee from the knowledge of thyself.

In the printed text of Wiclisse's Version the corresponding clause is "takynge that trewe word;" which is perhaps derived from the reading obtinentem for amplectentem, a form in which the Latin fathers frequently cite this passage. See Sabatier, in loc.

Crates Thebanus was a follower of Diogenes the Cynic, B. C. 328, and is said to have given his money away on becoming a philosopher. Thus among the opinions of the Lollards enumerated in the petition of the House of Lords to the King, A.D. 1382, the tenth is, "That it is not lawful for a presbyter to hire out his work." (Lewis, Life of Wiclif, p. 105. Oxford, 1820.) And the seventh conclusion objected against W. Swinderby (A.D. 1389) was, "That a Priest taking for annual, through covenant, in that he is a schismatic and cursed." To this accusation he answers, "This said I never, in these terms: but thus I said, and yet say with protestation put before, that no Priest ows to sell by bargaining and covenant his ghostly travel, ne his masses, ne his prayers, ne God's Word, ne hallowings, baptism, ne confirming, order giving, for weddings, for shrift, for housel, or for ennointing; any worldly men's to ask or take for these, or for any of these,

Perhaps Johannes Semeca (see note on p. 20, l. 29); the foregoing quotation is probably from his gloss on the Decretum, although the Editor has not been able to find it in the printed copies. - —— l. 20.—After Hostiensis and Innocent, and eft Hostiensis. Henricus de Segusio, called Hostiensis from the name of his bishopric, died 1271, or 1281. He was author of the celebrated Summa utriusque Juris, called Aurea Summa Hostiensis, and also of the Expositio in sex libros Decretalium. The Editor has not found the passage or passages here referred to by our author, but in the following extract from the Summa Aurea, the same argument is stated:—"Quod si elericus, precio appreciatus, vigilet cum defuncto et dicat psalterium? Respondeo: si ita dixit, Pro sex denariis legam psalterium, simonia est. Sed si ita dixit, Pro sex denariis vigilabo cum defuncto hac nocte, non est simonia: quamvis tacite insit quod debeat legere."—Hostiensis Summa Lib. V. n. 5, col. 1183.

The reference to Innocent is probably to the Commentary of Pope Innocent IV. on the Decretals, lib. iv. tit. v. c. 3. Quoniam enormis. See Apparatus Mirificus Innocentii IV. 4to. Paris. 1514. fol. cx.

A Trentall was an office of thirty masses said for a deceased person, generally on the thirty days immediately following his death; from whence it was often called "a month's mind." —— l. 12.—And thus seith Parisiensis in his bok. The book here quoted is the Verbum Abbreviatum of Peter "Cantor Parisiensis," as he is commonly called, from his office of Precentor in the Cathedral of Paris. He was a native of Poictiers, and was elected to the see of Tournay in 1191; but, the election having been declared invalid, he retired to the Cistercian Abbey of Long Pont, in the diocese of Soissons, where he died in his novitiate, A. D. 1197.*

The Verbum Abbreviatum has been printed, with notes, &c. by Dom George Galopin, at Mons in Haynaut, 4to. 1639. The Editor of these pages has not had an opportunity of consulting Dom Galopin's edition: he is the possessor, however, of a very beautiful MS. of the Verbum Abbreviatum, formerly belonging to the Monastery of St. Martin of Tournay, and written early in the 13th century. The following passage, cited from this MS. is probably that which is here referred to by our author:—" Item turpius vendimus quam Judas eo quod deteriores sumus. Ille enim quem purum hominem credebat,

The passage here cited will be found in the "Sermo Roberti Lincolniensis episcopi propositus coram Papa et Cardinalibus, in Concilio Lugdunensi," published by Brown, Fasciculus Rerum expetend. et fugiend. (tom. ii. p. 251, sq.): "Cum principale ac finale opus Christi, propter quod ipse venit in mundum, sit animarum vivificatio, et Satanæ opus proprium et maximè ab eo intentum, (utpote homicidæ ab initio) sit animarum occisio et mortificatio, ipsi pastores et unde pastores, personam Jesu Christi induti, non annunciantes, etsi non superadderent malitias alias, sunt Antichristi, et Satanas transfiguratus in angelum lucis, fures et latrones, mactatores ovium et proditores, facientes domum orationis speluncam latronum: superaddunt autem omne genus prævaricationis, ut jam non sit super quo percutiat eos Deus ultra Et ut breviter transeatur, omni genere flagitii, facinoris, abominationis, et novæ in his adinventionis, secundum dictum prophetæ, coinquinati: Deo et curiæ cælesti summè abominabiles et odibiles effecti; quia per ipsos nomen Dei in omnibus gentibus blasphematur. Quinimo talem traditionem, cum teneatur et possit, non impediens, eodem reatu irretitur et constringitur...... O quam amara dilectio et retrograda promotio! ut dilectum super mane ad momentum elevet, ipsum et se in tenebras dejicit exteriores."

P. 55, l. 1.—3skun. This word seems intended to represent the word "superaddunt" in the original, unless we suppose our author's copy of Grosthead's sermon to have had a different reading.

____ l. 3.—Hem a towere. The Latin, of which this appears intended for a translation, is "super quo percutiat eos Deus ultra." There has probably been some mistake or various reading.

- P. 55, l. 7.—The lesynd of the herd, "pastorum conversatio." Illyricus, in the extract he has given from this Discourse of Grosthead (Catal. testium Veritatis, fol. Argentinæ, 1562, p. 363), cites the passage thus:—"Cumque pastorum conversatio gregis sit libera doctrina et instructio, ipsi sunt evidentes magistri malorum omnium." Our author's copy must have read "gregis sit liber, ipsi sunt, &c." omitting the intervening words. Lesynd is probably cognate with the old word leasow, or lessow, to feed, or as a subst. pasture, (see Nares's Glossary in voc.) and with the Saxon lepte.

- --- l. 5.—A may. "A" seems here put for and, "cum teneatur et possit." Strenid. i. e. constrained, "constringitur."
- —— l. 6.—Luf, love, "dilectio." Koward, the meaning of this word is not very clear.
- —— l. 7.—Above a vain thing. The original, as printed by Brown, is "super mane;" our author, however, evidently read super inane.
- —— l. 9.—Odo. This was probably Odo de Sheritona, an English Cistercian Monk, who flourished about the year 1184, and whose sermons were published at Paris in 1520 by Matthew Makkerel, who has dedicated them to John Fisher, Bishop of Rochester, under the title of "Flores Sermonum ac Evangeliorum Dominicalium excellentiss. Magistri Odonis Cancellarii Parrhisien. omni sale, lepore, ac eruditione refertissimi: cum eorundem indice." The work bears internal evidence of having been composed by a Cistercian (see fol. cliii. V.), and Oudin is of opinion that the Editor is wrong in supposing the author to have been Chancellor of Paris. De Scriptoribus sceles. tom. ii. col. 1624.

- P. 56, l. 9.—Prelats not preching. This passage does not appear to occur in the printed copy of Odo's Sermons: at least the Editor, after some trouble, has not succeeded in finding it: and yet there is a reference in the index which leads to the suspicion that it was once in the work, and probably struck out in the proof sheets as too coarse an attack on the bishops to be printed even in that age. The reference is, "Herodiani potius quam Christiani prælati, xxviii. H.;" but the passage referred to makes no mention of prelates, or of prelates not preaching: it is as follows:—"Sed quia tam clerici quam laici plus desiderant succedere Herodi in divitiis, quam Christo, licet christiani nuncupentur, in tormentis, ideo potius herodiani quam christiani nuncupentur." And the same idea is repeated, fol. xxxvii. G. "Malunt quidam potius successores esse Herodis, quam Christi: qui potius herodiani quam christiani sunt nominandi."
- ——— Rather pilats than prelats. The play upon the words would be more manifest if we had the original of this passage, which was probably, "Pilati magis quam prælati, spoliatores, non speculatores, herodiani Herodis, non hæredes Christi."
 - ____ l. 11._Kaff. Chaff.

Of the olde men. i. e. of the elders: in Wichiffe's New Testament this passage is rendered "Fro that time Jhesus bigan to schewe his disciplis, that it bihoued him to go to Ierusalem, and suffre many thingis of the elder men, and of the scribis, and pryncis of the preestis, and be slayn, and the thridde day to rise agen."
- ---- l. 31.—Schild. i. e. sheild, avert this from thee. "Absit a te, Domine." Vulg. Wicliffe's New Testament has "fer be it fro thee, Lord." Be merciful to thiself. Our author here seems to quote from memory, and combines together two versions of the same words. The Latin Fathers often cite the passage Propitius tibi esto, and there are examples also of their uniting the two versions as our author has done. See Sabatier, in loc.

- —— l. 10.—The lioun of prid. "Leo superbiæ," a very plain allusion to the Pope. But either our author had a different reading, or gave the passage a turn more accordant to his own sentiments, for the crime of "lording the clergy" is attributed in the printed words of Odo, not to the Lion of pride, but to all those whose degeneracy is here censured: and that with the qualification of a tanquam. "Hi sunt qui, tanquam dominantes in cleros, omnia volunt ad nutum suum disponere."

Every reader of Shakespeare is familiar with Sir, as the title of a priest, answering to the Latin Dominus, and still applied in our universities to Bachelors of Arts. Why the name of Berengarius is used here, the Editor is unable to say, unless Odo, who was an Englishman, and probably preached in English, intended some play upon the word in reference to "the bere."

In quibus omnibus solicite notandum est, quod Sacramentum Sacerdotalis promotionis præ cæteris omnibus magis accurate et digne dandum, vel accipiendum est; quia nisi ita collatum fuerit, eo desinet esse ratum, quo non fuerit rite perfectum. Cætera enim Sacramenta unicuique propter se dantur, et unicuique talia fiunt, quali corde, vel conscientia accipiuntur. Istud solum non propter se solum, sed propter alios datur: et ideo necesse est, ut vero corde, mundaque conscientia, quantum ad se, sumatur, quantum ad alios vero, non solum sine omni culpa, sed etiam sine

Sæpe in solvendis ac ligandis subditis, suæ voluntatis motus, non autem causarum merita sequitur. Unde fit ut ipse ligandi aut solvendi potestate se privet, qui hanc pro suis voluntatibus, et non pro subjectorum moribus exercet. Sæpe fit, ut erga quemlibet proximum odio vel gratia moveatur Pastor: judicare autem de subditis digne nequeunt, qui in subditorum causis sua vel odia vel gratiam sequuntur. Unde recte per Prophetam dicitur, Mortificabant animas quæ non moriuntur; st vivificabant animas quæ non vivunt. Non morientem quippe mortificat, qui justum damnat. Et non victurum vivificare nititur, qui reum a supplicio absolvere conatur. Causæ ergo pensandæ sunt, et tunc ligandi atque solvendi potestas exercenda. Videndum est que culpa precessit, aut que sit pœnitentia secuta post culpam: ut quos omnipotens Deus per compunctionis gratiam visitat, illos Pastoris sententia absolvat. Tunc enim vera est absolutio præsidentis, cum interni arbitrium sequitur judicis. Quod bene quatriduani mortui resuscitatio significat, quæ videlicet demonstrat, quia prius mortuum Dominus vocavit et vivificavit, dicens, Lazare veni foras; et postmodum is qui vivens egressus fuerat a discipulis est solutus, sicut scriptum est, Cumque egressus esset qui fuerat ligatus institis, tunc dixit discipulis: solvite eum, et sinite abire. Ecce illum discipuli jam viventem solvunt, quem magister resuscitaverat mortuum. Si enim discipuli Lazarum mortuum solverent, fætorem magis ostenderent, quam virtutem. Ex qua consideratione intuendum est, quod illos nos debemus per pastoralem authoritatem solvere, quos auctorem nostrum cognoscimus per suscitantem gratiam vivificare. Veniat itaque foras mortuus, id est, culpam confiteatur peccator. Venientem vero foras solvunt discipuli; ut Pastores ecclesiæ ei pænam debeant amovere, quam meruit, qui non erubuit confiteri quod fecit. Hæc de solutionis ordine breviter dixerim: ut sub magno moderamine Pastores ecclesiæ vel solvere studeant, vel ligare." Deinde inter duos, hoc est, accusatorem et reum, pari periculo de capite decernentes, alterum si non probasset, alterum si esset ab accusatore convictus, non id quod justitiæ est, judex sequatur; sed dum miseretur rei, damnet probantem: aut dum accusatori favet qui probare non possit, addicat innoxium.  - ___ l. 31.—But wat trow we this seint to cry this day.—A very remarkably similar observation is made on the foregoing passage of St. Augustin in the preface of our Book of Common Prayer (of Ceremonies). "Some are put away because the great excess and multitude of them hath so increased in these latter days, that the burden of them was intolerable; whereof Saint Augustine in his time complained, that they were grown to such a number, that the estate of Christian people was in worse case concerning that matter than were the Jews. And he counselled that such yoke and burden should be taken away, as time would serve quietly to do it. But what would Saint Augustine have said, if he had seen the ceremonies of late days used among us; whereunto the multitude used in his time was not to be compared?"

P. 75, l. 32.—Lawis of the kirk incorporat and extrivagaunt. All collections of Decretals subsequent to the Decretum of Gratian were termed extra, or extravagantes: "eo quod collecta sunt ex iis quæ extra Decretum Gratiani vagabantur." The term is now commonly applied to the Decretals of Pope John XXII. published in the ninth year of his Pontificate, A. D. 1325, and to the subsequent collection entitled Extravagantes Communes: but our author no doubt referred to the earlier collections. The Extravagantes Communes were evidently not completed until the end of the fifteenth century, for they contain a constitution of Sixtus IV. passed in the year 1483. See Van Espen, Comment. in Jus Canon. tom. iv. Diss i. & i. and Diss. xvi. Fol. Lovan. 1753. By "the lawis of the kirk incorporat" therefore our author probably means the Decretum of Gratian and the Decretals of Gregory IX. which were incorporated with them: by the "lawis of the kirk extrivagant," all other collections, especially those of Boniface VIII. (now called Liber Sextus Decretalium) and of John XXII.

P. 76, l. 1.—Batails. This word and its derivatives are still in use in the universities. It occurs also in old writers in the signification, of to feed, to fatten, to fertilize. See Richardson's Dict. in voc. Battel: who supposes it to be cognate with the Anglo-Saxon baran, inescare, to bait, or feed. Our author, however, evidently uses the word for provisiones, not in the sense of food, or eatables, but in reference to the Papal provisions or nominations of clerks to benefices.

P. 104, l. 4.—Prosper, in his book of Contemplatif Lif, seith thus. The book here quoted has been long attributed to S. Prosper, and has been printed among his works; but the learned seem now agreed that the real author was Julianus Pomerius, who flourished about A.D. 498 or 500. (See Ceillier, Hist. des Auteurs, tom. xv. p. 451, sq. Oudin. De Scriptor. tom. i. col. 1193 sq.) The following passage from the treatise De Vita contemplativa, lib. ii. cap. 4, appears to be that which is here cited by our author. "Illos dico, qui velut conversi, ex pristinis moribus nihil abjiciunt, non mente mutati, sed veste : nec actu, sed habitu. Hi sunt qui sermone tantum, non opere, seculo renuntiasse contenti seculariter vivunt, et vitia sua inani professione vitæ melioris abscondunt, ac religionis imaginariæ nomine palliati, opinionem virtutis pro virtute suscipiunt. Prædicant magna, nec faciunt: accusant vitia, nec deponunt. Publice sibi displicere simulant, quod occulte committunt. Magni student videri, non fieri. Laudant eos, quorum cupiunt prædicatione laudari." Opp. D. Prosperi Aquitanici, p. 221. Col. Agr. 1690, 12mo. Our author appears either to have had before him a copy differing considerably from the printed editions, or else to have added to his quotation several interpolations of his own. The edition of the treatise De Vita Contemplativa, published separately in 4to. A.D. 1487 (s. l.) agrees exactly with the foregoing extract; but it is by no means improbable that the stronger expressions against the hypocrisy of the religious orders may have been expurgated by the first editor of the work.

 - ---- l. 5.-3eld. Gold.
- --- l. 7.—Austeyn seith. This is another quotation, the original of which has not been found.
- —— l. 10.—Schenship. Blame, fault, reproach; from the Anglo-Saxon, reenban. The verb shend, participle shent, has been used by Shakespeare, Spenser and others. See Nares' Glossary.
- 1. 32.—Also in the story of Seynt Clement. This is a reference to the Golden Legend, or Historia Lombardica of Jacobus a Voragine. In the Legend of St. Clement, the circumstance alluded to by our author is thus recorded: "Quadam autem vice Petrus cum discipulis suis Autaradum, et inde ad insulam per sex miliaria distantem, in qua Macidiana mater Clementis morabatur, venit: ubi quondam columnæ vitreæ miræ magnitudinis erant. Quas cum Petrus cum ceteris miraretur, videns ipsam mendicantem, cur non potius suis manibus operaretur increpavit." Legend. Lombard. fol. Argentinæ, 1490. (Leg. clxv. B.)
- P. 111, l. 17.—Thi louis. Thy loaves, "prohibe panes illi dare." Ecclus. xii. 6.
- —— l. 20.—And thus is also bedun. Decret. Caus. xiv. 9, 5. c. 1, "Nolite velle eleemosynas facere de fœnore et usuris."
- ibid.—Oker. "fœnus." Perhaps from the Anglo-Saxon, eacan, to eke, to encrease, to add.

- P. 111, l. 22.—For the decre seith. Decret. Caus. xiv. q. 5, c. 2. "Immolans ex iniquo oblatio est maculata," &c. The whole of this chapter is no more than an extract from Ecclus. xxxiv.
- - 1. 28. To the hirid hyne. i. e. to the hired hind. Mercenario.
- P. 112, l. 2.—Gregor. This marginal reference appears to have been added in allusion to the statement made in the text, that that only can be considered alms which is given of lawfully acquired property. The same sentiment is quoted from St. Gregory (Lib. vii. epist. 110, ad Siagrum) in the Decretum Caus. xiv. q. 5, c. 7. "Electosyna Redemptoris nostri oculis illa placet, quæ non ex illicitis rebus et iniquitate congeritur, sed quæ de rebus concessis, et bene acquisitis impenditur."
 - ___ l. 8.—Soflith. Softeneth, appeareth.
 - l. 11.-Tholith. Suffer ye, permit ye.
 - ____ l. 16.—The slowman. "Piger." Prov. xx. 4.
- Here. "Arare." This word, under the spelling ear, is frequently used by Shakespeare, and also in the authorised version of the Bible. (1 Sam. viii. 12. Is. xxx. 24. Deut. xxi. 4. Gen. xlv. 6. Exod. xxxi. 21.) See Nares's Glossary. It is the same as the Anglo-Saxon epian, to plough; and is evidently derived from the Latin, arare.
 - l. 22 .- Lizeth. Lieth.
- l. 24.-Reuar. Plunderer, from reeve.
- --- l. 27.—A none. Anon. "Statim ei mercedem restitue." Tob. iv. 15.
 - P. 113, l. 4.—Silun. Sell.
- —— l. 8. Theis meny. These attendants, train, company. Meiny, or menie, from the old French mesnie. See Nares's Glossary, in voc.
 - --- l. 10.-I rede. I counsel, I advise.
